SUBJECT: Spokane School District No. 81 (Spokane Public Schools) and its officials and employees, PDC Case No. 12-145, et seq.

Agenda Item

At the February 27, 2014 Commission meeting, staff will be presenting the enforcement matter involving a complaint against Spokane Public Schools and its officials and employees. Resolution of this complex matter involves Stipulations from 33 Respondents regarding improper use of public facilities including agency email, dismissal of allegations against five additional employees, and the recommended dismissal of four additional allegations where staff is recommending that the Commission find no violation occurred. One remaining Respondent has requested and been granted a continuance until the March Commission meeting.

Background

Spokane School District No. 81 (Spokane Public Schools) is the largest school district in eastern Washington and the second largest in the state. The District includes 34 elementary schools, six middle schools, and six high schools, serving nearly 30,000 students. Spokane Public Schools employs 3,226 staff, 1,758 of whom are classroom teachers.

On September 27, 2011, Laurie Rogers filed a complaint against officials of Spokane Public Schools. Ms. Rogers' original complaint included 96 printed pages of allegations and evidence, and a compact disc containing 891 emails and other documents, numbering approximately 1,250 pages. Ms. Rogers supplemented her complaint with additional voluminous information on October 18, 2011, December 5, 2011, December 17, 2011, January 9, 2012, March 14, 2012, April 4, 2012, and February 7, 2014. Ms. Rogers' complaint alleged that on multiple occasions, officials and employees of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130¹ by using or authorizing the use of public facilities for the promotion of levy and/or bond measures in 2009 and 2012. Ms. Rogers further alleged that on multiple occasions in 2011, officials and employees of Spokane Public Schools used or authorized the use of public facilities for the purpose of assisting a candidate's campaign for school director.

Stipulations

For each of the 33 Respondents who have stipulated, staff is providing a copy of the Stipulation for your consideration that staff and the Respondent believe accurately describes the nature of the alleged violation, the relevant facts, and an appropriate penalty or a recommendation that no penalty be assessed. Staff is also providing a document showing comparable cases. Staff will be asking the Commission to accept the Stipulations.

The Respondents who have stipulated to facts, violations, and penalties are grouped into five categories:

1. Group A – Stipulated Violations and No Penalty (15 Respondents): Respondents in this category made relatively minor use of Spokane Public Schools staff time, computers, and network resources to plan campaign activity, sending email communications on no more than two occasions per Respondent. The majority of the emails were personal communications to one recipient, and did not involve extensive coordination of campaign activity. In two cases, the emails simply forwarded a discussion of campaign activity that took place at union meetings. The Respondents have no prior enforcement history with the PDC. Consistent with the Commission's authority in RCW 42.17A.755 to waive penalties for first-time violators, staff is asking that you accept these fifteen Stipulations of facts and violations, and assess no penalty against the Respondents, as jointly recommended by staff and the Respondent.
2. Group B – Stipulated Violations and $250 Penalty with $200 Suspended (6 Respondents): Respondents in this category used Spokane Public Schools staff time, computers, network resources, and/or internal mail systems to promote a ballot proposition or to assist a candidate's campaign. As with the first category, the prohibited uses were infrequent, however they coordinated campaign activity among multiple individuals. Staff is asking that you accept these six Stipulations of facts, violations, and penalty and assess a penalty of $250 with $200 suspended pending no further violations by the Respondents for four years.
3. Group C – Stipulated Violations and $500 Penalty with $400 Suspended (8 Respondents): Respondents in this category used or authorized the use of Spokane Public Schools staff time, computers, network resources, official school events, and/or student instructional time to promote a ballot proposition or to assist a candidate's campaign. The prohibited uses included email communications discussing political committee fundraising and general campaign activity. In one case, a Respondent authorized political committee activists Citizens for Spokane Schools to access an official school event to promote a ballot proposition. In two other cases, Respondents used student instructional time to coordinate student involvement in private campaign activity. Staff is asking that you accept these eight Stipulations of facts, violations, and penalty and assess a penalty of $500 with $400 suspended pending no further violations by the Respondents for four years.

4. Group D – Stipulated Violations and $500 Penalty with $300 Suspended (3 Respondents):
The three Respondents in this category made repeated use of Spokane Public Schools staff time, computers, and network resources to organize or plan extensive campaign activity among large groups of agency employees. The activity planned through the prohibited communications included the circulation of endorsement sheets, the writing of postcards and letters-to-the-editor, sign-waving, phone-banking, and promoting attendance at candidate “meet and greet” events. Staff is asking that you accept these three Stipulations of facts, violations, and penalty and assess a penalty of $500 with $300 suspended pending no further violations by the Respondents for four years.

5. Group E – Stipulated Violations and $700 Penalty with $400 Suspended (1 Respondent):
There is one Respondent in this category, Dr. Mark Anderson, the Associate Superintendent for School Support Services for Spokane Public Schools. Dr. Anderson's stipulated violations follow the pattern described above, but involved the most frequent uses of Spokane Public Schools facilities. Dr. Anderson used his paid staff time, district computer, and network resources to organize Citizens for Spokane Schools meetings, to forward invitations to attend CFSS events to district staff, and to forward campaign business to the CFSS committee's officers. He authorized CFSS officers to attend a January 27, 2011 budget forecast meeting for all Spokane Public Schools administrators, and to speak to the group about the activities of their committee. He used agency email facilities to press for the turnout of supportive voters in the March 10, 2009 levy and bond election. Finally, Dr. Anderson used agency facilities to prepare a presentation discussing political campaign strategy, and to travel to a September 10, 2009 School Elections Conference where he made the presentation. Dr. Anderson has committed to providing additional training to prevent future violations by Spokane Public School staff and officials. We ask that you accept his Stipulation of facts, violations, and penalty and assess a penalty of $700 with $400 suspended pending no further violations for four years.

Recommended Dismissals

1. Group F – Additional Employees (5 Respondents): Following is a brief summary of the facts for the Respondents where staff is recommending that the Commission find no violation and dismiss the allegations.

Ann Kaluza: In the summer of 2011, using her home computer, Ms. Kaluza sent a single email to three recipients through her Spokane Public Schools email address, asking whether the recipients were interested in meeting Deana Brower, the Spokane Education Association's endorsed candidate for school board, at an event at the Patsy Clark mansion in Spokane. Ms. Kaluza stated that at the time of her email, she was not a supporter of Ms. Brower, and that her email was not sent for the purpose of assisting the campaign. Ms. Kaluza stated that based on the training she received, she thought that RCW 42.17.130 only prohibited the use of facilities to actively promote or oppose a candidate or ballot proposition, which was not her intent in sending the email. We recommend that you dismiss the alleged violations of RCW 42.17.130 as they pertain to Ann Kaluza.

Loris Stupel: Similar to Ms. Kaluza, in April of 2011, Loris Stupel sent a single email through her Spokane Public Schools email address, asking recipients whether they thought school board candidate Deana Brower might be interested in joining the group Stand for Children. Ms. Stupel stated that Ms. Brower's candidacy was incidental to the purpose of Ms. Stupel's email, and staff found that the email did not constitute a use of public facilities for the purpose of assisting a candidate's campaign. Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the alleged violation of RCW 42.17.130 by Loris Stupel.

Katey Treloar: Similar to Ms. Kaluza and Ms. Stupel, in January of 2009, Katey Treloar used her Spokane Public Schools email address to forward an email to her husband at his private address. The original email contained statements promoting the 2009 levy and bond measures, including an assertion that the failure of the measures would result in lost staff positions at Spokane Public Schools. Ms. Treloar stated that at the time, she was at the bottom of the union seniority list, and thus would be among the first employees to be laid off if staff positions were eliminated. Staff found that Ms. Treloar's purpose in forwarding the email was not to promote a ballot proposition, but only to warn her husband of the possibility that she might lose her job. Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the alleged violation of RCW 42.17.130 by Katey Treloar.

Catherine Pearson: Evidence provided by the complainant included a February 2009 email sent from a private address to numerous Parent-Teacher Group addresses, stating that any person interested in sign-waving to promote the 2009 levy and bond could "call Cathy Pearson at school and she will sign you up." Ms. Pearson denied that she maintained any form of campaign sign-up list, or authorized any person to use her name or to otherwise imply that she was doing so. Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the alleged violation of RCW 42.17.130 by Catherine Pearson.

Dawn Smith: Evidence provided by the complainant included a February 7, 2009 email sent from a private address to Dawn Smith at her Spokane Public Schools email address, discussing the possibility of a “Yes for Kids” table at a subsequent music event at Chase Middle School, and other activity to promote the 2009 levy and bond measures. Ms. Smith stated that she did not authorize the use of the music event at Chase to promote a ballot proposition, and that no promotional activity took place at the event. Ms. Smith stated that she never replied to the sender’s February 7, 2009 email, and the matter ended there. Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the alleged violation of RCW 42.17.130 by Dawn Smith.

2. Remaining Allegations

Spokane Public Schools Informational Program: The complaint alleged that officials of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130 by authorizing informational activity surrounding the March 10, 2009 bond and levy election that promoted those ballot propositions, in part by exceeding the normal and regular conduct of the agency. Staff found that the extensive informational activity in 2008 and 2009 by officials of Spokane Public Schools was authorized by statute and district policy, and followed the agency’s practice in communicating information on elections and other major policy issues to residents of the second-largest school district in the state. The district did not have the benefit of PDC staff’s guidance on the content of its communications related to the March 10, 2009 bond and levy. If asked, PDC staff would have recommended changes to some aspects of the communications, to lessen the impression of a promotional tenor or tone. However, the remainder of the communications constituted an objective and fair presentation of the facts concerning the bond and levy, and staff believes that any problems with the communications do not warrant formal enforcement action. Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the allegation that officials of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130 by authorizing the informational program regarding the March 10, 2009 bond and levy.

Spokane Public Schools Production of Payroll Reports for CFSS: The complaint alleged that officials of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130 by authorizing district payroll staff to produce monthly reports regarding payroll deductions to benefit Citizens for Spokane Schools. The district responded that these reports are produced pursuant to a public records request submitted many years ago, before the time of any current central administrator. Staff found an indication that the records produced for Citizens for Spokane Schools are created, rather than pre-existing. In addition, prior to Ms. Rogers’ complaint, there was no written request for the payroll information on file with Spokane Public Schools. (CFSS has since submitted a written request.) Nevertheless, staff found that Spokane Public Schools’ practice of producing monthly payroll deduction reports for CFSS has been in place for nearly twenty years, and the district operates under a good-faith understanding that the Public Records Act requires it to continue producing this information. We recommend that you dismiss the allegation that officials of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130 by authorizing the monthly production of payroll deduction information for CFSS.

Distribution of Candidate Endorsement Articles through “Kid Mail”: In September and October of 2011, a publication titled KIDS Newspaper sent home with elementary school students included purchased content expressing the Spokane Education Association’s endorsement of candidates for school board and city council. Staff found that the union purchased space in the newspaper from the private, third-party publisher, and that the purchased, promotional content was distributed without the knowledge or authorization of officials of Spokane Public Schools. District administrators have committed to a more careful review of content published in KIDS Newspaper, or otherwise distributed through “kid mail.” Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the allegation that officials of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130 by authorizing the distribution of candidate endorsements through students.

Failure by SEA to Disclose IE Advertisements Supporting Three Candidates: The candidate endorsements in KIDS Newspaper were sponsored with the general treasury dues of the Spokane Education Association (SEA). Staff found that the $333 cost attributable to each candidate, $666 in total for two months, was required to be disclosed as Independent Expenditure political advertising under RCW 42.17.100 by the SEA, and was not disclosed. The SEA’s counsel stated that union officials did not understand that reporting was required. Staff has instructed the union to file a report of Independent Expenditures (C-6 report), and the union’s counsel has stated that the report will be filed by February 21, 2014. Staff recommends that the Commission dismiss the allegation that the SEA violated RCW 42.17.100 by failing to report its endorsements on a timely-filed C-6 report, with a caution to SEA to file timely reports of Independent Expenditure activity in the future.

Conclusion

Staff requests the Commission take the following action:

1. Accept the Stipulations for the 33 Respondents listed in Groups A – E as proposed, finding that the Stipulations appropriately resolve the complaints as to those individuals.

2. Accept staff's recommendation to dismiss the allegations against the five Respondents listed in Group F, on the basis that the Respondents did not use public facilities in violation of RCW 42.17.130.
3. Accept staff's recommendation to dismiss the remaining four allegations in the complaint, on the basis that the alleged conduct did not amount to any material violations of RCW 42.17.130.

BACKGROUND

1.1 Spokane School District No. 81 (Spokane School District, Spokane Public Schools, SPS, or the District) is the largest school district in eastern Washington and the second largest in the state. The District includes 34 elementary schools, six middle schools, and six high schools, serving nearly 30,000 students. SPS employs 3,226 staff, 1,758 of whom are classroom teachers. The District's General Fund Budget for 2013 – 2014 is $329.1 million.

1.2 SPS is governed by a board of five elected school directors. The District's current Superintendent is Shelley Redinger, Ph.D. Dr. Redinger replaced Nancy Stowell, Ph.D, who began her term as Superintendent in March of 2008, and retired from the District in June of 2012. At all times relevant to this investigation, Mark Anderson, Ph.D, was the District's Associate Superintendent for School Support Services, a position he has held since 1998.

- 1.3 Citizens for Spokane Schools (CFSS) is the political committee formed to promote levy and bond measures in Spokane School District No. 81.
- 1.4 In the March 10, 2009 special election, SPS held a maintenance and operations replacement levy election and a bond election. The levy and bond propositions, assigned Proposition 1 and Proposition 2, respectively, were placed on the ballot through school board resolutions approved on December 3, 2008. Proposition 1 and Proposition 2 were approved by more than 60% of voters participating in the March 10, 2009 special election.
- 1.5 Spokane Schools' next maintenance and operations replacement levy election was held on February 14, 2012. That levy, Proposition 1, was placed on the ballot through a school board resolution approved on November 9, 2011. Proposition 1 was approved by more than 60 percent of voters participating in the February 14, 2012 special election.
- 1.6 In the November 8, 2011 general election, Deana Brower was a candidate for School Director for Spokane School District No. 81. Ms. Brower was elected to the school board in that election.
- 1.7 On September 27, 2011, Laurie Rogers filed a complaint against officials of Spokane Public Schools. (Exhibit 1.) Ms. Rogers' original complaint included 96 printed pages of allegations and evidence, and a CD containing 891 emails and other documents, numbering approximately 1,250 pages. Following this, Ms. Rogers supplemented her complaint as follows:
 - On October 18, 2011, Ms. Rogers provided an electronic copy of political advertisements expressing the Spokane Education Association's endorsement of Deana Brower;
 - On December 5, 2011, Ms. Rogers provided two binders containing 114 printed pages of allegations, indices, and evidence, and three CDs containing 845 emails and other documents, numbering approximately 2,500 pages;
 - On December 17, 2011, Ms. Rogers provided two files containing interviews and presentations by Spokane Public Schools officials;
 - On January 9, 2012, Ms. Rogers provided three electronic files containing 28 pages of evidence;
 - On March 14, 2012, Ms. Rogers provided one file containing an email from the private address of Dr. Mark Anderson;
 - On April 4, 2012, Ms. Rogers provided two additional binders containing approximately 700 pages of printed evidence, and a CD containing 302 emails and other documents, numbering approximately 2,500 pages; and

- On February 7, 2014, Ms. Rogers provided 42 printed pages of allegations and evidence, and a CD containing six PDF documents, numbering 8,824 pages.

Each submission by Ms. Rogers contained new evidence, and duplicates of evidence provided previously. The printed and electronic records enclosed with each submission overlapped to some degree, but also contained unique documents and evidence. The records Ms. Rogers provided pertained to her allegations regarding RCW 42.17.130, but also to what she described as violations of the public records act, collective bargaining agreements, and the organizational policies of private groups, including parent-teacher associations.

- 1.8 Ms. Roger's last submission of evidence, received on February 7, 2014, consisted of records that she received from Spokane Public Schools between February 24, 2012 and May 11, 2012. (Exhibit 2.) In a cover letter, Ms. Rogers stated that none of the enclosed records had been provided in any previous submission to the PDC; however, as described above, that was not correct. The records in Ms. Rogers' February 7, 2014 submission included many without clear relevance to her allegations regarding RCW 42.17.130. With few exceptions, the records that did pertain to matters under the PDC's jurisdiction documented activity surrounding Spokane Public School's March 14, 2006 levy election, which falls outside the PDC's five-year statute of limitations (RCW 42.17A.770).

II.

ALLEGATIONS IN COMPLAINT

- 2.1 Concerning matters that are under the PDC's jurisdiction, and occurred within the statute of limitations, Laurie Rogers alleged that on multiple occasions, officials and employees of Spokane Public Schools violated RCW 42.17.130 by using or authorizing the use of public facilities for the promotion of levy and/or bond measures in 2009 and 2012. Ms. Rogers further alleged that on multiple occasions in 2011, officials and employees of Spokane Public Schools used or authorized the use of public facilities for the purpose of assisting a candidate's campaign for school director, additional alleged violations of RCW 42.17.130.¹

¹ Effective January 1, 2012, RCW 42.17.130 was recodified as RCW 42.17A.555. Although certain activities discussed in this report were oriented toward the February 14, 2012 special election, all the activity was conducted prior to the recodification of RCW 42.17, and so was governed under RCW 42.17.130.

III.

FINDINGS

Spokane Public Schools' Informational Program

- 3.1 In her complaint, Ms. Rogers alleged that officials of Spokane Public Schools repeatedly used public facilities to advocate for the passage of bond and levy measures by conducting activity that promoted the measures, or that exceeded the District's normal and regular conduct. The allegedly promotional activity included sponsoring informational materials that conveyed a promotional tenor or tone; sending such materials home with elementary school children; making more than 100 presentations on the ballot propositions across the city; and instructing principals to schedule at least two bond and levy presentations at the officials' schools.
- 3.2 PDC Staff Review of Evidence: The evidence provided by Ms. Rogers indicates that Spokane Public Schools formulated and implemented an extensive Communications Plan prior to the District's March 10, 2009 bond and levy. The plan (Exhibit 3) contained action items scheduled from the fall of 2008 through the month of the election, including presentations and communications to SPS staff, community presentations, printed publications, recorded phone messages, emails, and messages on school reader boards. Senior officials and administrators including Dr. Nancy Stowell and Dr. Mark Anderson were charged with executing these action items, alongside the District's communications staff, school principals, and other building administrators. Records received from Laurie Rogers on February 7, 2014 indicate that the District implemented a similar Communications Plan in the year prior to its March 14, 2006 levy election. (Exhibit 4.)
- 3.3 The Communications Plan for the March 10, 2009 bond and levy was updated several times in the fall of 2008 and winter of 2008/2009, reflecting the completion of action items. Evidence provided by Ms. Rogers (Exhibit 5) indicates that presentations to parents, neighborhood councils, and other community groups continued in the weeks leading up to the March 10, 2009 special election.
- 3.4 In January of 2009, Dr. Anderson prepared memos tailored for principals and school board members (Exhibit 6), explaining the desired frequency, form, and content of bond and levy presentations they would make to SPS staff, and to parents at school events. Records provided by Laurie Rogers on February 7, 2014, indicate that Dr. Anderson circulated a similar memo regarding presentations by school directors in advance of the March 14, 2006 levy election. (Exhibit 7.)
- 3.5 Both Dr. Anderson's January 2009 memos and the larger Communications Plan indicate SPS officials' awareness of the restrictions and prohibitions of RCW 42.17.130, and their desire to distinguish the District's official, informational activity from campaign activity to promote the March 10, 2009 levy and bond. In a December 8, 2008 email circulating the updated Communications Plan, Terren Roloff stated, "Our work is to inform the community about the levy and bond, as opposed to a citizens levy committee that works to get yes voters." (Exhibit 3, p 1.) In his January 5, 2009 memo to school principals (Exhibit 6, p 1), Dr. Anderson instructed them to make PDC guidance regarding public facilities and election campaigns available to staff during the principals' levy and bond presentations. (Exhibit 8.)

- 3.6 Response from SPS Regarding the District's Normal and Regular Conduct: On January 3, 2012, Dr. Mark Anderson submitted a formal response to Ms. Rogers' complaint. (Exhibit 9.) In his response, Dr. Anderson disputed the allegation that the District's official, informational program surrounding its levy and bond measures promoted those propositions in violation of RCW 42.17.130. He stated that SPS' informational program was normal and regular, in that it is authorized by RCW 28A.320.090, and was effected and authorized in an ordinary manner. RCW 28A.320.090 states the following:

The board of directors of any school district shall have authority to authorize the expenditure of funds for the purpose of preparing and distributing information to the general public to explain the instructional program, operation and maintenance of the schools of the district: PROVIDED, That nothing contained herein shall be construed to authorize preparation and distribution of information to the general public for the purpose of influencing the outcome of a school district election.

Dr. Anderson cited the guidance of the Public Disclosure Commission in PDC Interpretation 01-03, Guidelines for School Districts in Election Campaigns, that the above statutory authority "includes informing the community of the needs the District faces and needs students have that the community may not realize exist." (Exhibit 9, p 3.)

- 3.7 Consistent with the statutory authorization in RCW 28A.320.090, Dr. Anderson stated that in 1986, the District adopted Policy and Procedure 6112, establishing a Communications Department for disseminating information "to various external and internal publics." (Exhibit 9, pp 9 – 12.) The policy states that the communications department executes its assignments through a broad variety of methods including publication of all types, television, audiovisual technology, school visitation programs, workshops, oral presentations, and community involvement, and provides consultation to building principals, teachers, administrators, and others as requested.
- 3.8 Dr. Anderson stated that because Spokane Public Schools' attendance boundaries cover the City of Spokane and a small portion of unincorporated

Spokane County, a metropolitan area with a combined population of over 600,000 residents, it would be impractical to communicate information in the manner of a smaller District, for example through a single open house event for all District patrons. Accordingly, he stated that in addition to the methods and means described in Policy and Procedure 6112, over the years the District had established a normal and regular practice of communicating with District patrons and parents, as well as the general public. He stated that this practice included the following modes of communication:

- Posters
- Brochures/Newsletters, etc.
- Fliers
- PowerPoint Presentations
- News Releases
- News Tips to media
- Facebook Posting
- On hold messages
- "School Talk" TV shows and publications
- "Staff Matters" newsletters to employees
- "Bulletin Board" newsletters to students
- Volunteer emails
- Parent leader emails
- School newsletters
- Twitter feeds
- Use of the District Website
- Public Service Announcements
- Key communicator emails
- Emails to retirement homes
- Surveys
- Reader Boards
- Emails to administrators
- Emails to employees
- Public presentations

3.9 Dr. Anderson stated that the District's manner of communicating information about ballot propositions follows its past and ongoing practice in communicating information on a range of policy issues, including the District's budget process; school openings and improvements; student art and music events; and milestones in graduation and registration rates. (Exhibit 9, pp 13 – 15.) He provided examples of District communications concerning these issues, and a description of communications surrounding a single issue, the modernization of Jefferson Elementary School, which included the following:

- Project updates and School Talk informational videos posted on the District's website;
- Fact sheets sent to area residents;
- E-mails about the project sent by Jefferson's Principal to Jefferson parents;
- Formation of a Steering Committee to provide input and suggestions to the District;
- District presentations made to organizations like the Comstock Neighborhood Council;
- Open houses held at Jefferson;
- Notices included in Jefferson Elementary School's newsletter: The Fife & Drum;
- Construction and design updates for Jefferson and other capital projects included in School Talk newsletters; and

- Bulletin Board and Key Communicator messages posted regularly on the District's website.

3.10 Content of SPS Election-related Information / PDC Guidance to District:

Although PDC staff offers the service of reviewing agency communications on ballot propositions and making recommendations for compliance with RCW 42.17.130, SPS did not present its printed materials regarding the March 10, 2009 levy and bond for PDC staff's review, or the PowerPoint presentations and other materials used in its Communications Plan. Had the District requested PDC staff's guidance, staff would have recommended some changes to the materials, to lessen the impression of a promotional tenor or tone (for example, removing statements that the 2009 bond included "something...for everyone," or that "the bond would stimulate the local economy.") (Exhibit 10, p 2; Exhibit 11, p 10.) The remaining information appeared generally to consist of an objective and fair presentation of facts concerning the need for and use of levy funds, and the building modernization and other projects that would be financed through the proposed bonds.

- 3.11 PDC staff records indicate that in the ten years preceding the time period at issue in this complaint, Spokane Public Schools did not seek or receive staff's guidance on any election-related publication, including presentations regarding the March 14, 2006 levy that were similar to those made for the 2009 levy and bond. (Exhibit 12.) On November 9, 2011, after Ms. Rogers filed her complaint, the District sought staff's comments on a proposed handout related to the February 14, 2012 maintenance and operations replacement levy election. That same day, PDC staff returned a memo containing comments and recommendations for compliance with RCW 42.17.130. (Exhibit 13.) The levy handout ultimately distributed by the District incorporated PDC staff's recommended changes. (Exhibit 14.)

Use of Spokane Public Schools Facilities to Promote a Ballot Proposition, or to Assist a Candidate's Campaign

- 3.12 In her complaint, Laurie Rogers alleged that officials of Spokane Public Schools repeatedly used or authorized the use of public facilities to explicitly promote bond and levy measures, or to organize private campaign activity in support of the measures. The alleged campaign activity included using the District's email system to coordinate CFSS meetings, sign waving, phone banking, distribution of political advertising, and to solicit campaign contributions or otherwise coordinate campaign fundraising; allowing CFSS activists preferential access to school facilities including administrator meetings; taking students out of class to coordinate campaign activity for the bond and levies; and authorizing school officials and individuals from outside SPS to make comments about the propositions before school District concert and drama performances.

- 3.13 Ms. Rogers further alleged that in the spring and summer of 2011, officials of Spokane Public Schools repeatedly used or authorized the use of email and other District facilities to assist a candidate's campaign for school director.
- 3.14 Response from SPS Regarding Use of Public Facilities in Elections: In his January 3, 2012 response to Ms. Rogers' complaint, Dr. Mark Anderson stated that Spokane Public Schools has made substantial efforts to instruct and inform District officials and employees about the restriction in RCW 42.17.130 on the use of public facilities in election campaigns. (Exhibit 9, pp 1 – 2.) Dr. Anderson stated that the District's efforts included flyers distributed to every District employee in 2006 and again in 2009 (Exhibit 9, pp 16 – 17), describing in detail PDC rules about campaigning. He stated that the District's collective bargaining agreements with employee unions include express language prohibiting the use of District facilities inconsistent with RCW 42.17.130. (Exhibit 9, pp 18 – 19.) Further, he stated that the District's acceptable use policy regarding computers and network resources prohibits uses of those resources that conflict with state law, and any use for "political lobbying." (Exhibit 9, pp 22 – 23.)
- 3.15 Despite these protections, in his written response to the complaint and in an interview under oath, Dr. Anderson recognized that the evidence in this case indicated multiple inappropriate uses of public facilities, an assessment shared by Dr. Nancy Stowell, communicated in a separate interview with PDC staff. Dr. Anderson stated that these uses were conducted by individual SPS officials and employees, without overarching authorization from the administration or school board. He stated that after reviewing the evidence enclosed with the complaint, on December 28, 2011, he sent a letter to Jenny Rose, President of the Spokane Education Association (SEA) reminding her of the requirements of the collective bargaining agreement regarding RCW 42.17.130, and encouraging her to provide training for SEA members regarding the law and the PDC's Guidelines for School Districts in Election Campaigns. Dr. Anderson enclosed a copy of his letter with his response. (Exhibit 9, pp 26 – 27.)
- 3.16 In concluding his response, Dr. Anderson stated that while "the District does not agree with the allegation that the dissemination of information pertaining to the 2009 bond and levy propositions was anything other than normal and regular conduct of the District meant to fairly and accurately inform District patrons about an important District issue...[the District] will continue to take affirmative steps—such as additional staff training—to educate District officials and employees about use of District facilities, and to ensure that all officials and employees further understand what behavior and/or communications is permissible in regards to future bond/levy measures." He cited his staff's recent request for PDC staff's guidance on election-related publications, and welcomed any additional guidance the PDC could offer.

(Exhibit 9, p 8.)

- 3.17 PDC Staff Review of Evidence: Records provided by Laurie Rogers and Spokane Public Schools document approximately a hundred instances in which employees and officials of Spokane Public Schools used public facilities to promote a ballot proposition or to assist a candidate's campaign. The majority of such uses involved emails sent via District email addresses, in which the sending employee or official was clearly conducting campaign activity. The activity included discussion of ballot proposition and candidate endorsements; organizing opposition research to assist a candidate's campaign; organizing political committee fundraising; distribution of campaign postcards and signs; organizing sign-waving, phone banking, mailing activities; encouraging promotional letters to the editor; and scheduling campaign appointments. The emails were sent by staff and officials at all levels, from Superintendent Nancy Stowell down to teaching staff. In addition to District email and computers, the facilities used in an inappropriate manner included SPS travel resources, paid staff time, administrator meetings, student instructional time, and official school events.
- 3.18 The following is a description of staff's findings regarding uses of SPS facilities that may be found to violate RCW 42.17.130.
- 3.19 SPS Distribution of Candidate Endorsements through "Kid Mail": On October 21, 2011, Laurie Rogers sent an email to PDC staff supplementing her September 27, 2011 complaint with information concerning the distribution of candidate endorsements to SPS elementary school families through "kid mail." The relevant endorsements (Exhibit 15, pp 1, 2) were made by the SEA in support of 2011 school board candidate Deana Brower and other candidates, and appeared in the publication KIDS Newspaper. In addition to raising issues under RCW 42.17.130 connected with the use of District facilities to distribute the newspaper, Ms. Rogers asked whether Ms. Brower was required to report the endorsement as a campaign contribution.
- 3.20 Prior to Ms. Rogers' October 21, 2011 email, SPS Community Relations Director Terren Roloff researched the inclusion of candidate endorsement articles in KIDS Newspaper. On October 17, 2011, Ms. Roloff contacted PDC staff, stating that the articles were not authorized by SPS officials, but rather were paid advertisements, purchased from the third-party publisher by the teachers' union. (Exhibit 15, pp 3 - 4.) She stated that SPS had communicated to the publisher that in the future, such articles or advertisements could not be sponsored or distributed with the use of District facilities, including "kid mail."
- 3.21 PDC staff contacted Deana Brower concerning the SEA endorsement article, and asked whether Ms. Brower, or any agent of her 2011 campaign, advised, counseled, or otherwise encouraged SEA to make an expenditure to

- communicate the union's endorsement in KIDS Newspaper. Ms. Brower responded (Exhibit 16) that she although she actively sought the union's endorsement, she did not encourage any expenditure made in connection with the endorsement in KIDS Newspaper; she stated that the endorsement appeared on the union's regular page in the paper, and that she was unaware it involved any special expenditure. She said that she viewed the union's endorsement of her campaign in the same light as the endorsement published by the Spokesman-Review newspaper.
- 3.22 In an email received on February 7, 2014, and in a telephone conversation on February 10, 2014, SEA Counsel Mike Gawley stated (Exhibit 17) that Ms. Brower's campaign was aware only after the fact that an expenditure was involved in publishing the KIDS Newspaper endorsements. He stated that beforehand, the campaign knew only that the endorsements would be published.
- 3.23 Mr. Gawley stated that the SEA's space in KIDS Newspaper was valued at $1,000 per page, and that in September and October 2011, each page contained three roughly equal candidate endorsements. He stated that the cost attributable to each candidate would therefore be $333.33, $666.66 in total for the two months. He stated that the union did not disclose its expenditures to run endorsement pieces in the newspaper, because it did not occur to SEA President Jenny Rose that reporting was required.
- 3.24 Mark Anderson: Dr. Anderson held the position of Spokane Public Schools' Associate Superintendent for School Support Services in the month before the March 10, 2009 special election, and also held his position in the fall and winter before the February 14, 2012 special election.
- 3.25 At 10:41 am on Tuesday, February 3, 2009, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his Spokane Public Schools email address and computer to send an email to six recipients, including Nancy Stowell, then the District's Superintendent; Karen Meek, Executive Assistant to the Superintendent & School Board; Teri Wilson, another Executive Assistant for the District; Karin Short, Associate Superintendent for Teaching & Learning; Staci Vesneske, Assistant Superintendent for Human Resources; and Joan Poirier, Graduation & College Success Supervisor in the District's department of Teaching & Learning Services. (Exhibit 18, p 1.) In his email, Dr. Anderson stated that he would be unable to attend a meeting of the "citizens levy committee" scheduled for the following Monday, February 9, 2009. He sought to ensure that at least some of the recipients of his email would attend the meeting. The "citizens levy committee" referred to in Dr. Anderson's email was Citizens for Spokane Schools (CFSS), the political committee formed to promote levy and bond ballot measures in the District.
- 3.26 At 10:06 am on Wednesday, February 25, 2009, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his Spokane Public Schools email address and computer to send an email to Superintendent Stowell, Ms. Poirier, Ms. Short, and Ms. Vesneske. (Exhibit 18, p 2.) In his email, Dr. Anderson stated, "Given we're headed down the critical home stretch on the bond and levy, I will plan to attend Monday evening's CFSS meeting[.]"

- 3.27 Beginning at 3:07 pm on Wednesday, September 29, 2010, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his Spokane Public Schools email address and computer to exchange four emails with Superintendent Stowell and Deana Brower, co-chair of Citizens for Spokane Schools. The emails concerned the scheduling of a meeting for Citizens for Spokane Schools; in emails exchanged with Ms. Brower on October 6, 2010, Dr. Anderson also offered input on which District officials and CFSS committee officers should be included in the meeting. (Exhibit 18, pp 3 – 4.) At the time, the Spokane School District Board of Directors had not yet acted to place the District's 2012 levy and bond measures on the ballot, and would not do so for another year.
- 3.28 At 8:58 am on Tuesday, November 2, 2010, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his Spokane Public Schools email address and computer to send an email to Deana Brower, suggesting that she send an email reminder to participants in a CFSS meeting planned for November 15, 2010. Ms. Brower replied on November 4, 2010 that she would send the reminder. In her reply, she informed Dr. Anderson that she was unable to send CFSS-related email to Spokane Public Schools Community Relations employee Terren Roloff at Ms. Roloff's private email address. On November 4, 2010, Dr. Anderson replied that Ms. Brower should send CFSS-related email to Ms. Roloff at her Spokane Public Schools email address. (Exhibit 18, p 5.)
- 3.29 On February 11, 2009, Dr. Anderson received an email from Maureen Ramos at his Spokane Public Schools email address. Ms. Ramos' email forwarded a message from Amorina Christensen concerning Alton's Tires, a business that had been subject to a boycott effort due to the former owner's opposition to school funding measures. Ms. Amorina suggested that the new owners of Alton's Tires be given the opportunity to end the boycott by expressing their support for the District's levy. Although Ms. Ramos and Ms. Amorina's emails concerned a campaign question, rather than the duties or functions of Dr. Anderson's office, at 10:31 am on Thursday, February 12, 2009, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his District email address and computer to forward the email to several recipients outside the District, including officers of CFSS. (Exhibit 18, p 6.)
- 3.30 At 10:29 am on Tuesday, March 3, 2009, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his District email address and computer to send an email to several Spokane Public Schools staff members. In his email, Dr. Anderson extended an invitation from CFSS for District staff to attend an election watch event one week later, the evening of the March 10, 2009 special election. (Exhibit 18, p 7.)

- 3.31 Following the passage of the March 10, 2009 levy and bond, on Thursday, September 10, 2009, Dr. Anderson attended a School Elections Conference and, acting in his official capacity, presented a PowerPoint slide show with the title "Lessons Learned - March 2009 Levy and Bond" at the request of the conference sponsors. (Exhibit 18, pp 8 – 15.) In part, the presentation described effective strategies for political campaigns in support of levy and bond measures, an analysis which Dr. Anderson gleaned from interviews with CFSS activists. It included, among many slides, one slide stating "Key Lesson: Passing your next levy or bond starts today and continues every day between now and election day!" Although the conference registration was free, Dr. Anderson's travel expenses were paid by Spokane Public Schools, he prepared for the conference with his District computer, and attended on paid agency time.
- 3.32 At 2:10 pm on Friday, January 21, 2011, while on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his District email address and computer to send an email to CFSS officers Deana Brower and Mike Livingston, authorizing them to attend a January 27, 2011 budget forecast meeting for all Spokane Public Schools administrators, and to speak to the group about the activities of their political committee. (Exhibit 18, pp 16 – 17.)
- 3.33 In the two weeks leading up to Spokane Public Schools' March 10, 2009 levy and bond elections, Dr. Anderson used his school email address and computer on three occasions to promote voter turnout, with the express purpose of ensuring that the bond and levy measures achieved the validation and approval rates required for passage. (Exhibit 18, pp 18 – 20.)
- 3.34 In an email sent at 8:48 am on Wednesday, February 25, 2009 to five Spokane Public Schools department heads, Dr. Anderson stated, "Please remind your departmental staff to vote on the School District's bond and levy renewal measures by turning in their election ballots prior to March 10— ITSC, Nutrition Services, Warehouse/Purchasing, Maintenance, and Express staff. Remember, we have to get nearly 41,000 registered voters to turn in their ballots just to make the bond election valid and then 60 percent of those have to vote yes for this critical bond measure to be approved." (Exhibit 18, p 18.)
- 3.35 In an email sent at 8:20 am on Tuesday, March 3, 2009 to a "Group-Admin Staff" distribution list, Dr. Anderson indicated that he was tracking election returns. He urged the recipients of his email to make efforts to increase voter turnout: "As of yesterday, Monday (March 2), 29,422 ballots had been returned to the Elections Department - 11,258 additional ballots must be received by next Tuesday just to validate our bond election. If you live in Spokane Public Schools and have already voted - thank you. If you haven't voted, please mail your ballot back to the Elections Department before next Tuesday. Also, please remind your friends, relatives, and acquaintances who live in Spokane Public Schools to vote by mailing in their ballot by next Tuesday. The levy and bond provide critical sources of funding to support our mission of educating Spokane's young people." (Exhibit 18, p 19.)

- 3.36 In an email sent at 2:53 pm on Friday, March 6, 2009 to fifteen Spokane Public Schools staff and officials, Dr. Anderson again pressed District staff to make efforts to turn out supportive voters: "As of today (Friday), we have 40,621 ballots returned for levy and bond election measures. Given our validation requirement is 40,680, we are now 59 ballots short of validating and will easily validate on Monday. However, the big question is, how many of those ballots are marked yes for the levy and bond and how many are marked no. And, of importance will be what is the return rate for those precincts that typically have a higher percentage of yes votes on school measures than other areas of town - don't know the answer to that at this moment. I say we need to continue the full court information press to the end." (Exhibit 18, p 20.)
- 3.37 In addition to the above, in responding to the complaint, Paul Clay, legal counsel to Dr. Anderson, addressed detailed monthly payroll deduction reports that Spokane Public Schools payroll staff provides to CFSS, examples of which were provided to PDC staff by Ms. Rogers. (Exhibit 18, pp 18 – 27.) Mr. Clay stated that the District provides these monthly reports in response to a public records request that was first made many years ago, at a time that pre-dates any current District central administrator. (Exhibit 19.)
- 3.38 Mr. Clay stated that at the time Dr. Anderson became Associate Superintendent for School Support Services in 1998, CFSS had a standing request for this payroll information, and the District had a written protocol in place explaining how payroll technicians were to execute a report to supply the requested information. (Exhibit 20.) Dr. Anderson stated that when the request was first made, the District likely did not have a formal or sophisticated process in place for responding to public records requests. He stated that if the original request from CFSS was ever put in writing, there is no current District administrator or payroll employee who is in a position to know. Nonetheless, he stated that then and now, the District operated with the understanding that public records laws required it to continue supplying the requested information to CFSS. With this understanding, he characterized the production of the payroll reports for CFSS as the District's normal and regular conduct.
- 3.39 Sherri Bangs: During the month before the March 10, 2009 special election, Sherri Bangs held a staff position in Spokane Public Schools' Finance office. At 8:14 am on Thursday, March 5, 2009, using her District email address and school computer, Ms. Bangs sent an email to Doug Fossmeyer, forwarding campaign information from CFSS. (Exhibit 21.)

- 3.41 At 12:02 pm on Friday, January 30, 2009, Mr. Campbell used his Spokane Public Schools email address to send an email to Rebecca Franklin, a Teacher at Sacajawea Middle School while on paid agency time. In his email, Ms. Campbell discussed planning for a meeting before school the following Tuesday, February 3, 2009. As planned by Mr. Campbell, the meeting was intended to include a presentation on "the value of passing the bond/levy," and was to also include the assignment of campaign tasks, including circulation of endorsement sheets, writing letters to the editor or postcards, sign-waving, and phone-banking to "pro-education voters," to be conducted at SEA offices. (Exhibit 22, p 1.)
- 3.42 At 12:27 pm on Friday, January 30, 2009, Mr. Campbell used his Spokane Public Schools email address to send a second email planning the February 3, 2009 campaign meeting to Paula Ronhaar, principal of Sacajawea Middle School, while on paid agency time. (Exhibit 22, p 2.)
- 3.43 At 9:54 am on Monday, June 6, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Campbell used his Spokane Public Schools email address to reply to an email sent by Mike Miller, a teacher at Shadle Park High School, regarding a plan to introduce school board candidate Deana Brower to SEA members at a series of "meet and greet" events held before the school day. In his response to Mr. Miller, Mr. Campbell stated, "Sounds good to me. Be looking for a more complete response from my personal email to yours. Since we are talking about [political] stuff I feel better about doing it on our personal emails. Suffice to say here that I think this idea is a great one because it accomplishes several things at the same time." (Exhibit 22, p 3.)

- 3.50 Ms. Condrey stated in a sworn declaration that she sent her February 11, 2009 email in response to Mr. Jordan's request that she research the matter and report to him. (Exhibit 26.) In response to PDC staff's further inquiry, she stated that it was her standard operating procedure to communicate with Mr. Jordan by District email or phone while he was away from the office, as was the case on the morning of February 11, 2009. (Exhibit 27.) She stated that she was unaware that RCW 42.17.130 prohibits the use of public facilities to coordinate political committee fundraising.

Deana (pronounced 'Dee-na'), is very much interested in getting into schools to meet with staff, so I've invited her for an 'SEA 10-minute meeting' at 7:15 that Wednesday to talk to you. After meeting with Deana on a number of occasions, I'm interested to hear your feedback on what she has to say. Don't forget to send me an email to remind me.'* Honestly, as we were going from the airport to the motel, I didn't know if I was talking to a school board candidate or a colleague from down the hall. Folks at Shadle are looking forward to her visit. I'll hype her visit every other day (in true campaign style) until Wednesday." In response to Ms. Rose's request to use Mr. Miller's email invitation as a model for other union reps to invite their staff to meet Ms. Brower, Mr. Miller replied, "if your sending my 'press release' will help get Deana to meet the staff, share on!"

She stated that although Deana Brower was identified as a candidate in the email exchange, her candidacy was incidental to the purpose of Ms. Stupel's email. Rather, Ms. Stupel stated, she sent her email because at the time, she considered asking Ms. Brower to join Stand for Children, an education advocacy organization to which Ms. Stupel belongs.
- 3.132 Michael Syron: In the months prior to the March 10, 2009 special election, Michael Syron held the position of Athletic Coordinator for Ferris High School.

BOND/LEVY...Ladd will have information out today re: postcards. If you have not signed up for an activity make sure to do so soon. The sheet is posted above the look book. When everyone helps out it doesn't make the task seem so large...Follow up to information Ladd and I gave yesterday. We heard this stat last night at our meeting. 300 staff positions would possible (sic) be lost with a failed Bond/Levy. WOW... that will take us several years to recover from and will change the way things looks around our school."
- 3.141 In a sworn declaration received on January 9, 2014, Ms. Treloar stated (Exhibit 68) that she forwarded Mr. Demarest's email to her husband not to promote any ballot proposition, but because of Mr. Demarest's statement that the failure of the levy or bond would result in lost staff positions. Ms. Treloar stated that at the time, she was at the bottom of the union seniority list, and thus would be among the first employees to be laid off were staff positions to be eliminated. She stated that her purpose in forwarding the email was simply to warn her husband of the possibility that she might lose her job.
- 3.142 Jennifer Walther: In the months preceding the March 10, 2009 special election, Jennifer Walther held a teaching position Ferris High School. Ms. Walther also held her position during the summer preceding the November 8, 2011 general election.

She stated that she was directed by Michael Syron to have her students distribute the flyers inside the school. (Exhibit 70.) At that time, Mr. Syron was the Athletic Director for Ferris High School. In a written statement received from Sharon Nelson, Ms. Walther's legal counsel, on February 3, 2014, Ms. Nelson stated that Ms. Walther was authorized or instructed to distribute the rally flyers not by Ferris High School's Athletic Director, but by an Assistant Principal, whom she did not identify. In an email sent on July 19, 2011, Ms. Walther made a series of critical statements about Deana Brower, then a candidate for school board. (Exhibit 73, p 1.) On July 23, 28, 29, and 30, 2011, Ms. Walther received emails from Ms. Rogers promoting Sally Fullmer, Deana Brower's opponent in the race for school board, and opposing Ms. Brower. These emails included the following in their subject lines: "Sally Fullmer best choice for Spokane School Board," "Please help get Sally Fullmer elected," and "Vote for Sally." Ms. Rogers' July 28, 2011 email to Ms. Walther contained an invitation to a candidate "meet and greet" event with Sally Fullmer. In her email to Ms. Walther sent on July 29, 2011, Ms. Rogers stated, "Deana Brower has been telling people she's a Republican. And yet other people, including the teachers union, Stand for Children, the Progressive Majority, and Wellstone Action, seem to think she's a progressive. I don't care what she is; I do care if she's being untruthful...it matters less to me about what political philosophy Deana has than that she appears to be trying to portray herself as something she isn't. I really think we already have enough of that in Spokane Public Schools. Please vote for someone who is what she appears to be: Sally Fullmer. And please pass this...around to your conservative-minded friends and colleagues who still believe Deana is a conservative. People should see Deana for who she really is."

- 3.148 Following her receipt of these emails from Ms. Rogers, on August 2, 2011, Ms. Walther sent an email to Ms. Rogers through her District address stating the following: "I talked to a teacher from Linwood Elem. and she told me she received a letter (2 pages) from the District/union telling teachers to vote for Deana Brower for school board. Truly a case of someone trying to act like a Republican and completely swayed by the union. Brower is a rubber stamped, well coached machine. It's too bad voters cannot see through her facade." (Exhibit 73, p 20.) Ms. Rogers responded the same day, "Thanks for that. Some voters are beginning to see. I'd like to see the letter. Any chance I can get a copy?" (Exhibit 73, p 29.)
- 3.149 Between August 2 – 15, 2011, Ms. Walther engaged in an exchange of emails with Ms. Rogers, discussing Ms. Walther's efforts to secure a copy of the union's letter for Ms. Rogers. (Exhibit 73, pp 38 - 124.) Each email sent throughout this exchange included the phrase "Vote for Sally" in its subject line.
- 3.150 PDC staff asked Ms. Walther's legal counsel for a response regarding Ms. Walther's use of Spokane Public Schools email to coordinate opposition research regarding Deana Brower's campaign, in support of Sally Fullmer. Ms. Walther's legal counsel did not respond to PDC staff's repeated requests.
- 3.151 Following the email exchanges with Laurie Rogers described above, as an instructor of a Leadership course at Ferris High School, Ms. Walther used public facilities including student instructional time to organize a candidate debate at the school. The debate, given the name "Face-Off at Ferris," was held on October 17, 2011. The participants were David Condon and Mary Verner, candidates in 2011 for Mayor of Spokane, and Deana Brower and Sally Fullmer, candidates for school board.
- 3.152 On September 17, 2011, Ms. Walther met with several individuals who were not employees or officials of Spokane Public Schools to plan the 2011 candidate debate. Minutes of that meeting indicate that no students were present or involved in the planning that occurred. (Exhibit 74, pp 3 – 4.) The individuals who participated in the meeting included republican activists Craig Eggleston and Susan Wilmoth, and Mike Noder, a candidate in the Spokane mayoral race who had been eliminated in the August 16, 2011 primary election. The meeting minutes indicate that Mr. Eggleston agreed to solicit questions for the debate from private organizations outside Ferris High School, including the Washington Policy Center and Evergreen Freedom Foundation. Emails sent and received by Ms. Walther through her Spokane Public Schools address indicate that Ms. Walther was present at the planning session where the source of debate questions was discussed, and was also included as a recipient of emails that revealed the source of some questions. (Exhibit 74, pp 3 – 9.)

- 3.153 Chris Cargill of the Washington Policy Center and Jami Lund of the Evergreen Freedom Foundation contributed questions to the candidate debate. (Exhibit 74, pp 8 – 9, Exhibit 75.) More than half of the questions ultimately posed to school board candidates Deana Brower and Sally Fullmer came from the Washington Policy Center and Evergreen Freedom Foundation; in some cases, the questions were used verbatim. (Exhibit 76.)
- 3.154 Following complaints to the Spokane School District that the debate questions were slanted or unfair, on January 31, 2012, Spokane Public Schools addressed the issue by sending an “advisory letter” to Ms. Walther. (Exhibit 77.) The letter, signed by Tennille Jeffries-Simmons, Executive Director of Human Resources for Spokane Public Schools, stated the following, in part: “Based on what I have reviewed it is apparent that greater attention needs to be paid to having the debate be more of a student-centered activity where, at the very least, students are responsible for generating the questions at the inception. Likewise, you need to provide greater oversight throughout the debate preparation process to ensure that students are not taken advantage of or used inappropriately by others for their own political purposes. Finally, the role that students play in the development of the debate questions needs to be more clearly understood and advised, to avoid any confusion by candidates or attendees.”
- 3.155 In her February 3, 2014 statement on behalf of Ms. Walther, Sharon Nelson disputed that the 2011 “Face-Off at Ferris” candidate debate involved a use of public facilities for the purpose of assisting a candidate’s campaign, or a violation of RCW 42.17.130. (Exhibit 71.)

RCW 42.17.130 states, in part:

"No elective official nor any employee of his office nor any person appointed to or employed by any public office or agency may use or authorize the use of any of the facilities of a public office or agency, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of assisting a campaign for election of any person to any office or for the promotion of or opposition to any ballot proposition. Facilities of a public office or agency include, but are not limited to, use of stationery, postage, machines, and equipment, use of employees of the office or agency during working hours, vehicles, office space, publications of the office or agency, and clientele lists of persons served by the office or agency.

...[T]he foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to the following activities:

...(3) Activities which are part of the normal and regular conduct of the office or agency."

Effective January 1, 2012, RCW 42.17.130 was recodified as RCW 42.17A.555.

WAC 390-05-273 defines the "normal and regular conduct" of a public office or agency as "conduct which is (1) lawful, i.e., specifically authorized, either expressly or by necessary implication, in an appropriate enactment, and (2) usual, i.e., not effected or authorized in or by some extraordinary means or manner."

WAC 390-05-271 states the following:

(1) RCW 42.17A.555 does not restrict the right of any individual to express his or her own personal views concerning, supporting, or opposing any candidate or ballot proposition, if such expression does not involve a use of the facilities of a public office or agency.

(2) RCW 42.17A.555 does not prevent a public office or agency from (a) making facilities available on a nondiscriminatory, equal access basis for political uses or (b) making an objective and fair presentation of facts relevant to a ballot proposition, if such action is part of the normal and regular conduct of the office or agency.

Public Disclosure Commission

Dear Sirs:

In accordance with the instructions provided in the Certification Section of the WASHINGTON STATE PUBLIC DISCLOSURE COMMISSION COMPLAINT FORM which I submitted September 28, 2011, to your office ("If I become aware of additional information, documents or evidence related to my complaint, I will promptly provide it to the PDC:"), I herein provide additional information, documents and evidence bearing on PDC Case No. 12-145. Enclosed are the following:

1. A single disc containing selected emails and documents Spokane Public Schools provided in response to a lawsuit filed Feb. 7, 2012, Rogers v. Spokane Public Schools, Spokane County Superior Court Case No. 12-2-00469-7. The enclosed records were received on or between February 24, 2012 and May 11, 2012.
2. A list of specific records that I believe merit your attention, itemized by District response date and page number. This will make it easier for you to locate them in the PDF files provided by the District.
3. Paper copies of the records listed herein, ordered exactly as they are itemized in this letter.

The original complaint filed Sept. 28, 2011, the additional documents provided to the PDC in December 2011 and in April 2012, and the documents enclosed herein, allege that employees of the Spokane School District actively campaigned for bond and levy ballot propositions in 2006 and 2009, and for a board candidate in 2011, using public resources to do so. Documents also allege that administrators appear to have pressured District employees to engage in behaviors expressly prohibited by RCW 42.17.

Documents also allege that the Spokane School District actively assisted Citizens for Spokane Schools (CFSS) in its campaign for passage of ballot propositions, to the extent that CFSS was used by the District as an arm of the District, with certain district employees working in cooperation between both organizations. The documents allege that district administration and board directors had knowledge of the prohibitions detailed in RCW 42.17 prior to engaging in this behavior.

February 5, 2014

The District has stated in multiple communications that it may only provide "factual information" relative to ballot propositions, yet staff members repeatedly used subjective, nonfactual, persuasive, and even threatening language to motivate district staff and the public to vote for, and to help campaign for, the bond and levy propositions.

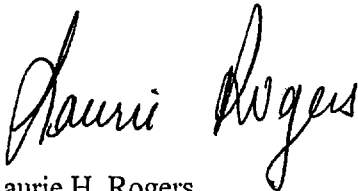

The enclosed records represent a small portion of those received from Spokane Public Schools following legal action over a records request from January 3, 2011 (Rogers v. Spokane Public Schools, Spokane County Superior Court Case No. 12-2-00469-7). The lawsuit was settled in October 2013, although not all records were received. The enclosed records were not included in previous packets sent to the PDC regarding Case #12-145.

The author makes no claim that the enclosed records encompass all of the available District records pertinent to Case #12-145. There might be others that merit the PDC's attention, and that are not articulated herein.

With respect to the areas of alleged violations, the documentation – in the form of emails and other documents – shows that the leadership of Spokane Public Schools District 81 violated Washington State Law by advocating for levies and bonds, by pressuring staff and employees to campaign, and/or by campaigning or assisting in a campaign for the election of a School Board Director.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions, or if I can provide any additional information or clarification.

Respectfully submitted this 5th day of February, 2014.

Laurie H. Rogers

Subject: Tours in February
Greetings Cathy, Chuck, Kevin, Mary-Dean and Kim.

A core group of central staff has developed a communication plan for the levy/bond. Our work is to inform the community about the levy and bond, as opposed to a citizens levy committee that works to get yes voters.

One of our ideas for informing the community about the bond is to offer one tour to the public and the media at each of the buildings that will be updated with bond monies. Parents, of course, would be welcome, but most of them have probably already seen their child's school. Mark Anderson, Kevin Morrison and I are among the core group and would be happy to help host these events.

Our idea is to hold these the first two weeks of February. Would you please let me know your thoughts on this and if a particular date interests you? We would like to avoid Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Thanks so much.

By the way, I've attached the latest communication plan only for your information. You'll see "school tours" under February with more details to follow.

Terren:

Attached are highlighted areas for consideration to include the following key activities and questions:

- * Ensure we have levy fact sheets available for attendees at this week's Chamber event
- * Ensure we have fact sheets distributed to each attendee at next week's Community Business Leader breakfast
- * Prepare and provide levy article to all principals for inclusion in their next parent newsletter (by Feb. 10)
- * Prepare and distribute article #2 to large employers for distribution to employees (to PR directors by Feb. 17 with follow-up calls on Feb. 21 with request to distribute by Feb. 24)
- * Prepare and distribute levy fact flyer to all elementary parents via students on February 22 (flyers to principals by Feb. 21)
- * Are we going to do a news release the day ballots are dropped?
- * Are we going to take out factual ads about the levy election in various publications?
- * Are we going to get the Superintendent on the KXLY morning radio show?

Tx,
Mark

Hi all. Here is the updated levy communications plan. This plan was originally created three years ago for the levy/bond elections so some of the activities are really more related to the bond.

You'll also see that some things have not been accomplished and won't be. For example, I've left on Education Update even though we have not had, nor will we have, time to produce those...I left it on, however, so that for the next election we're reminded of what our goals are.

There are other things I've left on that I'm hoping we can complete. And there are new activities that I just added.

Please review very closely both for your initials and to see if there is something you could do to assist, particularly with those activities that are "past due."

Please let me know your thoughts tomorrow (Tuesday) and I will update this and send a new one out. Time's a ticking and I'm feeling badly that we're behind. On the other hand, we've accomplished a LOT!!! Plus, I believe that you are all like me and enjoy a challenge. I think we can accomplish many things in these next two weeks. I appreciate your help.

Hi Carole,

First of all, I know you are more than busy today, so tomorrow will be fine in responding to this inquiry.

I am checking to see if you are going to have a parent group meeting on February 2 at 4:30 p.m.

If so, is the topic the bond and levy? If so, Dr. Anderson will be attending so we need to know how many handouts to send with him, where the meeting will be held, and if you want the video shown. If you do want the vid shown, will the equipment be set up and ready to go for him?

Also, Teri needs to know what kind of presentation you want in terms of Options #1, #2, or #3 or #4. See option descriptions below.

Option 1 - 20 minutes (bond & levy video and presentation).

- Levy and Bond Fact Sheets Distributed

- Bond and Levy Video shown

- Bond and Levy presentation made by Central Office Administrator and School Board Member if appropriate

Option 2 - 10 minutes (bond & levy video and no presentation)

- Levy and Bond Fact Sheets Distributed

- Board member or central administrator make introductory remarks

- Levy and Bond Video Shown

Option 3 - 3 minutes (no video and no presentation slides)

- Levy and Bond Fact Sheets Distributed

- Board Member of Central Administrator make key comments about bond and levy

- Levy and Bond Fact Sheets Distributed

- Principal makes key comments about bond and levy

As staff gather for the meeting, ensure that the three handouts are distributed. Below is the presentation order and enclosed is a suggested script for making the presentation.

12 minutes Bond/Levy DVD
6 minutes Presentation
2 minutes Questions/Answers
20 minutes

BOND AND LEVY PRESENTATION TO PARENTS AT SCHOOL EVENTS

Principals should schedule at least one meeting with parent leaders at their school during January or February to have a full presentation about the bond and replacement levy election. In addition, at least one other school event should be scheduled prior to the March 10 election where the bond and levy information can be shared with parents (more than want event preferred).

Listed below are four options for presenting the bond and levy information to parents. A table should be set up at every school event with voter registration forms (and sign) if scheduled prior to February 7th – the deadline for mailing voter registration forms to the Spokane County Elections Office. And, bond and levy fact sheets should be available and distributed to parents at all school events.

Option 1 – 20 minutes. Bond and levy brochure, including school-specific insert, distributed to parents and others attending the event. A school board member and/or central administrator make a few introductory comments about the bond and levy renewal election, have eleven minute bond and levy video shown, give the bond and levy presentation using PowerPoint presentation, and are available to answer questions.

Option 2 – 12 minutes. Bond and levy brochure, including school-specific insert, distributed to parents and others attending the event. A school board member and/or central administrator make a few introductory comments about the bond and levy renewal election, have the eleven minute bond and levy video shown, and are available to answer questions (no presentation slides).

Option 3 – 3 minutes. Bond and levy brochure, including school-specific insert, distributed to attendees at the event. A school board member and/or central administrator make a few key comments about the bond and levy renewal election and are available to answer questions (no video and no presentation slides).

Option 4 – 3 minutes. The principal makes some brief comments about the bond levy renewal election and distributes the fact sheets (no video and no presentation slides).

Principals should coordinate and schedule all presentations with their School Director who will ensure appropriate presenters. Principals should order an appropriate number of the bond and levy brochures and school-specific inserts from the Print Shop three days in advance of the event for distribution to the anticipated number of parents/patrons attending.

When contacting your school director, provide the information listed below about the school event at which the presentation will be made:

- a) the type of school event at which the bond and levy presentation will be made,
- b) the start time of the event,
- c) the approximate time you anticipate the presentation will be made during the event (if a school board member is requested to attend – Option 1, 2, or 3), and
- d) the number of people you anticipate attending.

If Option 1, 2, or 3 is selected, principals will be informed which school board member and/or central administrator will be attending to make the presentation by their School Director. Principals should work with the assigned central administrator to ensure the appropriate presentation equipment is set up at the school event if Option 1 or 2 are selected.

If Option 4 is selected, in which the principal will make some brief comments about the bond and levy election and distribute the fact sheets to parents, the following key message points should be incorporated into your comments:

- The bond protects and maintains the Spokane community's current investment in school buildings and technology.
- The bond continues Spokane Public Schools' proven history of constructing and maintaining durable, well-designed school buildings.
- The bond keeps the district's 25-year building replacement and modernization plan on course.
- The bond benefits every school.
- The bond stimulates the local Spokane economy.
- The bond maintains the district's commitment to keep the local tax rate no higher than $1.96 per per $1,000 of assessed property value, keeping costs manageable for future Spokane generations (In fact, construction inflation caused the scale and scope of projects for the 2009 bond to be reduced in order to keep the flat tax rate.).
- The proposed levy renews an expiring three-year levy approved in March 200 – it is not a new tax.
- The local levy maintains essential educational programs and activities for students not funded by by state and federal dollars – 14.5% of the district's yearly budget or approximately $60 million per year.
- Approval of the levy will not mean a tax rate increase – in fact, the levy is estimated to be at least 20 cents per $1,000 of assessed property value less than what voters approved in 2006.

- All mail-in ballot election – voters will receive ballots around February 18th.
- Over 40,000 registered voters need to vote in this school election to validate the school bond election.
- A super-majority (60%) must vote yes for passage of bond – a simple majority (50%) is required to pass levy.
- Parents can learn more about the bond and levy by watching a short show being broadcast on cable Channel 17 during the 7:00 a.m., 3:00 p.m., or 7:00 p.m. Spokane Public Schools informational hours.
- Please remember to vote by mailing in your election ballot on or before March 10, 2009.

In advance, thank you for your assistance in providing information about the upcoming bond and levy to staff and parents. If you should have any questions, please feel free to contact me at marka@spokaneschools.org or 354-7272.

You may be asked to attend the school event to provide support and assistance to the principal and a school board member designated to be a part of the presentation. Or, if a school board member is unable to attend the event, you may be asked to give the entire presentation at the event yourself. Following are instructions for these presentations.

PURPOSE OF BOND & LEVY INFORMATION MEETINGS

- Provide parents with information and facts about the March 10, 2009 bond and replacement levy all mail-in ballot election.
- Inform parents about voter registration deadlines and encourage them to vote.

PRESENTATION OPTIONS

Given the bond and levy presentations to parents are being scheduled as a part of school events, the presentation is intended to be short, basically informing parents about the bond and levy election and encouraging them to vote. As you know, we are asking principals to schedule one longer presentation about the bond and levy for parent leaders in their school (e.g., PTG, Parent Advisory Committee, Booster Club, etc.), in addition to shorter presentations at school events.

Listed below are three different options available to schools for having bond and levy presentations for parents in which you and a school board member could be involved. Principals should be working with you on which option works best for their school event. You, in turn, should work with Joan Poirier to schedule a school board member and inform them which option is preferred for presenting during the school event. If your schedule doesn't permit you to attend the school event to assist the school board member, you should find another central administrator to assist (e.g., member of superintendent cabinet or another school director).

Option 1 – 20 minutes. Bond and levy brochure, including school-specific insert, distributed to parents and others attending the event. A school board member and/or central administrator make a few introductory comments about the bond and levy renewal election, have eleven minute bond and levy video shown, give the bond and levy presentation using PowerPoint presentation, and are available to answer questions.

Option 2 – 12 minutes. Bond and levy brochure, including school-specific insert, distributed to parents and others attending the event. A school board member and/or central administrator make a few introductory comments about the bond and levy renewal election, have the eleven minute bond and levy video shown, and are available to answer questions (no presentation slides).

Option 3 – 3 minutes. Bond and levy brochure, including school-specific insert, distributed to attendees at the event. A school board member and/or central administrator make a few key comments about the bond and levy renewal election and are available to answer questions (no video and no presentation slides).

PRESENTATION MATERIALS AND EQUIPMENT

The following equipment and materials should be available and coordinated by the principal and you for making the presentation at the school event, depending upon which option is selected:

- Informational handouts to distribute to each individual attending the meeting, to include:
 - Bond and Levy Brochure
 - School-specific insert – one page, two-sided handout
- Bond and Levy DVD and player
- PowerPoint Presentation and Equipment

PRIOR TO THE SCHOOL EVENT

- Familiarize yourself with the bond and levy fact sheets and presentation.
- Check with the principal to ensure all materials and equipment will be set up and confirm which presentation option has been selected for the event.
- If Option 1, which includes the presentation slides, make sure the principal has the PowerPoint presentation ready to go for the event.
- If Option 1 or 2, which includes showing the bond/levy DVD, ensure the principal has the DVD equipment, including sound system, ready to go for the event.
- Ensure principal has ordered from the Print Shop a sufficient number of bond/levy brochures and school specific inserts from the Print Shop at least three days in advance of the event.

DURING THE SCHOOL EVENT

As parents are gathering for the event, the central office administrator and the principal should have the bond and levy fact sheets distributed to each attendee. You and the school board member should discuss your roles in the presentation. The principal should introduce the school board member and/or you, to present some brief information about the March 10 bond and levy election during the event.

See enclosed suggested scripts to use in making the presentation, depending upon the option selected for a particular school event.

In advance, thank you for helping presenting facts about the upcoming bond and levy election to parents at school events scheduled during January, February and early March. If you have any questions, feel free to contact me.

SUBJECT: School Board Member Instructions for Levy Information Presentations

Following are instructions for school board members related to their role in presenting information about the March 14 levy renewal election at school events in which parents will be in attendance during January and February 2006.

PURPOSE OF SHARING LEVY INFORMATION AT SCHOOL EVENTS

- Provide parents with information and facts about the Educational Program Maintenance and Operations Replacement Levy scheduled for a March 14, 2006 all mail-in ballot election.
- Inform parents about voter registration deadlines and encourage them to vote.

PRESENTATION OPTIONS

Given the levy presentations to parents are being scheduled as a part of school events, the presentation is intended to be short, basically informing parents about the levy election and encouraging them to vote.

Listed below are three different options available to schools for having the levy facts presented to parents in which school board members will be involved. Principals will be informing Community Relations which option works best for their school event and we, in turn, will let you and board members know in advance which presentation option is planned. It is very likely that Option 2 or 3 below will be the option preferred for presenting during a school event.

Option 1 – 15 minutes. Levy fact sheets distributed to parents at the start of the school event. During the event, the school board member attending will make a few introductory comments about the March 14 levy renewal election, have the four minute levy video shown, make the levy presentation with a central office administrator, and be available to answer questions.

Option 2 – 8 minutes. Levy fact sheets distributed to parents at the start of the event. During the event, the school board member attending will make a few introductory comments about the levy renewal election, have the four minute levy video shown, and be available to answer questions (no presentation with overheads).

Option 3 – 3 minutes. Levy fact sheets distributed to parents at the start of the event. The school board member attending will make a few key comments about the upcoming levy election and be available to answer questions (no video and no presentation with overheads).

PRESENTATION MATERIALS AND EQUIPMENT

The following equipment and materials will be available and coordinated by the principal and central office administrator assigned to assist school board members in making brief comments about the levy at the school event:

- Informational handouts to distribute to each individual attending the meeting, to include:
 - Replacement Levy Facts & Award-Winning Schools – one page, two-sided handout
 - School Funding and Levies & Exercise Your Right to Vote – one page, two-sided handout
- Levy video or DVD
- Presentation overheads

PRIOR TO THE SCHOOL EVENT

- Board members should familiarize themselves with the levy fact sheets and presentation.
- Board members should check with Joan Poirier if they have any questions about the start time or location of the school event at which they are scheduled to attend and also which central office administrator will be attending to assist them.

DURING THE SCHOOL EVENT

As parents are gathering for the event, the principal will have the levy fact sheets distributed to each attendee and will introduce the school board member to present some brief information about the March 14th levy election. See enclosed suggested scripts to use in making the presentation, depending upon the option selected for a particular school event.

I will plan to review this information at the January 11 school board meeting to answer any questions that you or board members might have.

Re: Spokane School District Response to PDC Case No. 12-145

Dear Mr. Stutzman:

On behalf of Spokane Public Schools, please consider the following response to your letter dated November 8, 2011.

Upon receipt of your letter, Dr. Nancy Stowell, Superintendent of Spokane Public Schools ("District"), asked me to contact your office to learn more about what type of information might be helpful to the PDC in responding for the District. As directed in your letter, I chatted with Tony Perkins and clarified for Mr. Perkins that my response would be a response on behalf of the District as opposed to a response on behalf of any one individual. He indicated that it would likely be most helpful for the District to provide an overview of the types of activities in which the District engages to help inform the public about events important to District patrons. Mr. Perkins also graciously agreed to additional time for responding to your letter. That additional time was very helpful to me in gathering information and organizing it in a manner that I hope will be useful to you.

The District has reviewed the information enclosed with your November 8, 2011 letter. As you know, much of the information concerns efforts by the District to inform its patrons about the 2009 bond and levy measures. Information was also enclosed regarding alleged efforts by various individuals to assist an individual's school board election campaign.

The information I have enclosed focuses on: (1) the District's efforts to inform staff and others about PDC guidelines regarding use of school facilities; and (2) the District's normal and regular efforts to communicate information to District patrons.

I. District Efforts to Inform Individuals about PDC Guidelines.

The District engages in substantial efforts to instruct and inform individuals about proper use of District facilities and appropriate communications in general. More specifically, as described in more detail below, the District's efforts start with specific written communication delivered on at least two occasions in the last few years to every single employee in the District describing in detail PDC rules about campaigning. At the Board Policy level, the District likewise makes efforts to ensure compliance with state law in use of e-mails and compliance with lobbying rules. Through negotiations with the District's employee Unions, the District also insists on express language in Collective Bargaining Agreements prohibiting use of District facilities inconsistent with RCW 42.17.130.

A. Informing Employees About PDC Rules.

Again, by way of more detail, as part of the District's efforts to instruct and inform employees about the proper use of school facilities, the District has provided specific written flyers on at least two occasions to every single employee in the District describing in detail PDC rules about campaigning. These flyers were distributed in 2006 and again in 2009. The flyers are included as Attachment A to this letter. As you can see, the flyers include the following express prohibition against using "district supplies, equipment, or facilities to print, mail, email, distribute or otherwise produce materials for a Vote Yes levy/bond campaign." On the second page of each flyer there is a "Q & A" section that includes the following:

Q How can district employees respond to questions from patrons about the levy on work time?

A District staff can provide facts about the levy and answer basic questions in an objective manner. If a patron needs further information, refer him/her to the Community Relations Department at 354-7340.

Q Can school district staff members use district computers or email services to communicate about the levy "Vote Yes" campaign?

A No, district staff should use their personal computers and personal email services if they want to communicate with others about the levy vote yes campaign. District computers and email services can only be used to communicate the facts about the levy proposition.

Again, the above referenced flyer was distributed to every single employee in the District. Specifically, it was distributed to employees during staff meetings and placed in the school mailboxes of those employees who were not in attendance at the staff meeting.

B. School Board Policy Prohibitions on Email and Facility Usage.

At the Board Policy level, the School Board has promulgated a specific policy regarding appropriate use of District email and technology facilities. The District's Technology, Telecommunications and Internet Acceptable Use Policy 6400 (Attachment B) prohibits any use of "district computers, systems, networks and technology resources" that would be in violation of any state law or regulation, which obviously includes RCW 42.17.130. Moreover, that same School Board Policy expressly prohibits the use of District "computing and network resources" for commercial or personal activities, including "promotion of ... political lobbying."

C. Collective Bargaining Agreement Provision Requiring Compliance with RCW 42.17.130.

In addition to the above, the District makes further efforts to inform employees about the prohibition contained in RCW 42.17.130 through insistence on language in its collective bargaining agreements with employee unions. The Spokane Education Association ("SEA") is the union for most of the District's represented employees. The SEA Collective Bargaining Agreement (Attachment C) explicitly states:

The District will provide the Association with the use of the District interschool mail facilities for distribution of official Association communications so long as such communications are clearly labeled as Association materials and provided further that such communications are not in violation of RCW 42.17.130.

Article II, Section 5.A. (Emphasis added).

Despite these preventative measures to inform employees about acceptable use of District facilities (including email), the District understands that individual violations of RCW 42.17.130 may nevertheless occur. In reviewing the information provided by the PDC with your letter, concerns arose regarding whether certain SEA members used best practices when utilizing District email and facilities. After reviewing some of those emails, I sent a letter to the SEA addressing this issue. That letter is enclosed as Attachment D. In the letter, I specifically notified the SEA of District concerns regarding some SEA members and union representatives who have not exercised best practices in following PDC guidelines.

II. The District's Normal and Regular Practices.

In addition to the above efforts to notify individual employees regarding PDC guidelines, the District is also aware of and tries to be attentive to the PDC's "Guidelines for School Districts in Election Campaigns." I have reviewed those guidelines and, indeed, used them in helping to prepare the flyer sent to employees (referenced above as Attachment A). I have also used them in helping to focus the District's efforts on providing only factual information to patrons about levy and bond propositions.

A. Statutory Authority and Requirements.

The District is aware that RCW 28A.320.090 gives school district officials the authority to explain the operation and maintenance of the district to the general public:

The board of directors of any school district shall have authority to authorize the expenditure of funds for the purpose of preparing and distributing information to the general public to explain the instructional program, operation and maintenance of the schools of the district: PROVIDED, That nothing contained herein shall be construed to authorize preparation and distribution of information to the general public for the purpose of influencing the outcome of a school district election.

School districts are thus authorized to prepare and distribute information to the general public to explain the instructional program, operation and maintenance of the schools of the district. This includes informing the community of the needs the district faces and the needs students have that the community may not realize exist. PDC Guidelines at 4, ¶2.

At the same time, the District is aware that RCW 42.17.130 requires caution and vigilance when using school facilities to inform the public about school levy and bond campaigns. Activities to inform the public thus must be factual and part of the "normal and regular conduct" of the District. According to RCW 42.17.130:

No elective official nor any employee of his [or her] office nor any person appointed to or employed by any public office or agency may use or authorize the use of any of the facilities of a public office or agency, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of assisting a campaign for election of any person to any office or for the promotion of or opposition to any ballot proposition.... However, this does not apply to the following activities:

(3) Activities which are part of the normal and regular conduct of the office or agency.

B. School Board Communications Policy and Procedure.

The School District takes very seriously its obligation to inform patrons and taxpayers about important school events and issues while doing so consistent with the requirements of RCW 42.17.130. Indeed, and again at the policy level, the School Board promulgated Policy and Procedure 6112 (Attachment E), which embraces the District's obligation to fully inform its patrons and taxpayers about school matters, establishes a Communications Department for that express purpose, and which sets forth the District's normal and regular conduct in disseminating information to the public about school matters. Policy 6112 was adopted by the School Board approximately 25 years ago and during that time has provided a consistent, normal, customary and useful vehicle for publicizing school information to the District's many patrons.

Policy 6112 states:

The Spokane Public Schools Board of Directors recognizes the importance of actively conducting and maintaining a two-way communication program with its employees and the Spokane community.

This program is based (1) on the public's right to know about the school system it supports; (2) upon the belief that employees should have information affecting the performance of their work and benefits of employment; and (3) upon the district's desire to encourage parent and public involvement in district programs, committees, and activities.

Procedure 6112 establishes a Communications Department for the purpose of implementing the above Policy and to disseminate information "in a fair, accurate, and timely manner to various external and internal publics." The Procedure describes the normal and regular conduct of the District in communicating with the public:

The communications department executes its assignments through a broad variety of methods, including publication of all types, television, audiovisual technology, school visitation programs, workshops, oral presentations, and community involvement.

To assist the district in developing a professional communications program, the communications department provides consultation to building principals, teachers, administrators, and others as requested.

As recognized in Procedure 6112, having such a Communications Department, as well as spokespersons in specialized fields, to disseminate information "in a fair, accurate, and timely manner..." is particularly important because of the large size of the District.

C. District Demographics.

Spokane Public Schools is the largest school district in Eastern Washington and the second largest school district in the State of Washington. The District's attendance boundaries cover the City of Spokane and a small portion of Spokane County. The City of Spokane is the second largest City in Washington and covers almost 60 square miles with a population of over 200,000 residents (over 600,000 in the combined metropolitan area). To serve these residents, the District has 34 elementary schools, 6 middle schools, 5 comprehensive high schools, and over half a dozen alternative schools. The District is the only K-12 school district in the State of Washington which owns and operates a public television station, KSPS-TV. Each of the district's schools has official voter registration materials and all school secretaries are trained on assisting patrons in completion of voter registration materials.

Accordingly, Procedure 6112 elaborates on the many methods and means for normally and regularly communicating information to the public and recognizes that a District the size of Spokane Public Schools has unique responsibilities and tools at its disposal for informing the public about school issues. By way of example, the District is far too large to utilize just one open house to inform all of its patrons about any one school issue or event. The District has approximately 30,000 students, over 3200 employees, and provides services to a City with over 200,000 residents. A single open house in the middle of the District's geographic boundaries would require parents and patrons to travel between 5 and 8 miles in any one direction to attend. This is because the School District boundaries extend approximately 10 miles from end to end in an east to west direction and approximately 12 miles from end to end in a north to south direction

D. Normal and Regular Conduct for Dissemination of School Issues.

Because of the District's geographic size and the size of its residents (not to mention the travel challenges faced by various residents due to socioeconomic conditions and the travel constraints faced by weather conditions), the District's Communications Department utilizes a number of different methods and means for communicating with District patrons. In addition to the methods and means described in Policy and Procedure 6112, the District has also, over the years, established a normal and regular practice of keeping patrons and parents of the District, as well as the general public, informed about school matters. This normal and regular practice includes:

Posters	On hold messages
Brochures/Newsletters/Etc.	"School Talk" TV shows and publications
Fliers	"Staff Matters" newsletters to employees
PowerPoint Presentations	"Bulletin Board" newsletters to students
News Releases	Volunteer emails
News Tips to media	Parent leader emails
Facebook Posting	School newsletters

Twitter feeds
Use of the District Website
Public Service Announcements
Key communicator emails

Surveys
Reader Boards
Emails to administrators
Emails to employees
Public presentations

When utilizing the above types of normal and regular conduct for dissemination of information, the District makes an effort to utilize PDC decisions in the same manner that the District utilizes PDC guidelines. I have been made aware of PDC decisions regarding other Spokane County school districts and try to use those decisions to guide District conduct. The District is thus mindful that, by way of one example, a list of reasons for a levy or bond posted on a district website is an appropriate tool for informing the public about a bond of levy when the use of such a website is a normal and regular way of keeping the public informed about school matters.

The District is also mindful of the PDC's routine advice that it is appropriate for a district to use the same or similar methods of informing the public about levy and bond propositions as used for informing the public about other district matters. In that light, for instance, district-wide mailers or school newsletters that provide an objective and fair presentation of levy facts have been deemed appropriate by the PDC as long as those types of mailers and newsletters are used for other school matters. PDC Guidelines at 4-5, ¶¶8.a, 8.b.

E. Examples of Normal and Regular Conduct for Non-Levy School Issues.

Because the PDC uses a comparison between informing the public about levy and bond information to similar methods of informing the public about other school matters, I thought it might be helpful to provide the PDC with specific examples of some of the District's normal and regular conduct for informing the public about other school matters. I have thus enclosed a chart (Attachment F) showing the wide variety of District communication methods and means for an assortment of different School District matters.

In Attachment F, you will see a list across the top of the page of various School District matters, such as:

- The 2011-12 School District budget
- The re-opening of Rogers High School following its modernization
- An art event for students
- The District's effort to increase graduation rates
- The re-opening of Shadle Park High School following its modernization
- A 5th and 6th grade band and strings event
- The District's facility improvement projects for 2011
- A community outreach program
- A kindergarten registration program

These topics represent a range of examples of school district issues, events, and matters where the District engaged in communication efforts to inform District patrons and disseminate factual information.

In the left hand margin of Attachment F you will see some samples of normal and regular methods of communication utilized by the District to inform the public of the above-described events and issues. Please note that the methods listed in the chart labeled as Attachment F are just examples to assist your investigation, and are not inclusive of every method of communication used by the District for these types of non-levy events and issues.

January 3, 2012

Where check-marks appear in the various cells of Attachment F, the District utilized that particular method of communication to inform the public or disseminate information regarding the corresponding School District event or issue. Thus, by way of example, the District used PowerPoint presentations, news releases, news tips, Facebook posting, Twitter postings, website information, a calendaring function, the School Talk video, various publications, a survey, numerous emails, and public presentations etc., to inform the public and disseminate information to the public regarding the School District's 2011 budget issues.

In addition to the chart labeled as Attachment F, I have also enclosed several source documents so that you can see examples of the actual communication tools regularly and normally utilized by the District to inform the public. More specifically, I have given you source documents for four different School District events listed in the chart labeled as Attachment F:

District Budget Issues (Attachment G)
Shadle Park High School Re-Opening (Attachment H)
5th and 6th Grade Band and Strings Event (Attachment I)
District Facilities Improvement Projects (Attachment J)

In order to make the information as easy to follow as possible, I have also given you an index (included with each attachment for the above events/issues) that labels and describes the source documents included. Those descriptions correspond with the example normal and regular communication methods listed in the left hand margin of Attachment F.

In addition to the above, I thought it might also help to provide the PDC with a brief narrative about how the District recently used its normal and regular communication methods to inform District patrons about a particular event or issue. The event was the modernization of one of the District's elementary schools – Jefferson Elementary. Indeed, the Jefferson Elementary modernization project provides a useful example because it illustrates how the District used the similar channels of communication, similar methods and modes of communication, and similar extent of communications to inform the public about the Jefferson modernization project as it did to inform the public about the 2009 bond proposition.

A sampling of the District's efforts to inform the public about the Jefferson project thus included:

Project updates and School Talk informational videos posted on the District's website;
Fact sheets sent to area residents;
E-mails about the project sent by Jefferson's Principal to Jefferson parents;
Formation of a Steering Committee to provide input and suggestions to the District;
District presentations made to organizations like the Comstock Neighborhood Council;
Open houses held at Jefferson;
Notices included in Jefferson Elementary School's newsletter: The Fife & Drum;
Construction and design updates for Jefferson and other capital projects included in School Talk newsletters; and
Bulletin Board and Key Communicator messages posted regularly on the District's website.

As you can hopefully see from the above and the included materials, the District's normal and regular conduct of informing its taxpayers and patrons about School District issues and events is extensive, frequent, and wide-ranging. Whether information is provided about the levy, the District's budget, a high school re-opening event, an elementary school music event, or facility improvements, the District follows strikingly similar communication means, methods, and tools for disseminating information.

III. Conclusion.

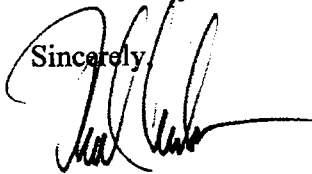

Accordingly, the District does not agree with the allegation that the dissemination of information pertaining to the 2009 bond and levy propositions was anything other than normal and regular conduct of the District meant to fairly and accurately inform District patrons about an important District issue. The methods and channels used to disseminate information were not only consistent with the District's usual and customary practice of informing patrons and taxpayers of the District about school matters, they are also consistent with what the Spokane community expects of the District in terms of providing transparent availability of such information.

The District, however, will continue to take affirmative steps – such as additional staff training – to educate District officials and employees about use of District facilities, and to ensure that all officials and employees further understand what behavior and/or communications is permissible in regards to future bond/levy measures. In fact, as you may be aware, the District has used Commission resources in the past to ensure information and materials pertaining to the District's upcoming levy are compliant with PDC laws.

Any additional tips or suggestions regarding compliance with PDC laws that the Commission is willing to offer are always appreciated.

Thank you for your consideration of the above response on behalf of Spokane Public Schools. Please let me know if you have any questions or if I can be of any further assistance to your investigation.

Sincerely,

Dr. Mark E. Anderson

and Assistant Secretary, Board of Directors

Communications Department

For the purpose of conducting a communications program, the district has established a communications department charged with disseminating information in a fair, accurate, and timely manner to various external and internal publics.

External communications specifically relates to the maintenance of effective news-media relationships and public-information programs.

Internal communications specifically relates to the maintenance of effective employee communications and district staff recognition programs.

The district recognizes that internal and external communications are arbitrary designations that often overlap and may therefore be carried out by various personnel working together, separately, or in conjunction with other departments.

The communications department executes its assignments through a broad variety of methods, including publications of all types, television, audiovisual technology, school visitations programs, workshops, oral presentations, and community involvement.

To assist the district in developing a professional communications program, the communications department provides consultation to building principals, teachers, administrators, and others as requested.

Spokespersons

A district the size of Spokane School District No. 81 employs many experts in specialized fields. Requests for information from news media representatives should be coordinated by the communications department, which has the responsibility of matching reporters' requests with the appropriate expert, building representative, or employee spokesperson.

This policy in no way restricts the ability of the communications department to answer questions of general public interest, to provide reporters with "background" information, or to initiate news stories.

Employees who receive direct requests for information or interviews from media representatives should notify the communications department immediately.

Information Dissemination

When publicizing an event, building principals may choose to use the services of the communications department or may contact media directly. If choosing the latter, a principal notifies the communications department by phone that media contact has taken place.

Building principals, administrators, or their appointed representatives are responsible for reporting newsworthy information to the communications department on a regular and timely basis.

Information about incidents which could harm district public relations must be relayed to the communications department as soon as possible.

Emergency information should be shared with the communications department as soon as possible after appropriate emergency, health, safety, or administrative personnel have been notified. The communications department assists building principals and administrators in contacting news media, arranging interviews, and all attendant media relations during emergency or crisis situations.

Most reports and surveys conducted by the district or pertaining to district students and programs are public property and must be released to the media if requested. The communications department assists in the release of sensitive or controversial information.

Communications and Personnel

Media inquiries relating to personnel matters shall be referred to the personnel department.

Communications and Students

The Spokane School District supports an active communications program while recognizing the rights of students to enjoy privacy and dignity.

Information protected by student privacy rights may not be released to the media. If doubt arises about the nature of a particular piece of student information, contact the student service department for assistance.

Whenever possible, obtain parental permission when individual students are interviewed inside school buildings or on school grounds. Under normal circumstances, parental permission is not necessary when pictures or taping involve an entire classroom or student body.

Under some circumstances, television stations provide students with prepared release forms. The district allows the use of these forms.

The district frequently receives requests to feature students in promotional materials for both nonprofit and commercial enterprises. Such requests should be referred to the assistant superintendent of schools for final approval. If permission is given, the agency or company provides prepared release forms.

For news stories pertaining to potentially embarrassing situations, prior parental permission must be obtained for each child being interviewed or prominently featured if the reporting is conducted on school property. If permission is obtained over the phone, document the date and time for later reference.

Written parental permission must be obtained for all handicapped, special education, or special program students (such as Chapter 1) who are interviewed or featured prominently in news stories, television or radio coverage, or news pictures. In these cases it is often wise to obtain permission for every child in a given classroom. In addition, the principal may request that taping or photography show the backs of students' heads (a silhouette profile) as much as possible rather than full-face closeups.

News Media and School Relations

Building personnel are asked to provide appropriate information to news media representatives in a courteous, professional, and timely manner.

The communications department is responsible for investigating and settling disputes which arise between district personnel and media representatives and accepts complaints from both parties.

District employees may ask the following from news media representatives:

*Normally, news media representatives arrange school visitations in advance, generally by contacting the communications department. Direct requests for visitations should be reported to the communications department as soon as possible.

*Reporters or film crews who arrive at a school without an appointment should be treated courteously but do not have the right to demand priority over pressing school business. In such circumstances it is also wise to verify a reporter's identity. All media representatives carry press passes.

*Like all visitors to school buildings, news media representatives must check in at a school's main office upon arrival. Visitors do not have the right to roam hallways without prior permission.

*Interviews conducted by phone may be tape recorded. Under federal law, reporters must inform interviewees when their remarks are being taped.

Subject: Technology, Telecommunications and Internet Acceptable Use Policy

Advances in telecommunication technologies continue to change the way we communicate. From offices, schools, and homes we are able to travel electronically all over the world to gather information. As more people travel this electronic highway and use the ever growing variety of technologies and services becoming available, maps to find information and rules to keep users safe and accountable become vital to successfully completing the journey. These informational networks and technologies represent a powerful educational resource. We are able to connect to businesses, major universities, national libraries, and other schools around the world. Just as we learn social codes and behaviors which are acceptable in everyday life, we need to learn the correct procedures and rules for using these networks of information services and technologies in the public school system.

The purpose of this Acceptable Use Policy is to provide guidelines, rules, procedures and code of conduct for the use of technology and the information network in Spokane Public Schools.

I. Telecommunications and Network Resources

For the purpose of this Acceptable Use Policy, telecommunications is defined as the sending and receiving of electronic, analog or digital information using any school district equipment, systems or networks; including, but not limited to, computers, telephones (wired, cellular, wifi), fax machines, local/wide/metropolitan-area networks, the district intranet, e-mail, voice-mail and the public internet. Employees using their personal computers, PDA's or other electronic device(s) for any district-related purpose and/or using district programs, internet access, files, e-mail, or documents shall also be subject to all requirements of this policy.

II. Spokane Public Schools Educational Network and the Public Internet

The internet is a global network made up of many contributing networks that support the open exchange of information among many different kinds of institutions all over the world. The purpose of the Spokane Public Schools' Educational Network and all of its technologies is to support the curricular needs and teaching and learning requirements of the district's educational program and to support the business and administrative needs of the school district's operations. Use of the Spokane Public Schools' Education Network and all of its technologies is a necessary element of the district's educational mission and business and administrative needs, and is furnished to staff and students as a privilege, not a right or entitlement. The district seeks to protect legitimate users of such technology by establishing guidelines for such use and imposing discipline on those who abuse the privilege.

III. Computer, Technology and Network Monitoring

The district has the right, but not the duty, to monitor any and all aspects of its computer systems and networks, including, but not limited to monitoring web sites visited by staff and students, monitoring chat groups and news-groups, reviewing material downloaded from or uploaded to the internet by users, reviewing e-mail and instant messages sent and received by users, monitoring the content and use of blogs and wikis, and reviewing any files or information stored on district computers or network servers or storage devices. Staff and students should not have an expectation of privacy in anything they create, store, send or receive on district computers or networks. The district will make every reasonable attempt to limit access to inappropriate material by using an internet filtering system, providing teacher training, and encouraging personal responsibility and accountability. Neither the district's attempts to limit access to inappropriate materials nor the guidelines set forth in this policy attempt to articulate all required or proscribed behavior by network users. The user is ultimately responsible for his/her actions in accessing and using network services. Successful operation of the Spokane Public Schools Educational Network and all of its technologies requires that all users conduct themselves in a responsible, decent, ethical and polite manner while using the network.

IV. Appropriate Use of Computers, Technology and Network Resources

Student and staff use of district technology, computing and network resources must be in accordance with the educational and operational needs and objectives of Spokane Public Schools. This includes, but is not limited to, the following;

- a. Student use of e-mail shall be permitted provided it is supervised and monitored by an appropriate staff member and is in conjunction with the curricular and educational needs of the student. Unsupervised use of e-mail by students shall not be permitted.
- b. Incidental and infrequent personal use of the internet, e-mail and telecommunications services shall be permitted for staff provided it does not interfere with professional responsibilities or the educational process, mission or operation of the school district and does not violate any other district policy or procedure.
- c. Chat areas, instant messaging services, news groups, blogs, podcasts, RSS feeds, wikis, or other communication methods that are explicitly allowed by the internet filtering system shall be permitted when used in conjunction with the curricular, educational or operational needs of staff and students.
- d. Staff or student storage of school-related, educational or business related data and information shall be permitted provided it is reasonable and necessary.
- e. Staff shall use due care and caution to protect and preserve the confidentiality of all data accessed, viewed, copied, printed, or transmitted in accordance with state and federal laws, rules and regulations.

- f. Staff shall make each electronic communication truthful and accurate. Care is to be used in drafting e-mail and other electronic documentation. E-mail messages shall be treated as formal business documents and must follow any and all record retention rules and practices.

V. Inappropriate Use of Computers, Technology and Network Resources

Unethical and unacceptable behaviors, inappropriate use of district computers, systems, networks and technology resources, and any violation of this Acceptable Use Policy shall be cause for taking disciplinary measures against staff in accordance with district policy, collective bargaining provisions on progressive discipline, and against students consistent with Policy 3200, Student Rights and Responsibilities. Unethical and unacceptable behaviors and inappropriate use of district computers, systems, networks and technology resources includes, but is not limited to:

- a. Transmitting or receiving any material in violation of any federal or state regulation, including, but not limited to:
 - i. Material protected by copyright or trade secret.

- b. Accessing any information that does not have educational or training value or interferes with professional responsibilities or the educational process.
- c. Using district resources for illegal, inappropriate, or obscene or sexual purposes or in support of such activities.
 - i. Illegal activities will be defined as a violation of local, state, and/or federal laws.
 - ii. Inappropriate use will be defined as a violation of the intended use of the district's technology, systems and networks and/or their purposes and goals, including violation of any or all rules included in this policy.
 - iii. Obscene or sexual activities will be defined as a violation of generally accepted social standards, including, but not limited to material that is harassing, embarrassing, sexually explicit or profane, and sexual misconduct as defined in WAC 181-88-060.
- d. Using district technology resources to bully, intimidate or harass others or discriminate against others in violation of Spokane Public Schools policies.
- e. Intentionally disrupting network traffic, crashing the network or systems, or degrading or disrupting equipment or system performance.
- f. Using Spokane Public Schools computing and network resources for commercial or financial gain or fraud.
- g. Using Spokane Public Schools computing and network resources to transmit or receive material for commercial or personal activities, including but not limited to, solicitation or promotion of:

- i. Commercial activities or product advertisements for personal gain.
- ii. Political lobbying inconsistent with, or in violation of, Policy 6120, Lobbying by District Employees.
- h. Stealing or attempting to steal data, equipment, network resources, intellectual property or any other technology related resources.

- j. Using any personal technology, including but not limited to, PCs, laptops, cell phones, music/video/game players or other electronic devices, in conjunction with district technology, network or resources that might be considered a violation of these rules.
- k. Forging e-mail messages, altering the attribution-of-origin information of e-mail messages, using an e-mail account assigned to another user, posting unauthorized, anonymous or inappropriate messages on chat rooms, news-groups, blogs or wikis or sending unsolicited e-mail (SPAM) or initiating the mass e-mailing of all employees without proper authorization.
- l. Gaining or seeking to gain unauthorized access of district files or data or other's files or data, or vandalizing or altering the files or data of another user.

- p. Attaining unauthorized access to information or possessing or disclosing information in violation of federal or state regulation, including, but not limited to the:
 - i. Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA).
 - ii. Children's Internet Protection Act (CIPA).
 - iii. Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA).
- q. Possessing any data in paper, electronic or any other form in violation of these rules.

- r. Committing software piracy, including but not limited to the downloading or installation or use of software applications, games, video, audio, graphical or textual content to which the district does not have a valid license or authorization. Downloading or uploading personal software or games shall not be permitted.
- s. Hacking, cracking, vandalizing, purposefully degrading, destroying or tampering with any district hardware, software, application, system network or any other technology.
- t. Committing computer vandalism through any malicious attempt to harm or destroy data of another user, uploading or creation of computer viruses, spreading of computer worms, phishing exploits or any other physical or virtual destruction or disruption of district technology resources.
 - i. Acts considered to be vandalism will include, but are not limited to, the modification of the system set-up and/or the system performance that would intentionally impair any system services or functions, attaining unauthorized access to or modification of system settings.
- u. Attempting to defeat or bypass the district's internet filter by using or trying to use proxies, https, special ports, modification to district browser settings or any other techniques designed to avoid being blocked from inappropriate content or to conceal internet activity.

Use of any information obtained via the internet is at the user's own risk. Users must be aware that there are many services available via the internet that might be offensive to certain groups of users. Spokane Public Schools has filters and security in place to block staff and student access to inappropriate and/or offensive material available via the internet but these filters are not a guarantee that all inappropriate material is blocked. Spokane Public Schools cannot eliminate access to all such services, nor could the district begin to identify all of them. Individual users are responsible for their own actions in navigating the internet using Spokane Public Schools' technology resources.

Re: Public Disclosure Complaint

Jenny:

As you are aware, the Public Disclosure Commission ("PDC") recently provided the School District with information regarding a complaint made by a District patron related to the use of School District facilities by individual members of the Spokane Education Association. In particular, the information provided raises concerns about a lack of best practices by some individual members of SEA, and other district employees, in using school facilities regarding the recent 2011 election for a school board director and also the District's 2009 bond and levy measures.

The District is certainly aware that school district employees do not forfeit their rights to engage in political activity because of their employment. PDC Guidelines for School Districts in Election Campaigns ("PDC Guidelines") at 4, ¶4. However, as you know, public facilities – such as school district equipment (including e-mail), buildings, supplies, employee work-time, and district publications may not be used to support or oppose candidates or ballot propositions. RCW 42.17.130; PDC Guidelines at 3, ¶1. More specifically, district employees should not:

- use work hours or public resources to promote or oppose a candidate or ballot measure (such as gathering signatures, distributing campaign materials, arranging speaking engagements, coordinating phone banks, or fundraising);
- pressure or coerce other employees to participate in campaign activities; or
- use district resources to organize the distribution of campaign materials.

PDC Guidelines at 11.

Similarly, union representatives should avoid:

- using the school's internal mail or e-mail system to communicate campaign-related information, including endorsements; or
- distribution of promotional materials in classrooms or other public areas.

PDC Guidelines at 12.

Jenny Rose
December 28, 2011

As you also know, the importance of compliance with these guidelines and RCW 42.17.130 is emphasized in the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the District and SEA:

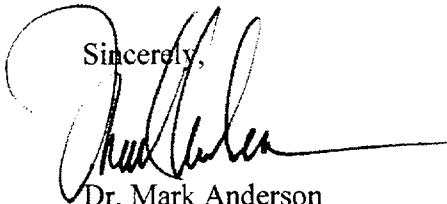

The District will provide the Association with the use of the District interschool mail facilities for distribution of official Association communications so long as such communications are clearly labeled as Association materials and provided further that such communications are not in violation of RCW 42.17.130.

Article II., Section 5.A. (emphasis added).

The District takes seriously the prohibition against using school facilities contrary to RCW 42.17.130. The District thus encourages the SEA to support our District's efforts at making individual employees and union representatives aware of the prohibition within RCW 42.17.130. Additionally, the District supports the inclusion of PDC rules and guidelines in training of SEA building representatives and encourages SEA to send regular reminders to members about PDC rules and guidelines, particularly during election times for candidates or ballot propositions.

Thank you in advance for your consideration of this matter, and please let me know if you would like to discuss this matter further.

Sincerely,

Dr. Mark Anderson
Associate Superintendent, School Support Services
and Assistant Secretary, Board of Directors

2009 Replacement Levy

Renewed every three years, the Spokane Public Schools levy is a way to supplement state funding, which falls short of providing for all that is required to give students a well-rounded education.

The levy is not a new tax. In fact, the levy tax rate is expected to decrease.

The levy provides 14.5 percent of Spokane Public Schools' operating budget. Examples of what levy dollars help pay for:

- music, art and gifted programs
- high school elective programs
- elementary counselors
- textbooks and instructional materials
- librarians
- custodians and school office staff
- special education teachers, assistants and support
- extra-curricular activities such as sports, debate and band
- transportation
- community use of buildings

Proposed 2009 Levy Amounts and Estimated Rates

Amount (in millions) Estimated rate per thousand of assessed value

Levy approved by voters in 2006
2009 - $49 mil.	$3.75
Levy proposed for 2009

2009 Bond and Levy Information

Excellence for Everyone

This March, Spokane Public Schools will ask the community to vote on a bond and levy replacement. These measures supply essential funds to support our students and provide them good places to learn. Find out more inside.

VOTE! Return your ballot by March 10.

Spokane Public Schools
excellence for everyone

What's a bond? What's a levy?

Bonds and levies pay for different things. Bonds are for building - they pay for things like facility, technology and security improvements. They can not be used to operate schools and fund programs.

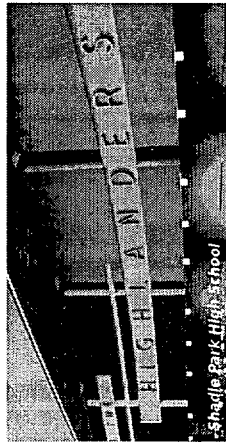

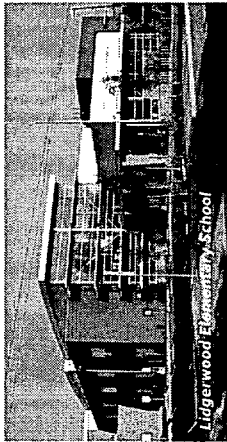

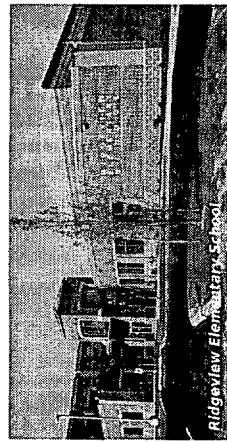

Levies are for learning - they pay for things like educational programs, staff, and supplies. They are a way for local communities to supplement state funding, which falls short of proving for all that is required.

In Washington, levies now can pass with a simple majority approval (more than 50 percent). Bonds, however, still require a supermajority vote, or at least 60 percent approval. Though levies have no validation requirements, at least 40,680 people must vote in the 2009 bond election for it to be validated.

2003 Bond Accomplishments

In 2002, Spokane Public Schools' Board of Directors created a long-range bond plan to keep our schools safe and provide good places for our students to learn. Phase I of the plan, the 2003 bond, paid for major school modernization projects pictured on this page as well as smaller building improvement projects and technology and safety upgrades at every school.

"The new school takes my breath away. Seeing all the hard work that's going into our school fills you with pride."
 - Shadle Park senior James Pallardy

Every project was finished on time and within budget.

"The new Lincoln Heights is a sustainable and high quality learning facility that will serve our community's educational needs for many years."

-Mike McGinnis, Lincoln Heights principal

2009 - 2015 Bond Projects

Like the 2003 bond, there's something in the 2009 bond for everyone. The plan even ensures the tax rate will be no higher than what voters paid in 2003. The 2009 bond:

Modernizes or replaces the district's oldest and least efficient buildings

- Ferris High School modernization
- Jefferson Elementary renovation or replacement
- Weston Elementary replacement
- Hutton Elementary renovation
- Finch Elementary renovation
- Salk Middle School gymnasium and master planning

 - Garfield - Mullan Road - Woodridge
- Lewis and Clark High School/Hart Field improvements and reconfiguration

The proposed 2009 bond
Protects and maintains the Spokane community's current investment in school buildings and technology
Continues Spokane Public Schools' proven history of constructing and maintaining durable, well-designed school buildings
Keeps the district's 25-year building replacement and modernization plan on course
Benefits all schools
Stimulates the local Spokane economy

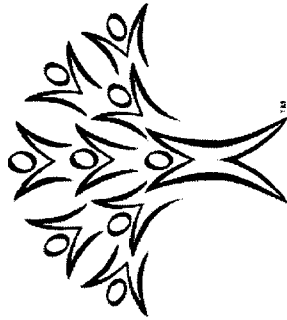

Maintains the district's commitment to keep the local tax rate no higher than $1.96 per $1,000 of assessed property value, keeping costs manageable for future Spokane generations (in fact, construction inflation caused the scale and scope of projects for the 2009 bond to be reduced in order to keep the flat tax rate.)

With voter approval of this $288 million bond, Spokane Public Schools would receive approximately $44 million more from state matching funds for a total of $332 million to do the proposed projects.

MEMORANDUM

To: Terren Roloff, Community Relations Director, Spokane Public Schools

From: Tony Perkins, Lead Political Finance Specialist

Date: November 9, 2011

Subject: Review of Information Regarding Levy Election in Spokane Public School District 81

BY ELECTRONIC MAIL

PDC staff members reviewed the proposed fact sheet that you submitted by email on November 9, 2011, regarding the proposed educational program levy on the February 14, 2012 special election ballot in Spokane Public School District 81.

As part of our review process, we look at aspects such as the timing, tone, and tenor of a communication, and the “normal and regular” conduct of the agency. In addition, we also review whether a communication appears to be an objective and fair presentation of the facts that, if lacking, could make the communication objectionable under RCW 42.17.130.

Our review and comments are meant to give you our best opinion as to the apparent fairness and objectivity of the information being communicated in accordance with PDC Interpretation #01-03, Guidelines for School Districts in Election Campaigns. That interpretation may be found on our Web site at www.pdc.wa.gov by hovering on “Home,” then on “Laws and Rules,” and finally clicking on “Commission Interpretations.” Please note that the Guidelines are only an interpretation that, combined with this memorandum, is meant to aid and assist in compliance with the law. The Guidelines do not constitute actual rules.

We cannot certify that the proposed fact sheet would not be found objectionable even after our review, should a complaint be filed by a citizen under RCW 42.17.130. The communication of this information, when combined with other activities to communicate information about the levy, may be construed by residents of Spokane Public School District 81 as “campaigning” in support of a ballot proposition.

Reviewing the proposed fact sheet, we found that much of it constituted an objective and fair presentation of the facts. However, there were areas of some concern, prompting the following recommendations:

- We recommend that you omit the heading, “SPS has tightened its belt over the past 10 years.” This statement conveys a tenor of support for the levy measure.
- We recommend that statements and data concerning budget cuts be grounded in a broader discussion of the school district’s budget and its evolution over a given time period. Emphasizing only budget cuts, in the absence of any other data, may be perceived as an attempt to promote the levy measure.
- We recommend that you encourage and provide information concerning voter registration only if it is the normal and regular conduct of Spokane Public Schools to communicate such information for every primary, general, and special election, in the manner of the proposed fact sheet. Otherwise, it is properly the role of your county elections office to communicate information about voter registration.
- Agency officials may make a fair and objective presentation of the facts concerning a ballot proposition to community groups and other organizations, in accordance with the officials’ and the agency’s normal and regular conduct. In the Guidelines for School Districts, the Commission stated that agency officials “Shall not use public resources to operate a speakers’ bureau in a manner that may be viewed as promoting a ballot measure.” PDC staff therefore recommends that Spokane Public Schools offer levy-related presentations only in response to specific requests, and refrain from soliciting such requests or invitations.

In your email received on November 9, 2012, you asked whether it would be acceptable for Spokane Public Schools officials to distribute the proposed fact sheet at community meetings. While PDC staff cannot authorize a specific time or method of distribution, we can advise you that an agency’s fair and objective presentation of the facts regarding a ballot proposition should be made or distributed in accordance with the agency’s “normal and regular conduct.” That term, as defined in WAC 390-05-273, means conduct that is 1) lawful, i.e., specifically authorized, either expressly or by necessary implication, in an appropriate enactment, and 2) usual, i.e., not effected or authorized in or by some extraordinary means or manner.

You also asked if the group holding the meeting, the Citizens Advisory Committee, could invite the participation of an activist from the political committee Citizens for Spokane Schools. It is not clear from your inquiry whether the Citizens Advisory Committee is convened by Spokane Public Schools, and uses a range of district facilities to conduct its business. If so, it should not allow the participation of any candidate or political committee activist in its meetings.

Conversely, if the Citizens Advisory Committee is essentially a private group, and uses school district facilities only according to standard terms available to other groups (e.g. the rental or other reservation of a meeting space in a school building, after hours), it may invite the participation of any candidate or committee activist in its meetings. However, in this case, no school district official, acting in an official capacity, should participate or be present during any portion of the meeting which involves campaign activity promoting a ballot proposition. Any participation of a district official or employee in such activity should be on the official or employee's own time, and should not involve the use of any other agency facilities.

Following this memo is a copy of the draft fact sheet reviewed by PDC staff. For your reference, the segments that our staff suggests be omitted or modified have been marked in yellow; click on the highlighted content to review staff's comments and recommendations.

While we cannot require you to follow PDC staff's recommendations, they do constitute our best advice for compliance with RCW 42.17.130. As stated above, our review should not be considered as authorizing or approving the changes recommended or the information included in the proposed fact sheet. Those decisions are the responsibility of Spokane School District 81, and the district's legal counsel.

If you have questions, please feel free to contact me at (360) 586-1042, toll free at 1-877-601-2828, or by email at tony.perkins@pdc.wa.gov.

Welcome Back to Another School Year!

by Jenny Rose

Welcome back to another school year! This time of the year is exciting not only for our students but for parents, teachers and everyone who works in our schools. Fall also brings us candidates running for political offices because they want to make a difference!

The Spokane Education Association also wants to make a difference by endorsing candidates that are pro-education and pro-union. We have a process that we follow in all the endorsements of our candidates. First, we invite all the candidates running for a particular office if he/she would be interested in interviewing with a team of SEA members. If they say, "yes," then we send them a questionnaire to fill out and return. We also set up interviews to actually meet the candidate and for them to meet us. We ask them the same questions from the questionnaire. The questions, for example, could be: "How can you, if elected, and SEA work together for the betterment of education?" and "What do you think about collective bargaining?"

This past spring – we met with several candidates for three different political offices – school board, city council president and city council, District 3. Below are our endorsements – we hope you read about each of our endorsed candidates and VOTE by November 8th

Elect Deana Brower
 Classroom Experience
 Proven Leadership

Spokane School Board

Deana Brower – Spokane Public School Board

Deana Brower is running for the only vacant Spokane Public School Board position. Deana received 38.5% of the votes in the primary, according to the Spokesman Review. She had a nine percent lead over second-place finisher, Sally Fullmer. Thus, these two will face off in the general election.

Perhaps Brower's own record best explains her lead. As a classroom teacher with 12 years of experience, Brower brings an educator's perspective on what our schools and parents face to help our students. It's no wonder she received the endorsement of the Spokane Education Association, as she has seen the challenges facing our students and schools firsthand. If elected, Brower will be the only classroom teacher on the school board to bring the insight of those "in the field." During a visit to a local high school, Brower was easily able to relate to staff concerns as she connected what she faced as a teacher to what our school staffs are facing today.

As a parent of two children who attend Spokane schools, Brower is aware of the impact education has in shaping our students' futures. She has a vested interest in making sure her children, and all students in Spokane Public Schools receive the best preparation for that future. In fact, Brower gives her time to the Jefferson Elementary School PTG as its president and volunteer coordinator. In addition, she's also a member of the Middle School Advisory for the district. Not only that, she is committee chair for Citizens for Spokane, a member of the Board of Directors at YWCA, and a member of the Chase Youth Commission.

With tough budget decisions facing the Spokane School Board, Brower knows that the district will need a tough, strategic plan to maximize the best use of resources. This will be important to insure the best for our students' futures.

Deana Brower's vast education and community experiences will enable her to bring a fresh perspective to the Spokane Public School Board!

Elect Ben Stuckart
www.benstuckart.com

City Council President

president.

Stuckart is the Spokane County executive director of an organization whose purpose is "getting the right time," the organization's website states. Community students in several schools in our district.

"Kids are a priority," said Stuckart. "Anytime we can force collaboration between the city and school districts, Stuckart said he is working with other city officials to would form school-based health clinics. Those clinics would be in district schools to provide health care for students.

Another concern Stuckart discussed was the need to provide for our students and their families. The high poverty rate in our district, living-wage jobs, Ben said. More and better pay would send their children to our schools, Stuckart continued. Spokane Schools, Stuckart underscored his belief in our district's line of Spokane educators.

When our city is working with our schools – we are working for our students. Neighborhoods will be safe for our children. The economy will grow when neighborhoods, for example, in the Perry neighborhoods are thriving. It's a "win-win" situation. The Spokane Education Association put their endorsement on Stuckart as City Council President.

Elect JOY JONES

Spokane City Council District 3

WWW.JOYJONES.ORG

Joy's priorities all relate to our public schools, economic development, neighborhood development, and taxes. Joy's degree in Urban Planning will benefit our community. She believes in strategic goals and for many generations to come. Those goals will support Joy Jones for City Council!

Meet Our Candidates!

by Jenny Rose

Welcome to our second installment of learning about our endorsed candidates whose names you will soon see on the general election ballot this month! We decided to ask them questions about who or what inspired them to run for public office, how can they help our students and best of all – who was their favorite teacher! I enjoyed reading their answers and I think you will too!

Deana Brower – Candidate for Spokane Public School Board Member

1. What or who inspired you to run for public office?

My commitment to education started 20 years ago when I had an opportunity to work with “at-risk” high school students visiting their state capitol to learn more about how our government works. This experience inspired me to become a teacher. With two young children at home and twelve years of teaching experience, my efforts shifted to volunteer and advocacy work for education and youth programs in our community. The culmination of these experiences provided my inspiration to run for the position of School Board Director. The perspective I will bring, is that of a mother, a classroom teacher, and a community advocate keeping the focus on our kids and their best interest.

2. If elected, how do you think you could help Spokane area students?

Spokane area students need opportunities and tools to reach their full potential as young adults when they leave our high schools. As a School Board Director, I will insist that we have high expectations for ALL students as well as the support necessary to assist them when they need it. Programs like AVID, ICAN, the On Track Academy, and the Institute of Science and Technology (just to name a few) are demonstrating impressive results for our students. As a School Board Director, I will support the continuation and possible expansion of these and other successful programs in our district while seeking out additional opportunities to ensure all students have a path to reach their full potential.

Of course, solid curriculum and dedicated educators are the foundation of Spokane Public Schools. As a School Board Director, I will work to keep this foundation strong by regularly reviewing curriculum and supporting our staff as needed to reach our full potential as an outstanding school district.

3. Who was your favorite teacher and why?

Mrs. Hernandez was a fresh college graduate from Stanford University when I walked into her classroom for 11th grade American History. Mrs. Hernandez had great expectations for her students. I had never been challenged to dig as deep and work as hard as I did in her class. Mrs. Hernandez taught each of us as though we were headed off to Stanford; expectations never wavering. I began to see myself as someone who, like Mrs. Hernandez, would recognize the potential in all students and challenge them to reach beyond their childhood labels. Five years later, I stood before my first class of History students, and held close to my heart the important lessons which Mrs. Hernandez taught me.

Ben Stuckart – Candidate for Spokane City Council President

1. What or who inspired you to run for public office?

I was born and raised in Spokane. Growing up I have seen large events such as Bloomsday and Hoopfest grow and the downtown revitalize but since 2000 I have not seen our city move forward together in a concerted effort to create more jobs and create the town that reflects our shared values. I value a city where the police have enough money to investigate property crimes, where streets are not pitted with potholes, where

Dear Terren,

Thanks for your message. I agree with Chip that it would not help matters to publish or distribute a message that names the other candidates. RCW 42.17.130 prohibits the use of public facilities to assist a candidate's campaign, and even if your intent was to level the playing field, it could still be seen as a violation of that basic prohibition.

I believe that your draft "apology" is appropriate—or at least unobjectionable under RCW 42.17.130—because it doesn't mention any candidate or any specific race. Keeping it vague is best.

Thanks again for your email. Let me know if you have any other questions.

Hi Tony. I'm the director of Communications for Spokane Public Schools. I just spoke with Chip regarding Kids Newspaper and the inclusion in two issues (September and October) of an advertisement by the Spokane Education Association that endorses three candidates, including one for school board in Spokane. I understand from talking to Chip that we cannot distribute anything to our students about the other candidates, as has been requested, as that would again be a violation of the RCW regarding use of district resources for campaigning. I would appreciate it if you would confirm that understanding.

Also, below is a draft of an apology that I'd like to put in our school-distributed publication called "Bulletin Board" and ask the publisher of KIDS Newspaper to put in her November issue. Both publications will come out before the election. I would greatly appreciate it if you would let me know if the wording is appropriate and the request for inclusion appropriate. Thank you so much.

As we have for the last 18 years, SPS allowed KIDS Newspaper to distribute issues of the newspaper to our elementary students in September and October. Those issues included an advertisement that wasn't appropriate. We have reviewed the situation with the Washington State Public Disclosure Commission and the publisher of the newspaper and agreed that in the future no newspapers with any political content will be distributed to our students through "kid mail". In addition, we commit to previewing KIDS Newspaper prior to publication to prevent such an occurrence.

Good Morning Tony,

I have reviewed the attachments and I recall the articles written by SEA President, Jenny Rose. You have identified the articles as "advertisements" which would indeed require an "in-kind" filing. I had considered the articles to be editorial endorsements, similar to those written by the Spokesmen Review on my behalf. In response to your specific question..

Did you, or any agent of your 2011 campaign, advise, counsel, or otherwise encourage the Spokane Education Association to sponsor the communications documented in the attached file? While I did fill out an application requesting endorsement from the SEA, I did not encourage, or sponsor the editorial. Candidates often fill out applications for several entities seeking endorsements, and those entities typically print a statement indicating their endorsement selections. It was my understanding that SEA did not take out a special section for an advertisement, but rather, used their regular page to make an editorial endorsement of candidates.

I hope you find my response helpful. Please let me know if I can provide any additional information on this inquiry.

I am happy to help!

Sincerely,
Deana Brower

Tony,
Answering your questions below:

- 1) Ms. Rose recalls that she spoke with a representative of Ms. Brower's campaign prior to the columns at issue being published. While she does not recall exactly the conversation, she does recall that there was an inquiry from the campaign along the lines of "what can you do" or "what are your plans" to assist the campaign, and that she responded that SEA would be placing an endorsement in the "Kids" newspaper.
- 2) The cost to SEA to purchase the pages at issue in the "Kids" newspaper was $1,000 per page. Each page contained three, roughly equal, candidate endorsements. Therefore, the cost attributable to each page for the portion containing Ms. Brower's endorsement would be $333.33, $666.66 in total.
- 3) No reporting was made to the PDC. Ms. Rose has explained that she did not report the expenditure because it did not occur to her that reporting was required.

Dear Ms. Rose,

I am a Public Disclosure Commission (PDC) staff investigator assigned to work on PDC Case 12-145, a complaint against officials of Spokane Public Schools filed by Laurie Rogers. I have a few questions that I hope you can assist me with. (I have included WEA Counsel Michael Gawley as a recipient on this email, because he has been working with me to resolve other, unrelated aspects of this complaint.)

Although they were not included in Ms. Rogers' complaint, PDC staff has been made aware of paid advertisements sponsored in 2011 by the Spokane Education Association and published in the "KIDS" newspaper that Spokane Public Schools distributes to its families through kid mail. Two advertisements in particular, documented in the attached PDF file, appear to communicate the SEA's endorsement of Deana Brower's 2011 campaign for school director.

When we submit our findings regarding Ms. Rogers' complaint, we would like to address these advertisements, specifically whether they were required to be disclosed in PDC campaign filings. At your earliest convenience, please respond to let me know the following:

1. Did Deana Brower, or any agent of her 2011 campaign, advise, counsel, or otherwise encourage the SEA to sponsor the communications documented in the attached file?
2. What was SEA's cost to sponsor the communications documented in the attached file, communicating the union's endorsement of Deana Brower? (If necessary, prorate the total cost of the communication, and reply with the portion that was attributable to Ms. Brower.)
3. Did SEA report its expenditures for these communications in campaign filings with the PDC? If so, how? If not, why not?

I appreciate your prompt attention to this. If possible, please respond this week, or by Friday, February 7, 2014. Feel free to contact me at the number below if you have any questions prior to responding.

Called, re: issue of SEA endorsement articles in KIDS Newspaper. I asked whether, when he said, "Ms. Brower's campaign knew of the endorsements before they were published," he meant that the campaign was aware that SEA would be incurring an expense to express its endorsement. He said that that was not his meaning—his information indicated that Deana was aware after the fact that an expenditure was involved, but beforehand, knew only that the endorsements would be published.

I said that in that case, PDC administrators would likely instruct the SEA to file a C-6 report of independent expenditure political advertising, or disclose the expenditures as appropriate. I said that I would let him know of our guidance.

I would hope we could divide up and ensure some of us are at the Citizens Levy Committee meeting next Monday.

Hi Maureen,

My husband works for the company that bought out Alton's Tire. I think it might an opportunity with the new ownership to gather some support for passing our levy. I wonder if you'd be interested in contacting Dave Wier. He is the CEO of Tire Rama, and the company is run much differently than it was before. I don't think that the new company is aware of the boycott efforts, and they might likely be interested in making a statement of support if we considered dropping the boycott. I don't know, but I think they might get on board now that Matt and Duane are gone. They've advertised the buy out like it was a merger, but in fact it was not. Duane sold all of his stock in Alton's to Tire Rama, and Matt only works one day a week for the company as an advertising person. He does not own any controlling stock. I think he is only still employed as a formality of the contract on which they bought the Alton's chain. Feel free to call me at home. [REDACTED]

Hi Mike:

It will be great to have you and Deana attend the January 27th budget forecast meeting for All Administrators to hear the forecast for next year and, at the end of the meeting, say a few words about the Citizens for Spokane Schools efforts to support the district. The meeting will start at 3:30 in the auditorium at John R. Rogers High School.

Attached is the current letter we have on file in the Payroll Office. I think it reads fine but probably want to just have you and Deana listed as the signature line. We will have about 250 administrators in attendance.

Dear Valued Staff Member of Spokane Public Schools:

It is important that you know that you are critical to the success of our children and our schools. Your monthly payroll contribution to the "Vote YES for Kids" campaign differentiates Spokane Public Schools from other districts in Washington State. Plain and simple, your support makes the district better: Better for you, better for our children, better for our community.

The Citizens for Spokane Schools "Vote YES for Kids" campaign commitment is to renew the upcoming operating levy in 2012. Your monthly contribution helps us make sure we have the strong financial foundation required to mount an effective campaign. When we go out to ask local businesses for support, we get a strong, positive response because we're able to tell them that you, the staff, contribute about 50% of all funds raised.

Our last levy election in March 2009 was a success but we need to work continuously to ensure that the upcoming levy passes with flying colors. Success for the 2012 levy will give us momentum to carry into the following bond election, too.

If you are already contributing monthly you can do one of two things. You can increase your monthly contribution or simply leave it the same and disregard this letter, as you are already in the system.

If you are not set up and want to set up a monthly payroll deduction to the "Vote YES for Kids" campaign please complete and return the form below to the school district's Payroll Department. The amount you choose is up to you. Every dollar makes a difference to the education and profession experience of Spokane Public Schools.

Spokane Public Schools is an outstanding school district. Please help keep it that way. We all want to personally thank you for your daily efforts that make our schools great and for your ongoing support of the Citizens for Spokane Schools Committee. We are proud to work with you to make things better: Better for you, better for our children, better for this community.

And, then 60% (super majority) must vote yes for the bond to pass.

If you live in Spokane Public Schools and have already voted - thank you. If you haven't voted, please mail your ballot back to the Elections Department before next Tuesday.

Also, please remind your friends, relatives, and acquaintances who live in Spokane Public Schools to vote by mailing in their ballot by next Tuesday.

As of today (Friday), we have 40,621 ballots returned for levy and bond election measures. Given our validation requirement is 40,680, we are now 59 ballots short of validating and will easily validate on Monday. However, the big question is, how many of those ballots are marked yes for the levy and bond and how many are marked no. And, of importance will be what is the return rate for those precincts that typically have a higher percentage of yes votes on school measures than other areas of town - don't know the answer to that at this moment.

I say we need to continue the full court information press to the end.

Subject: RE: Spokane Public Schools Request for Records

Tony:

Please find below the responses to your questions regarding this matter:

The records and information provided to Acme Research were in response to a written request, however the Inlander request was a verbal telephone request. After one of the District administrators received the telephone request from the editor of the Inlander, the District simply complied and provided the information just as it did pursuant to the verbal requests from the CFSS at issue here.

It may help to provide some historical context to the CFSS request at issue here. In providing reports to CFSS (such as those provided in September of 2008 and March of 2009), the School District was responding to a request that was first made many, many years ago (so long ago that it pre-dates any current School District central administrator).

Indeed, when Dr. Mark Anderson became Associate Superintendent for School Support Services in 1998, the Citizens group at that time had already been making this request. The School District had in place a written protocol for how a payroll technician (at that time, someone other than Linda Groth) was to prepare the information in response to the request made by the Citizen's group. If the original request from CFSS was ever put in writing, there is no current administrator or payroll employee at the District who is in a position to know (again, since the request was first made so long ago).

Adding to the historical context of this request by the Citizen's group is that it was first made at a time when the District likely did not have a formal or sophisticated process in place for responding to public records requests. The District's process for responding to public record requests has evolved over time (not unlike most public agencies in the state of Washington) into a more sophisticated process (largely due to digital records and the proliferation of broad records requests). However, at the time this request was initially made, the District simply did what it had always done.

The fact that the District did not have a sophisticated formal approach for responding to public records requests does not mean that the District failed to treat this request as a public records request. Indeed, eventually, it became apparent to the District that this request from the CFSS needed to be treated as a public records request. As to your request for whether contemporaneous communications exist showing that this was indeed a request from the CFSS that the District was treating as a formal records request, there is at least one such record. A January 28, 2009 internal email (attached) from Dr. Mark Anderson to the District's Manager of Payroll and Benefits, Mike Binyon reveals that it was the Citizens for Spokane Schools who requested the information from the District and that, after the information had not been provided, a member of the Citizens group followed up with another request. Dr. Anderson's email to Mr. Binyon is the same type of email he would send if any requestor of records had followed up with him asking what was taking so long to get the information that had been requested.

Moreover, as mentioned above, the District's Payroll Department has written desk procedures and instructions for how a technician is to compile and provide the report to the levy committee. I will send those procedures under separate cover in order to avoid exceeding the file attachment size limitations. The Payroll Department has similar written desk procedures and instructions for how to compile and provide other reports. There is nothing about the process for compiling and providing this report to CFSS that makes it any different from the process for compiling and providing of those other reports.

The District does not often receive open-ended, recurring requests for records or information. However, as mentioned above the Payroll Department does indeed have written desk procedures and instructions for how to compile and provide recurring requests similar to the one provided here. Some of those will also be provided under separate cover--again, due to file size limitations on attachments.

Please understand that much of what the Commission seems to be requesting here is not consistent with the type of written documentation that the School District requires. The District often received requests (at varying levels in the District, from the building level to the Superintendent's level) asking for records and information. It would be incredibly cumbersome and hardly what one would call "good customer service" for a building principal, a maintenance supervisor, or the Superintendent's office to require formal written requests every time a District patron, a concerned citizen, an organized or unorganized citizens group, or a newspaper reporter asked for information—whether ongoing, recurring or isolated. The School District simply does not operate in such a manner nor could one expect it to. The District is a large organization in the business of serving parents, community members, vendors, tax payers, and students. It receives numerous requests for information on a daily basis and must be able to respond in an efficient and effective manner.

Here, the CFSS request is one that began so long ago and became a rote process eventually based on the belief that that the District needed to provide the information pursuant to public records laws. There was never any thought by School District administrators that CFSS needed to make a formal written public records request for the information. Indeed, such an approach would have been akin to "form over substance" and antagonistic to the customer service approach embraced by the District.

That customer service approach happens to be consistent with the District's approach for dealing with records requests. Indeed, consistent with the model rules for responding to public records requests (the rules promulgated by the Washington State Attorney General), the District aims to provide the "fullest assistance" to a records requestor. Here, the District's Payroll Department had a protocol in place for providing the information to CFSS and, after so many years of simply providing the information (in keeping with the belief that it was responsive to an ongoing public records request), it would have been odd for the District to suddenly require that CFSS put its request in writing. Indeed, requiring such a request would be just the opposite of the normal and regular conduct of the District and would be just the opposite of providing the fullest assistance to a requestor.

Thank you for your consideration of the above and please let me know if you have any further questions.

Paul

Subject: RE: Spokane Public Schools Request for Records

Dear Paul,

Thank you for the information regarding requests for information made to the Spokane School District by the Northwest Inlander and Acme Research. As you and I discussed by telephone, additional information is needed to clarify the relevance of those requests to the information the school district has produced and provided to Citizens for Spokane Schools (CFSS).

I thought it might be helpful to you if I identified in writing the documents and information I will need. Please review the requests below and get back to me at your earliest convenience.

1. Were the records and information provided to the Inlander or Acme Research provided in response to written requests? If so, please provide a copy of the written request(s).
2. In providing monthly payroll deduction reports to CFSS (such as those provided in September of 2008 and March of 2009), was the Spokane School District responding in any instance to a written public records request? If so, please provide a copy of the written request(s).
3. If monthly payroll deduction reports provided to CFSS were not provided in response to a written request, does the district possess any internal communication or other written record that a) describes CFSS' request as a public records request, b) describes the terms of the request, or c) identifies the individual making the request? Please provide a copy of any record that contains some or all of this information.
4. Aside from the monthly payroll deduction reports provided to CFSS, does the Spokane School District fulfill any other open-ended, recurring requests for records or information?
5. If Spokane Schools does fulfill other open-ended, recurring requests for records or information, were any of these requests made orally, and not in writing? Please describe any such requests that were made orally, including the date the date the requests were first made, the frequency with which they are fulfilled, and the nature of the information or records requested.

Obtaining clear answers to the above questions will help me to understand Spokane Schools' behavior with respect to CFSS in light of the district's normal and regular conduct. Thanks in advance for your efforts, and please let me know if you have questions.

Sincerely,

Tony Perkins

Dear Ms. Hill,

Spokane Public Schools (SPS) has gathered all records that appear responsive to your public records request dated September 10, 2013. Attached is a PDF file containing fiscal year 2012-2013 payee records, other than employees or students, paid a cumulative total amount of $10,000 or more. The file includes payee name, address, cumulative total dollar amount paid to the subject payee for the period September 1, 2012 through August 31, 2013.

Because I am able to e-mail the records resulting in a de minimus cost to SPS, there is no fee for the records. As of the date of this e-mail, your records request is considered closed. Thanks Mike. I think Mary was wanting one thing and Denise another, as I recall. Denise want to send thank you letters to those employees who have been contributing via payroll deduction.

>>> Mike Blyon 1/28/2009 7:11 AM >>>

Sorry, I talked with Mary and discussed how she wanted the monthly file to be changed to accomodate the need to see changed amounts and had the Impression she and Denise would review it to see if they needed something more after the file was sent for this month. I made the changes to the file and it is going to be sent later this week. I'll contact Denise and get her what she wants.

Mike:

Denise Kliewer, a member of Citizens for Spokane Schools and a staff member at the Sp. Ed. Coordinating Center at Tate, saw me again on Monday night and said she still did not have the information requested from Payroll regarding employee names and addresses who are contributing the levy committee through payroll deduction.

Where are we on meeting this request?

Tx,
Mark

LEVY Reports - Summary

Revised 3/1/04 - LMZ - original procedures

After payroll has run, there are several levy reports that must be run and/or completed. The CDD reports should be run immediately after distribute and pay as current changes will be reflected in the reports.

① The first CDD report is run and sent to a levy committee:

→ PY:Levy Deduction by Employee List-Output to Excel (PY_Levy_Deduction_XLS)

The report has two prompts, Month and Year, fill these in and run the report. When the report is done, it will have created an excel spreadsheet. Save the spreadsheet as

J:\Payroll\levy\YYYY Committee Report\XXXX MM (ex: 2004 Committee Report\2004 01)

Mary

mokoerigs@comcast.net
erxobey@comcast.net

→ 1 - HR:Employee Count with Levy dedu by Sal Schedule second version (HR_Emp_Count_Levy_by SalSchedule2)

The report prompts that you need to fill in are Start Date (beginning of the month you are working on (ex: 01/01/2004)) and End Date (end of the month you are working on (ex: 01/31/2004))

→ 2 - HR:Employee Count by Sal Schedule 2 (HR_EMP_COUNT_by SalSchd2)

The report prompts are the same as report number 1.

After these reports are done, you will need to take this information and complete the levy information at J:\Payroll\levy\Levy YYYY-YY (ex: Levy 2003-04).

Go to (or create) a worksheet for the month you are working on (ex: Jan 2004). Use the Employee Count by Salary Schedule (Barg Unit) to find the information for the column "Total Employees As of MMM YYYY (ex: Jan 2004). Add Bargaining Units ADA1, ADA2 & SU together for the Administrators and do not use the XX Bargaining Unit (extra curricular).

Use the Employee Count by Salary Schedule (Barg Unit) with Levy Deduction to find the information for "Number of Employees Contributing in MMM YYYY (ex: Jan 2004) and the "Total Amount of Levy Deductions for MMM YYYY (ex. Jan 2004)". Again, add Bargaining Units ADA1, ADA2 & Su together for Administrators and do not use XX (extra curricular).

Find the payroll Deduction Register and find the Actual Unduplicated number of employees and the amount contributed. Fill in those fields on both the month that you are working on as well as the Levy Stats worksheet.

LEVY Reports - Detailed Procedures

Revised 3/1/04 - GMZ original procedures

→ CDD Reports

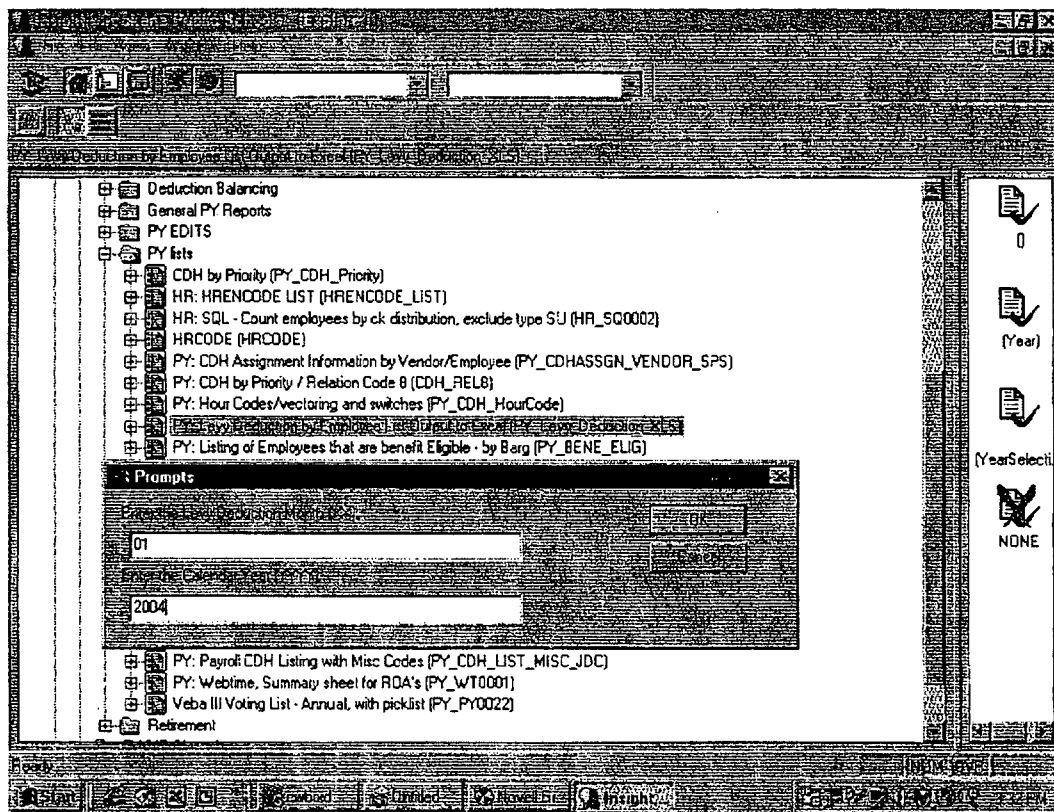

→ Payroll/HR Reports

→ PY List

→ PY: Levy Deduction by Employee List-Output to Excel
(PY_Levy_Deduction_XLS)

The report has two prompts, Month and Year, fill these in and run the report.

When the report is done, it will have created an excel spreadsheet.

Save the spreadsheet as "J:\Payroll\levy\YYYY Committee Report\XXXX MM (ex: 2004 Committee Report\2004 01)

Mary
mokoemigs@comcast.net

The next two reports are run to complete a third report:

→ CDD Reports

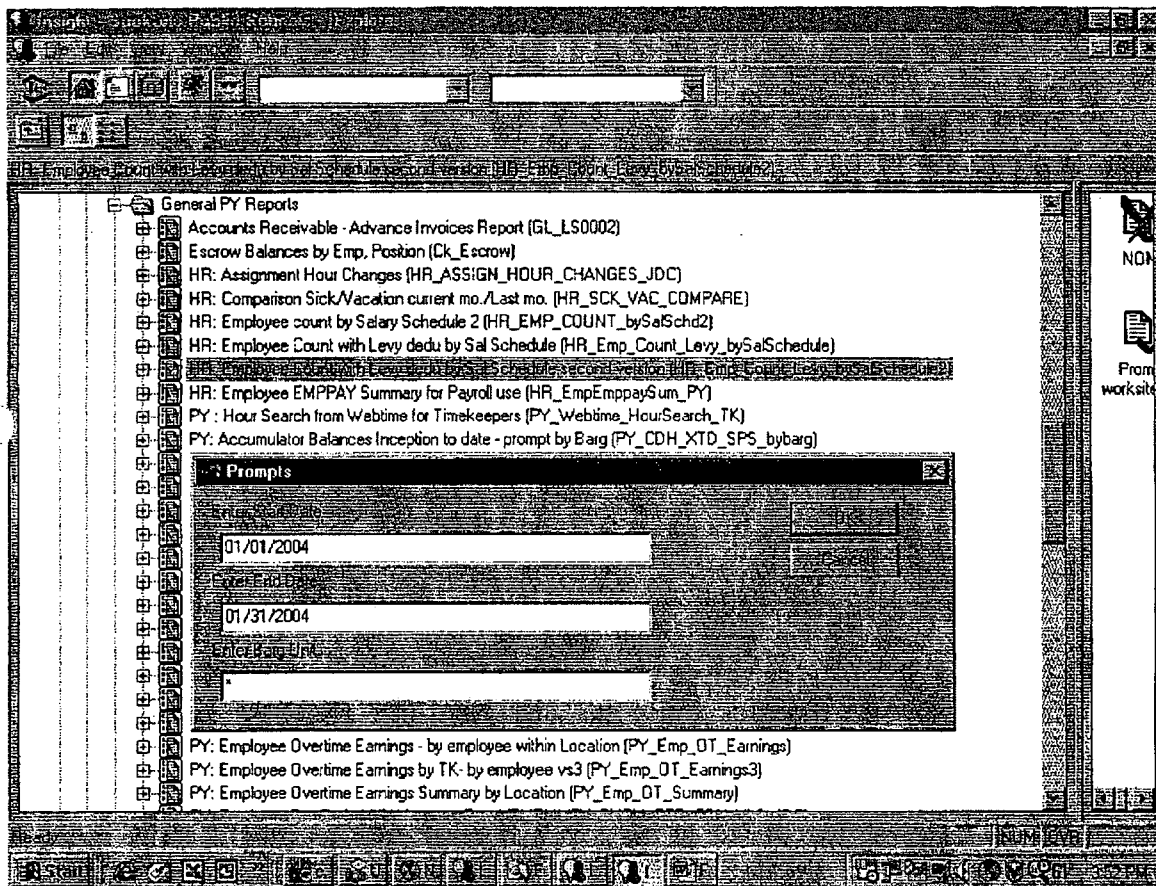

→ Payroll/HR Reports

→ General PY Reports

→ HR: Employee Count with Levy dedu by Sal Schedule second version
(HR_Emp_Count_Levy_bySalSchedule2)

The report prompts that you need to fill in are Start Date (beginning of the month you are working on (ex: 01/01/2004)) and End Date (end of the month you are working on (ex: 01/31/2004))

→ CDD Reports

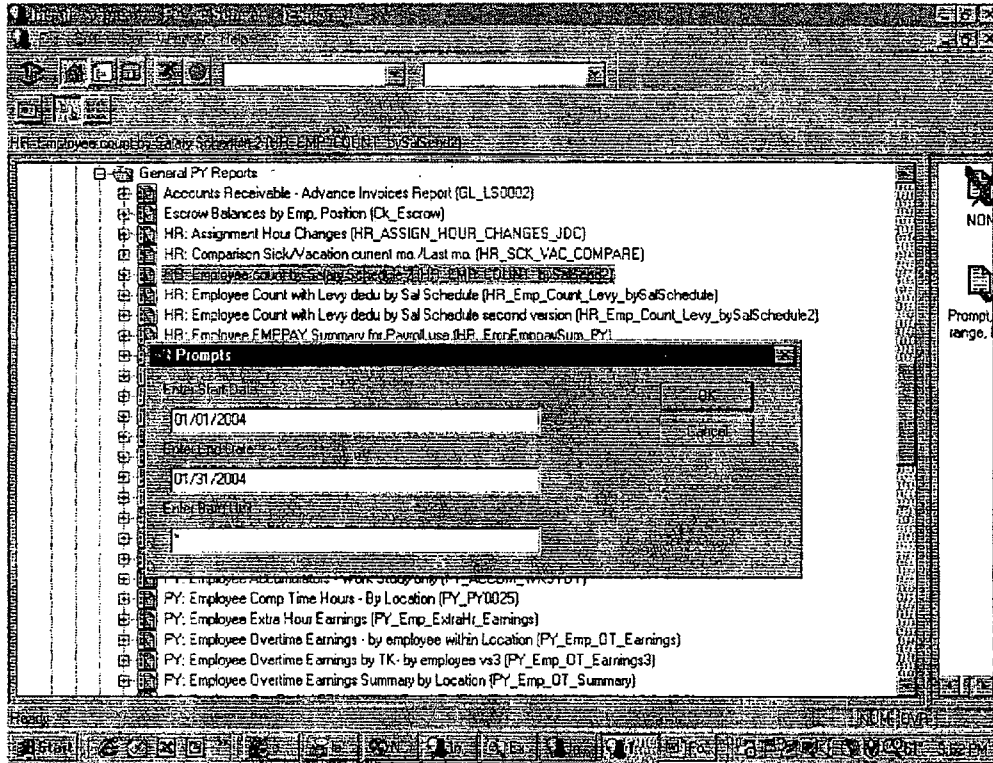

→ Payroll/HR Reports

→ General PY Reports

The report prompts are the same as the previous report.

After these reports are printed, you will need to take this information and complete the levy information at J:\PayrollNevy\Levy YYYY-YY (ex: Levy 2003-04).

FROM THE CITIZEN'S FOR SPOKANE SCHOOLS COMMITTEE AS POSTED ON FACEBOOK:

We need your help as we come down to the last days before ballots are due. ONE WEEK FROM TODAY ballots must be postmarked or delivered (for a list of Election Day drop-off sites, see <http://twurl.cc/igw> <http://twurl.cc/igw>)

Now is not the time to learn that we have made misstatements in our ads, but unfortunately that has turned out to be the case. We ask you and all Spokane voters not to punish Spokane's kids for our error.

WHAT WE SAID THAT WAS INACCURATE

We have been referring to "paying less." This statement is incomplete, and we shouldn't have used this shorthand reference. Our mistake was in leaving out language that was the basis for our comparison and falling into the habit of using a shortened phrase.

THE CORRECT STATEMENT

The correct statement is that we ask voters to approve an estimated tax rate that would be "paying less than what the voters approved in 2006 (levy) and 2003 (bond)."

That is, the estimated tax rates on the ballot in 2009 are the SAME or LESS THAN the estimated tax rates voters approved with a YES vote for the levy in 2006, and a YES vote in 2003 for the first phase of the long-range bond plan.

We needed to say it that way every single time. By trying to simplify the statement to fit into small ads and 30-second TV and radio ad spots, we left out the phrase that makes the comparison specific, complete, and accurate.

HOW DID THIS HAPPEN?

School district financing is incredibly complicated. Lots of factors go into the district's estimated tax rates to arrive at the amounts they're asking voters to approve. We tried to simplify for the sake of having a clear message that voters would remember. In doing that, we fell into the use of that shorthand phrase. We regret that deeply.

Once we realized the error thanks to a voter asking the right question, we made every effort to correct the information we're putting out. We have changed all print and radio ads that are yet to run, cleaned up the language on our web site, and spoken with reporters.

WHY SHOULD YOU STILL SUPPORT THE LEVY AND BOND?

The bottom line reason to vote YES is for learning, safety, and security for our kids. That's why hundreds and hundreds of volunteers have given countless hours to phone, put up yard signs, go door to door with leaflets, and wave yard signs on freezing cold corners in the early morning.

What matters to us is that these measures are critical to the success of our children and our community.

What worries us is that our mistake has created an issue that isn't about our kids at all-it's about our mistake.

We hope that voters will continue to support our kids as they have historically done for years.

IE LAST THING

We have to add one more thing. In interviews we have been asked by the media if we deliberately misled voters.

Absolutely not. The voters deserve complete and accurate information, and in that regard, we let them down. Our only intention-ever-was to help voters understand how critical the levy and bond are for our kids.

We hope that Spokane's kids will not suffer for our mistake.

Rebecca,

Paula and I were talking at the last bond/levy zone meeting and I know you are having a difficult time getting your staff members to engage in doing the campaign tasks, so I offered to help. We thought a short meeting next Tuesday before school would be best. I would appreciate any involvement in the meeting you would like to provide.

We planned the meeting to last about 20 minutes and the agenda would go something like this:

1. Coffee and goodies to eat - 2-4 minutes 2. Introductions by Paula (and you if you wish) - 1-2 minutes 3. Mike sharing the value of passing the bond/levy - 3 minutes 4. Discussion of the tasks to be completed and sign up by staff - 3 minutes

- * Endorsement sheets
- * Letters to the Editor of the Spokesman Review
- * Postcard writing
- * Sign waving
- * Phone calling pro-education voters from SEA offices 5. Staff signing postcards, endorsement sheets and filling in the task sheet for phone calling, sign waving, letter writing, etc - 8 minutes

... have done my math correctly this should be 20 minutes, and we would be sure to be respectful of their time by beginning and ending on time.

Let me know what you think and if you have any suggestions.

Here is the message I sent to Rebecca F.

It has a suggested agenda which you can revise or modify as you think best.

I have coverage for my first period class, so I'm set that way. In talking with Mo she said for PDC reasons, I wouldn't be able to get the cost of muffins (or doughnuts or whatever) covered by the SEA. Would it be possible to get the cooks from Sac to make up some extra cinnamon rolls or something like that which could be covered another way?

Let me know what you think of the agenda and how we can provide treats.

I'll see you on Tuesday,
Mike

Mike,

I sent this to the Shadle staff. If you think, invite her to meet w/LC staff. I know she wants to get into the buildings to "meet and greet". I also sent a copy to Jenny, if she'd like to come.
Let the campaign begin.

School Board Candidate Deana Brower will be at Shadle Wednesday morning, 6/15/11 in our staff room, to get your insights of what you'd like from the school board. Deana (pronounced "Dee-na"), is very much interested in getting into schools to meet with staff, so I've invited her for an "SEA 10-minute meeting" at 7:15 that Wednesday to talk to you. After meeting with Deana on a number of occasions, I'm interested to hear your feedback on what she has to say. As a former secondary social studies teacher, she brings a "classroom perspective" and wants to hear what perspective you have.

As the subject line reads, goodies will be available. Maple bars are my specialty, but I will take requests.

See you next week!

Tony,

Ms. Condrey's responses to your inquires are given below.

One clarification. In your inquiry, you wrote: "In her initial declaration, Ms. Condrey states that she sent an email to Shawn Jordan reporting on the possibility of a contribution to the levy committee, only because Mr. Jordan had given her a specific directive to research the contribution and report back to her"

By "her", I am assuming you meant "him" i.e. Mr. Jordan.

If not, please let me know to whom you were referring.

Thanks.

1. Typically, in a working relationship with principals the specificity of relaying information is not always conveyed by the authority figure. Due to the fact that most principals do request follow up of inquiries by certain timelines, time is usually of the essence to complete said tasks. Having said that, typically Mr. Jordan was out of the office a great deal of time; approximately 35 total days out of the school year just for meetings alone. We often communicated by email or phone while he was out of the building in meetings, or at home. This was standard operating procedure.

2. I was not aware of that particular law. This law was never explained to me by my supervisor or by employer as any part of training. Typically, we receive yearly training on Safe Schools, Blood Borne Pathogens, Life Threatening Allergies, etc., but I recall nothing related to this topic. In the past, the district has requested employees to donate part of their earnings to help fund the levy campaign. It did not occur to me that I was doing anything "illegal" than what the district did itself by requesting funds from staff. In looking at the district's Acceptable Use Policy, it does not appear to address this particular RCW for employees.

Dear Mike,

Following up on the declaration of Sharon Condrey that you submitted on January 7, 2014, I have a couple of questions I hoped you could convey to Ms. Condrey. She is welcome to answer in an email, or if necessary, supplement her testimony with an additional declaration.

In her initial declaration, Ms. Condrey states that she sent an email to Shawn Jordan reporting on the possibility of a contribution to the levy committee, only because Mr. Jordan had given her a specific directive to research the contribution and report back to her. My questions for Ms. Condrey are as follows:

1. Did Mr. Jordan direct Ms. Condrey to use Spokane School District facilities (e.g., her district telephone and email account) to research the matter of the contribution and report back to him? Or did he simply ask for the information?
2. What was Ms. Condrey's understanding of RCW 42.17.130 at the time? I.e., did she understand that the law prohibits agency officials and employees from either using or authorizing the use of public facilities to promote a ballot proposition?

Thanks in advance for the information. Please let me know if my questions require clarification.

Happy Wednesday.

Warm weather is on the way and the sun is trying to come out.... with a Gonzaga victory tomorrow things are starting to look up for all of us in Spokane, USA.

1. SASL grades 1-6

SASL asmt window was originally planned for 2/2-2/6, but with the lose of one week of instructional time the SASL asmt window has been changed. The window is 2/2-2/13. Feel free to give the SASL when you think that your students are ready.... but during the window :-) not in June. We have our Colb schedule set to designate 2/12, 2/19, and 2/26 for planning/teaching points re: SASL data

I will place SASL asmt. in your mailbox Friday afternoon.

2. Liaison between curriculum department and Hutton.

This is not a coaching position, but a way to keep schools without coaches connected to the latest and greatest materials. As you know often we do not get all the materials in a timely manner or at all.... this is an effort to bridge the gap until a decision can be made to have coaches in all buildings or not. If you are interested in severing in this role let me know by Friday. If we have multiple people interested we will figure out a fair way of selecting our rep. I have heard from a few people that are interested.... please confirm with an email.

If you have any questions let me know.

3. BOND/LEVY

Ladd will have information out today re: postcards. If you have not signed up for an activity make sure to do so soon. The sheet is posted above the look book. When everyone helps out it doesn't make the task seem so large.

Follow up to information Ladd and I gave yesterday. We heard this stat last night at our meeting. 300 staff positions would possible be lost with a failed Bond/Levy. WOW... that will take us several years to recover from and will change the way things looks around our school.

4. PTA lunch Friday

5. Have a great day

Subject: I am on a break (Bond/Levy info)

Hello All,

Official term (I am on a break) I need to share a few items re: bond/levy

1. We could use additional support with phone calling. You are able to call from the comfort of your home and there is a script that you can use. I will leave the extra phone sheets (about 15-20 phone calls per packet) by the look book. Please lend a hand and help make some calls. Goal is to make the calls this weekend/Monday and return sheets to me by Tuesday am.

2. Sign waving. This needs to look different than years past... for example before you would wave signs on the day of voting, but with mail in ballots we need to create a continuing effort to wave signs as folks receive the ballots and are thinking over their decision to vote.... so what I would like to do is have all folks and others do sign waving for one of the scheduled days.

Monday, Feb 23 8:00-8:30 at corner of 25th and Grand Wednesday, Feb 25 8:00-8:30 at corner of 25th and Grand and Friday, Feb 27 8:00-8:30 at the corner of 25th and Grand.

If we have several folks present this can be fun and not just a task that we have to do.

3. This is the time for our big push. Reminder a failed bond/levy will effect us all (not just new folks) Over 300 positions would be lost and several programs that we have found helpful in our work would be eliminated. LET'S MAKE SURE TO SHOW OUR SUPPORT ALL OF US NOT JUST SOME. When we all do a little it doesn't seem like such a big task.

If you have any questions let me know

Dear Teri,

I am not sure who this goes to but your name was suggested. A list was being circulated about all of the Booster Clubs who have or have not donated items to the Bond Levy Campaign.

Our North Central Booster Club sponsored $150.00 to our leaflet activity on Saturday. If I need to contact someone else to get this information out please let me know.

I will appreciate any help you can offer.

Subject: Rep Council Meeting

Dear SEA Members,

There was a Rep. Council Meeting Wednesday, March 16.

Maureen Ramos made another "pitch" for the Spokane Public Schools Foundation. And, Deana Brower with Citizens for Spokane Schools Committee (Levy) asked teachers to please donate to the levy campaign fund.

We were given copies of a resolution. I will have it available in the staff room next week.

Rebecca encouraged people to attend the Bargaining Informational Meeting. There is a flyer on the SEA board in the staff room.

Rebecca also said that "lots of people are getting called downtown" at this time. The District used to send a letter to the individual and a copy to SEA. HR no longer is sending copies of the letters to SEA. It is important to contact SEA right away if you receive such an invitation to "meet downtown."

The current budget information also is posted on the SEA bulletin board in the staff room.

Hello Staff,

Last week I asked a few of our parents if they would write a letter to the editor regarding the bond and levy. Of course they agreed to help because they love our school and the work you all do with the kids in this community.

Below are the words from one of these letters. I want to share them with you because I think it speaks volumes about how much our parents appreciate your hard work with their kids. Enjoy!

SUBJECT: Bond & levy election March 10th

As last week my 3rd grader has been showing me the mean, median, mode, & range of all sorts of things in our house. When I told her a bedtime story last night, she told me that I had used a great metaphor & that my use of inferences was fantastic! To whom do I have to thank for this brainy, precocious 8 year old? In part, to the fantastic team of educators at Indian Trail Elementary school. When I see the signs & buttons encouraging citizens to "Vote Yes for Kids" I wonder if they truly know all that our Spokane Schools are doing to provide a strong education to our children. Being a parent in the district, I realize that I have the inside scoop; I'm "in the know."

So, as an insider, let me fill you in on a few things. Did you know that the levy is a replacement levy for maintaining & operating basic education programs for our children; it is NOT a proposed tax increase. Failure to adopt the levy will mean a reduction of approximately 15% from the existing budget, which would create a crisis in local education, including teacher layoffs. There are other benefits to the levy which you may never have even considered. The 2009 bond projects will provide a steady stimulus to the local Spokane economy by using local contractors, subcontractors, architects, & engineers.

Now that, you've got the inside scoop, I hope you'll join me in voting yes for kids on March 10th!

Hello Staff,

The bulletin for this coming week is attached below. It looks like a fairly normal week, if there is such a thing in a school. As of now there are about 5 staff members that have signed up to wave signs on Tuesday morning and/or evening. If you haven't signed up yet we would still love to have you join us. The times are 7:30-8:05 a.m. (due to 8:15 staff meeting) and 5:00-6:00 p.m. (you could wave from 3:30-whenever if you would rather do it a little earlier and then head home). We will have signs again on Monday, March 9th in the AM and PM and would love a few more people to join us.

Thank you to those of you who made Bond/Levy phone calls this weekend. We still have a few more lists of 20 voters that still need to be called. If you have time to do this type of thing, please let me know and I'll get you one of the lists.

The winner of the brain teaser coffee card last week is Jamie Wopschall (Jodi's student teacher). Congrats to Jamie and thank you also to Craig, Lavonne, Carol, Ellen, Jodi, Katie Lundberg, Barbara, and Chris K. for their correct answers.

Please let me know how I can support your work with kids this week.
Enjoy the remainder of your Sunday.
See you tomorrow.

Love & Logic: This is a great time to review, model, and reinforce your classroom expectations. We have five weeks until Spring Break, and the troops get a little squirrely this time of year. What you teach and monitor will be what you get from your students.

Character Counts: Have your students create a character map about a real or imaginary person that exhibits fairness. Have them talk with a writing partner about the person they described and then have a class discussion about the attributes they believe describe a person that is truly fair.

Reminders/FYI:

1. Please check your email twice each day.
2. Teachers: Make sure you have notified parents if their child is struggling at this time. Conferences are coming up in four weeks and should be a time of no surprises.
3. If you haven't already done so, make sure to send home conference sign-up sheets to parents by the end of this week. This allows parents plenty of time to rearrange their schedules if necessary.

- How are you providing students with descriptive feedback so they know how they are progressing toward your learning goals (conferring, written comments in writing/reading/math journals, feedback on scoring rubrics, verbally, self-reflection sheets at the end of assessments and/or assignments)?

Hello I.T. Staff,

It's almost the end of another too short weekend and we're heading into another exciting but very busy week. At least we now have an additional hour of daylight to enjoy after school each evening. :)

The bulletin for this coming week is attached below. Notice that a group of us will be out waving Bond and Levy signs before and after school on Monday. Even if you aren't signed up to join us, we would still love to have you come. Only two more days until all the votes will be counted and it's not too late to influence people's decision when they see a group of dedicated educational professionals out waving signs in the early late hours with smiles on their faces. We will be at the intersection of Indian Trail and Francis if you find yourself wanting to join us tomorrow.

I am out at a walkthrough at Chase Middle School all day Monday (after sign waving), therefore Chuck is the designee. Have a wonderful Monday without me.

Congratulations to Ellen for winning the brain teaser coffee card. Thank you also to Katie Lundberg, Carol, Jodi and Barbara for their correct answers.

Please let Sue and/or me know if you would like us to join you for any of your conferences coming up. We are both more than happy to support you if needed.

I hope you enjoyed the sunny weekend. Have a great Sunday evening and a great Monday.

Levy Sign?

Hi Greg,

Did you get a chance to talk to Brian Crarry about putting a Spokane Schools levy sign up near 29th/Glenrose?

If he is OK with it, I can bring you a sign, or just put it up next to the road on Glenrose.

I just don't want to do it without asking permission, first.

Thanks.

Subject: Post Cards

I received the pink levy post cards at the meeting last night. The goal is to get them signed, addressed, stamped and mailed before the end of next week.

Do you want to schedule an after-school post card party for everyone to meet and work on post cards together, or do you want to just distribute the postcards to your "people", collect them back and give them to me for mailing?

I'm going to the post office today to purchase a roll of post card stamps (27 cents), so everyone will have easy access to purchasing stamps for these cards.

Deb

Also, if you could get the sign-up sheets back to me on or before Thursday, I would appreciate it.

Speaking of checks.....did the Odyssey PTG levy donation of $1000 get mailed? Principals just received a list of donations made as of February 3rd, and the Odyssey donation was NOT on the list. Since I have made such a big deal of the PTG's donation and challenged other schools to match it, with the list indicating no donation as of yet, I was a little worried. If you did mail it, please let me know. Deb

Hi Lynne -
PTG received a check from SuperValu (of Boise, ID) in the amount of $208.03 without any notes on the check stub. I think this is our Albertson's check - I think SuperValu owns Albertsons. Does this seem right to you?

She sent an emailed response, I didn't receive it, so she will send again.

We discussed her response to the allegations. She said that she did not send her July 15, 2011 email for the purpose of assisting a candidate's campaign; she said that at the time, she was curious about Deana Brower, but hadn't decided to support her. She said that her email only discussed attending a campaign event, which she believed was acceptable, based on the training she received. She said she thought that the law only prohibited the use of facilities to actively assist a candidate's campaign, or to promote or oppose or ballot proposition.

Further, she said that when she sent the email, it was summer, she was at home and on her own time. She didn't understand that "facility" as contemplated by .130 included her district email address.

I confirmed that the "facilities" of Spokane Schools include the district's email servers and other network resources, whether or not Ann was at her home when she used them. However, I said that we would consider her oral response as well as the email she would be sending, particularly her statement that she did not intend to use district facilities for the purpose of assisting a candidate's campaign. I said that we would let her know if our position had changed.

Hello Tony,

I am pasting my email of Dec 2013 below ,as you didn't receive it. I will add some additional information.

Ann Kaluza

Hi,

I am responding to the notification of a complaint by Laurie Rodgers that I was in violation of , RCW42.17.130, which states that no employee of a public agency may use public facility to assist in a campaign for a person to elected office.

I do not believe that I was in violation of this law. I was at home (not at a public facility) on July 15, 2011. I was on my own time. I may have used the school district email. I did not assist in a campaign or promote a candidate. My email simply asked a colleague if they wanted to accompany me to a forum to meet a candidate for school board. I did not take a position or promote that candidate.

It was not my understanding that the school email network was considered a public facility.

Sincerely
Ann Kaluza

Hi all,

Just a reminder that we have sign waving for the Bond/Levy on Monday morning. This is the last day to remind people to vote. We are still short by 6000 voters for validating the bond regardless of the yes votes turned in, it would not pass unless we have more ballots mailed.

I am SO glad you asked. We all want Deana Brower. Please tell anyone you know to vote for her. She was a teacher for 12 years and understands education. I have met her and hope that she will be elected. She would be the only educator on the school board.

Becky's days are winding down to her big trip to COLLEGE! You must be so proud of her. I know that you have been so supportive in countless ways for her.

See you Saturday. I can't wait to see Noah now that he is one!

Hi, who should I vote for for the school non partisan office? I haven't heard of any of them. I am sure you are keeping busy. I took Becky shopping Monday and a shot yesterday. She finally took her driver's test and passed! She has been driving Bill's big SUV around. That makes me nervous. She will be here Friday and then leaves for Bible camp Sunday for 5 days. We will take her to WSU on the 16th. This is going fast. I took mom to get shoes today. You can tell it is hard for her to walk. Maybe see you at Deb's when Noah is there on Sat. Love, Nanc

Support for the Spokane School District replacement levy and the bond could be one of most important decisions we make as a community this year. Challenging economic times make the decision to vote yes even more crucial: the quality of education and the facilities and technology infrastructure that we've helped build are in the balance. We have been unfailing in support of an educational system that is responsive to all and has consistently produced outstanding results. Vote YES for schools; protect the investment we've made in our children and in the future of a healthy community.

School Board Candidate Deana Brower will be at Shadle Wednesday morning, 6/15/11 in our staff room, to get your insights of what you'd like from the school board. Deana (pronounced "Dee-na"), is very much interested in getting into schools to meet with staff, so I've invited her for an "SEA 10-minute meeting" at 7:15 that Wednesday to talk to you. After meeting with Deana on a number of occasions, I'm interested to hear your feedback on what she has to say. As a former secondary social studies teacher, she brings a "classroom perspective" and wants to hear what perspective you have.

As the subject line reads, goodies will be available. Maple bars are my specialty, but I will take requests.

See you next week!

She's been on the district levy committees. Mike Campbell from LC and I gave her our "classroom teachers' perspectives on the state of the district. I kept telling her, "Deana, this is what you're walking into." As someone who's worked w/the "suits", she knows the personalities and knows she needs to see the other side of things. As I said, she was a teacher for 12 years, after all. She lives on the South Hill.

She will be a breath of fresh air who doesn't mind shaking things up.
Enough of the speech from a campaigner.

You bet you can send it to other buildings.

Glad to see my old journalism/broadcast training is going to good use. I sent a copy to Mike Campbell and I think he'll use it, too. Deana kept telling me that she wanted to get into the buildings. "Fine", I said. "June 15th, 7:15". She said, "Sure, I'll put it down. Don't forget to send me an email to remind me."

Honestly, as we were going from the airport to the motel, I didn't know if I was talking to a school board candidate or a colleague from down the hall.

Folks at Shadle are looking forward to her visit. I'll hype her visit every other day (in true campaign style) until Wednesday.

If your sending my "press release" will help get Deana to meet the staff, share on!

Dear Staff,

Our 7:15 "Doughnuts with Deana" will be NEXT Wednesday on June 15th, when you will have a chance to share your thoughts and perspectives with School Board Candidate Deana Brower. She told me yesterday that she's looking forward to meeting you. I told her that you are a very "frank" crowd, which was fine with her. She wants to hear what you have to say.

So, save your questions and hunger for a doughnut and bring them to the staff lounge NEXT Wednesday at 7:15 a.m. SEA Prez Jenny Rose also plans to be here for that, so bring any comments and questions for her, as well.

Maple bar, anyone?

Last call! Last reminder!

We'll be meeting at 7:15 SHARP for a surprise presentation, doughnuts, and School Board Candidate Deana Brower in the staff room. I've said it before-YES, I know it's early, but I think you'll be glad you stopped by.

Come listen to Deana and give her your thoughts. I think we'll have a larger than usual crowd, so please come before 7:15.

See ya tomorrow!

sign waving

Hi honey,

Mark wanted to know if you would be able to wave levy signs with me on 2/26 and/or 3/5 from 5-6pm. I told him those were your Reardon days, so it would depend on if you could get away or not.

Thanks sweetie.

See ya later.

Greetings,

Sorry I missed you yesterday, but you would not have wanted me there. I was awaiting a call from Shriners re: the room, and had hoped to be able to pass it on for the meeting, but got the call after the meeting started.

Unless there is a conflict, we can use the Shriners rooms again. I spoke briefly with Mark today and our sense is that we should reserve Monday nights again. (I'll confirm this day of the week tomorrow - I already told them it would be weekly beginning the first full week of January ending mid to late March). I would like to plan on meeting from 6-8 pm, rather than 7-9 pm. My thought is that it may be easier to meet right after work rather than going home and then back out, and getting back later to our families? What are other's thoughts? I will be the contact for Shriners since I know Allan Jones, the Director of Facilities.

I had already talked to Clint from CAC at the last breakfast, and had committed to go to CAC in December and forward, as CFSS allows. (I had planned to go this past Monday but was down with this cold)

I will update contacts from the last document I have from last cycle as a starting point, but I do not have it on disk. I do have it on my hard drive, most likely sometime this weekend or over Thanksgiving weekend, but before our next meeting on December 2, 12:00 at Scott's office.

It is my suggestion that we ask Kevin if he would be willing to assume the Media chair, to include responsibility for the website, effective immediately.

Another possibility for the Elders committee is Glenn Merritt. Kevin and Mike, this was the gentleman at our table at the Ferris presentation. I believe he is an ex-SPS employee and two of his children were/are also SPS employees, and he still had grandchildren in the SPS system. He was very articulate and seemed interested. Anyone know anything more about him?

We need to try and involve people from all regional areas of SPS if at all possible, as we look at committee chairs. Most of the new names noted below, that I recognize, are South Hill - does anyone have any suggestions for non-South Hill potential participants?

I do not have anyone special in mind for the Treasurer position or for Mary's position. Remember that this is Mary's final campaign, and while she is interested in helping train someone this cycle, she has given us several months notice that she does not plan to continue after this campaign wraps up in spring 2009.

Barb, I would be happy to participate in coffee with potential committee chairs. Just let me know when and where, and I'll try to be there.

Barb, thanks for the meeting summary.

Susan

2/11/2012

Notes from today's leadership meeting:

Next meeting Tues 12/2, noon-1 p.m. at Fidelity Insurance.

- BEFORE THE MEETING: Make all contacts for potential committee chairs & volunteers identified in list below so we can firm up the overall team.

Agenda items:

- Review communications/PR proposal from API. If we can get it in advance, discuss via email & be ready, meeting with Kerry can be the first agenda item. If we don't get advance review time, we'll need a few minutes to run through it & prepare questions, then have her join us at 12:30.
- Finalize committee chairs/key volunteers list

Communications/PR:

Need to connect with Kerry and get a proposal by our 12/2 meeting. Email sent to her tonight to ask.

Volunteer recruitment activities:

Mon. 12/8 CAC meeting, 6:45 p.m., Libby Center:

Recommended that a campaign co-chair attend & make brief comments to see if we can recruit volunteers. We'll want to have a list of positions we need to fill and what's required (attend mtgs vs. work at home, etc.).

SUSAN, are you able to do this? If not, let me know and I'll cover it.

Meet with past board candidates:

Dina Brower & Katy deBill are particularly good candidates. Barb to set up coffee w/each of them individually & Mark, Scott, Susan if you want to join the group (let me know). We'll pivot from their interest in the district to ask how they might see themselves fitting into the campaign effort. Maybe they can chair a key committee.

Committee chair recruitment:

We reviewed a copy of the job summary and contact info from 2006 and came up with some possibilities.

SUSAN, you have this on disk. Not to pick on you in your absence :D but we're all going to route our updates to you for names and contact info, since we all think you have the electronic files.

My mark-up from our discussion--those who were there, please catch things I missed or got wrong:

Co-chairs:

My home addr is now 938 E. 16th, 99203, email is barbchamberlain1@gmail.com
(mailto:barbchamberlain1@gmail.com)

Past co-chairs:

Move Scott down to past co-chairs.

Delete Steve & Maggie.

Treasurer:

This is one of the spots we need to recruit for. We couldn't remember if you had a possibility, Susan?

Zone Coordination:

Move Staci Vesneske to advisory, Kevin Morrison is now zone doorinator.

Maureen needs to let us know who the SEA contact is if it's not Karen Meade.

Need to find someone for yard sign placement, which is listed in the bullet points as Joe Madsen; could be Jason Vesneske or Mark will recruit someone.

Campaign support:

Need to find someone for Denise Kliewer to train this time. We think she'll do it again.

Speakers Bureau:

Need to update the job description, as most of it is what Terren's ofc does officially.

Delete bullets 2-3-4-5.

Add a new first bullet; Coordinate volunteer speakers, develop schedule based on District speaking appearances for volunteers to attend their presentations and do a pro-levy/bond pitch afterwards.

Letters to the Editor

Marianne Treppiedi will do it again.

Add Inlander to list of publications.

Reader Boards/Store Windows

Delete Sharon Conklin.

2/11/2012

Change 3rd bullet from bottom to say post signs three weeks before ballots mail out.

Churches/Spokane Alliance

Delete Brenda Tudor.

Barb will contact Andrea (Andy) CastroLang to see if she'll fill this role.

Friends of Education/Senior Citizens

Delete Harriet Plucker & Doris Tryon.

Suggestions:

Jeff Hunter, Retired Teachers Assoc (Terren will contact).

Jan Baker, active in Demo party and a former CAC member (Barb can contact--do we want two for sure?).

Joan Butler?

Endorsements/People to People

Kitty Kennedy's kids are out of school so we think she won't want to continue. Barb will confirm.

Possibility: Lorna Walsh (Barb will contact).

Alumni/Friends

Headquarters

Change label to Central Contact

Delete all contacts & tasks--no HQ this time.

New duties:

- Arrange for a central cell phone

- Arrange for someone to check messages frequently, return or redirect calls

Student Workers

Delete Emmett Arndt.

Possibility: Jon Sweatt?? (who is checking?)

Change last bullet to read "sign waving when ballots drop and the day before Election Day."

Web Page Design & Support

Change contact to Doug Crabtree; delete the work & fax numbers, I don't know their new home # so I'll get that; email is doug@crabbytrees.com (mailto:doug@crabbytrees.com)

Chair:

I'd like to recruit someone who really wants to learn this, or who already has some experience with social media. I can do a fair amount of it to get us going but want to hand it off!

Duties:

- Coordinate updates to campaign web site
- Facebook: Create account, invite people to become fans; work with Alumni chair on connecting with high school alumni groups on FB; connect page with Twitter account so those updates feed FB update.
- Twitter: (account already created, this person needs the password) Manage account, post regular updates.
- LinkedIn: Consider creating a group; work with Alumni chair on connecting with high school alumni groups on LI.
- LaunchPadINW: Create a group, invite people to join, post regular updates.
- Email updates: Distribute regular updates to identified supporters.

Monday Meeting Hosts

SUSAN, were you checking with Shriners on whether we can meet there?

We need to recruit new hosts.

Other Key Members/Committees

SPS contact: Nancy Stowell, [REDACTED]

SPA: Chris Lynch

Other updates to come for Involved Principals & Zone Directors.

Zone Directors: Add a new category at end, Central/Admin.

In about one week citizens will be receiving the ballots to vote for our levy and bond. We know from past mail-in elections that when there are just a few issues to vote on, people tend to vote early.

It can't be said too many times to your friends, relatives, acquaintances and people you do business with- the bond and levy are NOT tax increases, just renewals of what they have been paying already. BOTH measures support education, directly and indirectly. BOTH measures help keep not only Spokane Public Schools strong- but our local economy robust.

Let's make the last few weeks of this critical campaign go 'over the top'. On March 10th, I think we all want to wake up knowing that we all did our very best at communicating, educating and motivating the citizens of our city to support our schools.

This week:

Letters to the Editor- keep sending them! I'm personally aware of fifteen that have been sent in, and they have published only 3 or 4 as of today. Two-hundred words is just 2 short paragraphs on the importance of BOTH of these issues. They can't ignore our group forever!

Leafletting- The high school vice-principals have been given their assignments, instructions and supplies to make sure every precinct gets a neighborhood-specific flyer to every house next Saturday, March 20th by 4pm. They will be out and out with leadership groups, parents and staff en masse!

Sign Waving- Prepare to brave the elements! This activity, especially done just prior to a weekend, or ON a weekend- has great impact. Our major arterials- Division, Maple, Ash, Sprague, Grand, 29th, Ray, Monroe, Washington, Francis will have 2,000, 3,000 cars an hour during peak time going by a spot. Grab a few signs, a few friends, a cup of coffee and get them honking for kids! I should have plenty of additional yard signs by next Monday or Tuesday and will make sure your Zone Leaders have access them. If you need some delivered- send me an email with name and address and we'll get them to you.

Phone Calling- To those of you who signed up- thank you! We are working on the details of the final call list and editing the message/script to be short and sweet.

Thank you all. The few hours a week you can give to the campaign in some capacity or activity over the next 3 weeks could very well be the time spent that makes our campaign successful.

Let me know if I can assist you in anyway to meet our goals.

Kevin

Staff,

Thanks for your time this morning. Please remember to update your home email address in case I need to make contact with you this summer regarding any SEA issues. The list is located in a manilla folder in my box.

Also in your box is a calendar ballot. Please read carefully and return to envelope in my box. I will forward to SEA. Only ACTIVE SEA members are allowed to vote. If you think you should have received a ballot and did not, please see me.

Remember to stop by the lunchroom today (Tuesday) to visit with school board candidate Deana Brower.

Information from the SEA Rep. Council Meeting on Wed. January 21, 2009:

WEA-RA (May 14-16) and NEA-RA (late June – early July) nominations are now open. If you would like to be a candidate for one or both of these representative assemblies or want to know more about them, contact Will.

WASL will be replaced- Grades 3-8 will take the Measurements of Student Progress (MSP). In high school the test will be the High School Proficiency Exams (HPSE) and will still be used to determine graduation.

Calendar options for 2009-2010 school year will be ready for your consideration soon.

Snow Days: The decision to make up the snow days or apply for a waiver from the state is a Spokane Public Schools Board of Directors prerogative. The board chose not to apply for a waiver. The LID day is a part of the certificated 182 work-day contract, so it must be made up.

Spokane Alliance – If you're looking for a way to get involved in our community, check out this group made up of over 30 local organizations. Information on the SEA bulletin board.

LEVY/BOND- The passage or failure of the upcoming M&O Levy and Facilities Improvement Bond will impact all of us. Donation envelopes in staff room and regular payroll deduction is available (as little as $1.00 a month!) for the campaign. Everything helps. See Will for a form.

Lots of legislative action on the horizon at both the state level and the national level that will impact school funding. Information on how to contact your legislators is on the SEA bulletin board. Stay informed and let your voice be heard.

Retirement Seminars: Thinking of retirement? Three seminars in March – No pre-registration – Just show up. See SEA bulletin board for more information.

LOTS of Information for you!

On the SEA Board in Staff Lounge:

- | | |
|---|---|
| *February Meeting Minutes | *February SEA Budget Report |
| *SEA Financial Report Independent Audit 2010 (on table) | *National Class Size Flyer (We're 3 rd highest in nation.) |
| *Bargaining Team Informational Meeting Dates | *WEA Class Size Resolution |
| *Spokane Public Schools Foundation (SPSF) Grant Flyer | *SPSF Contribution Forms |
| *SPSF Rockin' Art Fundraiser Flyer | *SEA Scholarship Information |

Spokane Public Schools Foundation (SPSF) Grants: The foundation is now accepting grants for the 2011-12 school year. Go to www.spokaneschoolsfoundation.org to download guidelines and applications for $500-$1,000 grants. All applications are due by April 15, 2011.

SPSF Rockin' Art Fundraiser: The annual SPSF Rock-n-Art Fundraiser will be on Saturday, May 6th at the Lincoln Center. There will be live music, a silent art auction, and a no-host bar. There is a suggested donation of $10 minimum for tickets. They can be purchased at the door or online at www.spokaneschoolsfoundation.org. Can't attend? You can make a tax deductible contribution (forms are on SEA board). All proceeds go to support SPSF grants...which YOU can apply for (see above)!

Wear Red! Educators and public workers in Wisconsin recently had their collective bargaining rights revoked! WE SHOULD BE VERY CONCERNED ABOUT THIS. We are encouraging all members to WEAR RED on Tuesdays in a show of solidarity. If you have ever thought about becoming involved locally, state-wide, or nationally, NOW IS THE TIME. We are all busy doing our jobs on behalf of children, but we need to be informed and involved so we can CONTINUE to have jobs to be busy doing on behalf of the children we care deeply about. Check out www.OurVoiceWashington.org to stay informed and contact legislators with your views.

WEA-PAC: We are currently having our annual WEA-PAC (political action committee) membership drive. Like it or not, pretty much everything about our jobs is determined by a politician. If you are already a member, you know how important it is to have your voice heard. If you are not a member, I can provide you an opportunity to become a member!

Citizens for Spokane Schools: Deana Brower from the Citizens for Spokane Schools Levy Committee shared with us that the committee has already begun work on the 2012 Levy. Levy contribution forms are located in the staff lounge and on the SEA board.

Educational Support Personnel (ESP) Issues Eastside Conference: ESP Issues Eastside Conference will be on Saturday, April 16 from 7:30-3:30 PM in Yakima. Registration is due on Tuesday, April 5. WEA will cover Friday's shared lodging, mileage, breakfast and lunch on Saturday, conference materials, and offer clock hours for $5. A schedule of class offerings as well as registration information is on the SEA board. ESP, check it out!

Bargaining Team Informational Meeting: Are you interested in being a bargaining team member for your unit? There are two informational meetings to choose from to help you understand the process and member expectations. The first is Tuesday, April 12 from 12:30-1:30. The second is Thursday, April 14 from 4-6. See flyer on SEA board.

Contracts and Grievances: WEA Uniserve Director Rebecca Powell reminded us that the grievance process is written in our contracts. For most issues there is a 20 day timeline to complete the process. There is a 5 day timeline with issues relating to transfers. She also shared that the district is no longer sending a copy of written discipline letters to SEA. If you were to receive one, know that you CAN and SHOULD contact SEA to have representation.

WEA Class Size Resolution: Washington's class size is 3rd worst in the nation. WEA has put together a resolution to send to the State Legislature in hopes of keeping the funding for K-4 class size reduction. The resolution is posted on the SEA board in the staff lounge. If you have questions, contact me.

School Board Meeting Attendance: The next meeting is this Wednesday, March 23 at 7:00 at the administration building. Call me crazy, but these are actually interesting to attend. It is a great opportunity to learn who your school board members are and how it goes about the business of making decisions that impact us and our students.

Hello Everyone...

I need to word this carefully.

Soon our community will be voting on funding for our schools.

I encourage each of you to write a Letter to the Editor of the Spokesman-Review.

Although I cannot request that you ask for votes for the Bond and for the Levy, I can encourage you to write and express your opinion on the return on their investment for each taxpayer... for each voter... in our community.

The Spokesman-Review will publish nearly 100% of the letters sent. They ask for a 200 word limit. If you would like to talk about how to write... although I cannot advise on what to write... please see me.

Our voices in our community are powerful.

Hi Carol,

Thanks for your quick reply and support. What time do the doors open on Thursday and about how many people do you expect? For information dissemination I was thinking of having a table. Would you recommend one single table in the middle of the lobby or one at each door? If it's just one table, I could probably handle it on my own. If two tables, I could use 1-3 volunteers.

Is Lisa Hagen a parent in your group? She had offered to help me on "Yes for Kids" stuff if I needed it.

Thanks for the heads up about the "South Side Night For Strings" concert at Chase Middle School on Tuesday February 24th. Great info!

You are supposed to pick up the yard signs from the SEA office on Monday between 5:30 Pm - 8:30 PM. Hope this Isn't going to interfere with your coaching!! You can distribute them to the appropriate people at school or contact those people who are going to help you put them up.

Subject: Bond/Levy Feb. 24 Night for Strings
Hi Dawn,

I am following up on the conversation we had at Ferris Jan. 22 about bond/levy representation at your Feb. 24 South Side Night for Strings Concert at Chase.

We would love to have an information table set up in your lobby and the opportunity to promote Yes for Kids with a short talk at an intermission/break in the program. Ballots should arrive in the mail that day, so its great timing.

Unfortunately, I have a conflict that night, but I can educate and equip (supplies) someone to represent the cause.

Do you have a parent volunteer(s) you might recommend? I don't really have any Chase connections so I was hoping you may know of someone I can recruit. If not, I can find someone but I thought it would be more powerful coming from someone within your community.

Thanks for your support and keep up the great work with our precious kids!

Concert at Ferris HS on 1/22, Dawn Smith was conducting. Sue Livingston approached Dawn to ask about having a "Yes for Kids" table at the 2/24 Chase concert. Dawn may have encouraged Sue to contact her, but she does not recall having done so. She said that she was feeling upbeat and welcoming following the concert, which would have made her respond more encouragingly.

However, Dawn said that no activity to promote the levy took place at the 2/24 Chase concert. Dawn spoke recently to her accompanist at the event, Helen Adams, and to Sue Livingston. Both said that to their knowledge, nothing ended up happening. (Livingston did not recall who Dawn was.)

I asked Dawn to send me an email summarizing the above, and she said she would do so.

Tony,

This is a recap of the conversation we had on 13 January 2014. After spending time researching my role in the 2009 incident in question and talking with Sue Livingston, I discovered that initially she had been invited by the Ferris High School principal to speak at the Ferris High School String Night on Jan 22, 2009 at which my students as well as myself were in attendance. Following our performance, numerous parents/friends of my students approached me --Sue more than likely being one of them. At that time she may have asked me whether or not she could speak at our upcoming program at Chase, I can honestly say I do not recollect. At any rate, she did email me later, dated Saturday February 7, 2009, indicating that she had made contact with me however she personally would not be available to come to our Feb 24 concert at Chase but would like me to recommend a parent volunteer from the Chase community since she had no connections at this middle school. I never replied to her email nor did I recommend a parent for the presentation. To my knowledge and per my recollection this presentation never took place. After looking into the incident further I found a program and my script from that concert night. As I recall, my narrator (a drama student here at Chase) became ill and was unable to perform her roll at the concert, so needless to say I had to step in and narrate the program. Again, I made no indications within the script that we had any special presentation to promote YES for Kids that evening. Keeping in mind that many years and concerts have passed, I indicated to you that I had discussed this situation with Helen Adams, 509.533.5369 who at the time was a parent helper/accompanist for the concert and can corroborate my story. Please feel free to contact her. I believe that this pretty much sums up our last discussion. If, however I have left anything out from our last phone conversation or you need further clarification on specific details please be sure to let know.

Sincerely,

Dawn Smith

Mr. Perkins,

Thank you for speaking with me earlier in the week. In regards to the one email you reprinted in this case, I would like to explain the content.

Several years ago, I became a member of Stand for Children. This organization's mission statement is as follows:

"Stand for Children Washington is a membership organization working to empower parents, elect courageous leaders, and advance public education." See their website at <http://stand.org/washington>.

In the spring of 2011, Stand for Children was in a recruitment phase, I was considering asking my acquaintance, Deana Brower, to become a member. Sherri Thies is someone else I was considering for membership.

The email from me mentions nothing about voting or the upcoming election. My email only states facts about Deana (simple contact information) and my opinion that Deana is very well versed in educational issues. I was on the Jefferson Elementary (Spokane Public Schools) School PTG board with her several years ago and she impressed me with her diverse knowledge and skill set.

Thank you for allowing me to present the facts of the background of the email in question.

Happy Wednesday.

Warm weather is on the way and the sun is trying to come out.... with a Gonzaga victory tomorrow things are starting to look up for all of us in Spokane, USA.

1. SASL grades 1-6

SASL asmt window was originally planned for 2/2-2/6, but with the lose of one week of instructional time the SASL asmt window has been changed. The window is 2/2-2/13. Feel free to give the SASL when you think that your students are ready.... but during the window :-) not in June. We have our Colb schedule set to designate 2/12, 2/19, and 2/26 for planning/teaching points re: SASL data

I will place SASL asmt. In your mailbox Friday afternoon.

2. Liaison between curriculum department and Hutton.

This is not a coaching position, but a way to keep schools without coaches connected to the latest and greatest terials. As you know often we do not get all the materials in a timely manner or at all.... this is an effort to bridge the gap until a decision can be made to have coaches in all buildings or not. If you are interested in severing in this role let me know by Friday. If we have multiple people interested we will figure out a fair way of selecting our rep. I have heard from a few people that are interested.... please confirm with an email.

If you have any questions let me know.

3. BOND/LEVY

Ladd will have information out today re: postcards. If you have not signed up for an activity make sure to do so soon. The sheet is posted above the look book. When everyone helps out it doesn't make the task seem so large.

Follow up to information Ladd and I gave yesterday. We heard this stat last night at our meeting. 300 staff positions would possible be lost with a failed Bond/Levy. WOW... that will take us several years to recover from and will change the way things looks around our school.

I, KATEY TRELOAR, declare as follows:

- 1) I am a named respondent in the above captioned matter.
- 2) Regarding the January 28, 2009 email that is the subject of this complaint, (attached and incorporated herein as Exhibit 1), I forwarded it to my husband, whose personal email address at that time was flatheadtrout52@yahoo.com.
- 3) The reason I forwarded it to him with the message "Read number 3." is because the email, in the paragraph numbered "3", stated that "300 staff positions would possible [sic] lost with a failed Bond/Levy" and at that time, I was at the bottom of the union seniority list, and thus would be among the first employees to be laid off were staff positions to be eliminated. My purpose in forwarding it to him was

She said that Mike Syron asked her to distribute the flyer in the school. (Advertising a weekend rally for the levy at an Ace Hardware parking lot.) She was a brand new leadership teacher that year, and had no idea of the prohibition in .130. She said she was just doing what she was told by an administrator.

I encouraged her to send me an email stating the above, and including any other facts or observations she feels are relevant. She said that she would probably run her written statement by legal counsel (a person from a professional association to which she belongs), and it might come to me from that person. She said that she hoped I would hear something within the next few days.

RE: Jennifer Walther
Complaint filed by Laurie Rogers, PDC Case No. 12-145

Dear Mr. Perkins:

We write regarding Jennifer Walther and the allegations made against her in the above referenced complaint.

As the allegations have been numerous, we will attempt to address each one as set forth below.

1. Initiation of Complaint/Background:

In February 2009, Ms. Walther was approached by her Assistant Principal and told that her leadership students should participate in an upcoming activity. Ms. Walther was instructed that the Administration wanted her Leadership students to learn from participating in a various activities. Ms. Walther's assistant principal specifically asked her to email the staff to indicate leadership students would drop off a flyer and they (the teachers) should put the flyers up in their classrooms.

As the Leadership teacher, Ms. Walther did as instructed and was completely unaware such conduct was allegedly violative of any statute. She continued to work under the directive of her administration and the district as discussed more fully below.

2. Candidate Debate:

While a debate was held on October 17, 2011, this activity was not unilaterally organized by Ms. Walther as you suggest. Instead, Ms. Walther worked with her principal and the district which approved this debate from its inception. The debate was not slanted toward any particular candidate and great care was taken to insure students were fully engaged in the learning process.

Complaint filed by Laurie Rogers, PDC Case No. 12-145

3. September 17, 2011 Meeting:

The individuals who met with Ms. Walther were not in charge of the debate. Susan Wilmoth helped with technical support and obtaining the right to air the Debate on Clear Channel and KXLY Radio. Mike Noder helped with sound for the Ferris High School Auditorium. Charles Rowe, a retired news anchor, organized numerous interviews with KREM, various radio station spots, and phone interviews for my students and Ms. Walther. He also solicited questions. Mr. Rowe worked with Ms. Walther's students in preparation for the Debate on voice control for asking questions, introduced them to the TV crew which aired the broadcast, and gave them tips for sounding professional.

Additionally, the students asked the majority of questions on the night of the Debate. Students exclusively chose the questions to use in the Debate from a pool of questions. The pool was comprised of questions submitted by parents, teachers, students and community members.

The students themselves had the responsibility of choosing submitted questions, editing submitted questions, or writing their own. This process was done without any teacher or adult oversight. They left Ms. Walther's classroom with the questions in hand, went to the school library, and worked on the task.

4. Questions Posed Came From Private Organizations:

As stated above, none of the questions came from private organizations but exclusively from students who selected those questions from the pool identified above.

5. Review of Questions during Planning Sessions:

While questions were submitted during planning sessions, Ms. Walther did not review each question. Students did so as indicated above.

6. Alleged Use of High School Facilities To Assist a Candidate:

Our member did not "use" Ferris High School or students to assist with any candidate's campaign. She did however perform all functions of her employment and provided an opportunity for students to learn about a debate process, learn organizing techniques, meet people from around the city, work collaboratively with their classmates in teams dividing up the chores for the event, learn from experienced camera/tech professionals, and study advertising techniques.

RE: Jennifer Walther

Complaint filed by Laurie Rogers, PDC Case No. 12-145

Students were never used to advance anyone's political agenda and were never even advised of Ms. Walther's party affiliation. The school administration, district and Ms. Walther took great care to show a non-biased evening to the Spokane voting public. Ms. Walther was proud of the work done by her students and believes the both learned and experienced a great deal from this event.

This was a city-wide, high-profile event that was broadcast via the internet and live on KXLY radio. Three Spokane TV news stations carried the event on the 6pm and 11pm news shows that evening. The Ferris Leadership class which organized, participated in, and executed the Face-Off at Ferris achieved an introduction to the political process at all levels. This unique event gave them an experience that few if any Spokane high schools students have ever had and is still discussed around Spokane as one of the finest political debates during the 2011 campaign. Deanna Brower, one of the School Board Candidates in 2011, wrote the Ferris Leadership class thanking it for conducting a very professional debate in which she felt honored to participate. Another debate participant, Mayor Mary Verner, extended an invitation to the Ferris Leadership class to tour City Hall and meet with her privately in December. The class enjoyed that visit and appreciated both candidates' outreach which recognized the students' efforts.

7. Legal Authority Does Not Support Any Alleged Violation:

RCW 42.17A.555 admittedly prohibits "any employee of his or her office nor any person appointed to or employed by any public office or agency" from using facilities to "directly or indirectly, for the purpose of assisting a campaign for election of any person to any office or for the promotion of or opposition to any ballot proposition."

As you can see however, that is simply not the case here. Ms. Walther has an obligation to teach students in her leadership class and fully performed all aspects of her assigned job duties. Administration and the district either gave directives or were fully involved in this learning task.

The assigned task was effective. Students were given educational experiences and learning tools to which they were not previously privy. Given Ms. Walther's unique position as the Leadership Teacher, her conduct did not run afoul of RCW 42.17A.555 in any respect. There is no evidence that the activity undertaken by the leadership class was in support of or opposition to any ballot proposition and certainly did not assist a particular candidate or campaign.

The Cruise was fun. Mike Morgan and I cornered Deanna Brower and asked some very tough questions. She had no idea I was a teacher! She is smooth and has all the right answers, which tells me she is being coached by "them". I asked her about why she has WEA on her signs. Her comment was, "They know my stance and still support me, and I am the best they've got!" Not good enough for me. I'm off to Sun Valley for a week and then camping for a few days, so let's get together in August.

No, I'd like to, but you'd have to knock out my husband to get him on a boat, and I must make choices about spending time away from family. I might be able to make it to the Matt Shea breakfast. These political breakfasts are not good for my workout schedule, though.
Yes, it was fun to talk with Michael. He had a lot to say about math. I'd like to find more students like him, along with students who didn't get the family interventions he got, to speak on the record.
Have fun on the cruise, Jennifer. I'll be interested to know how that goes.

I cannot remember a time when the dist. has told us NOT to teach grammar. It comes in subtle messages when they adopt new curriculum or send us to meetings and teachers say there is no time for teaching grammar. Time seems to be a large reason for dropping the basics. I still teach the parts of speech to freshmen and address usage errors with my seniors. I don't believe Springboard has any particular units on grammar. I'm not the expert on that though since I don't really teach the "lessons" in the book; only the "skills". I hope this helps some. I'll keep this in mind and let you know if I think of any other tidbits.

Hello! A well-connected person I know sent me this email, asking for evidence that our schools don't teach grammar. I see evidence, of course, in the Spring Board curriculum and in the children. But I think she wants something more substantial. Do you have anything you can offer? This is her email:

Hi Laurie,

I just read your great post about the lack of grammar instruction in Spokane. My son's first grade teacher wouldn't teach correct spelling on the grounds that it would stifle their creativity. She also didn't know how to spell.

I am always looking for the "smoking gun" to show our legislators exactly such revelations as yours about grammar instruction. I think that material from the central district given to teachers which proves that teachers are being told not to teach grammar, as it stifles students creativity or some other nonsense, would be very useful to me. ... You have contacts with teachers that I don't have. Would you be willing to try and dig up some such morsels for me, if it is not too much work and easy to do?

Thanks for any thoughts or material you can provide. I appreciate it.

Subject: Please help get Sally Fullmer elected

Good morning! I'm asking for your help.

I'm asking for your time and energy in getting Sally Fullmer elected to the Spokane Public Schools school board. We all acknowledge the need for new district leadership. Such an opportunity presents itself. If we miss this opportunity, it will be at least two more years of failure for our children and grandchildren.

Of the five candidates - Sally Fullmer, Bob Griffing, Deana Brower, Larry Vandervert, and Rod Roduner -- Sally has the most clearly articulated platform for turning this district around. The sixth candidate - Paul le Coq - pulled out of the race on Friday, throwing his support behind Sally Fullmer.

I interviewed all six candidates multiple times and asked them to fill out questionnaires. I didn't choose a candidate until I'd spoken with all six. Over the course of my conversations with the five remaining candidates, I found Sally to be the most knowledgeable, the most consistent, the most determined, and the most articulate about her positions. Some organizations are endorsing Deana Brower, but Deana's platform tends to change depending on her audience. Sally, on the other hand, is focused on consistent messages -- How do we improve academic outcomes in Spokane? How do we best support our children and our teachers? How do we protect taxpayers from inappropriate expenditures? How do we work for real transparency and real accountability? Please do whatever you can to help get Sally Fullmer elected- a sign in your yard, phone calls to friends and neighbors in the voting area for District 81, donations to help pay for Sally's campaign, or just your vote for her in the primary and in the general election. In 50 years on this planet, I've never put a sign in my front yard, but there is one there now. This is a real opportunity to help the children, the community, and our country, and we must not miss it.

Please peruse my endorsement, along with my assessment of the other candidates. Feel free to ask any questions of me or of Sally. She's personable and approachable and would be happy to talk with you. Her Web site is located at SeeWhatSallySays.com.

Jim and I support Sally Fullmer because we believe it is important to have school board members who will be independent voices and will carefully evaluate recommendations of the District administration, not just rubber-stamp them. Given her familiarity with Spokane schools and having observed her in action as the current chair of the Comstock Neighborhood Council, we know that Sally is a team player but she will also seek and value input from many sources. Moreover, she will speak up and advocate for changes if she has concerns about District policies and practices.

Sally will be a tremendous asset to our students and our community as a member of the Spokane District #81 School Board.

Visit Sally's website, www.SeeWhatSallySays.com to learn more about Sally, why she is interested in serving our community on the school board and why changes are needed in our district.

Jim and I support Sally Fullmer because we believe it is important to have school board members who will be independent voices and will carefully evaluate recommendations of the District administration, not just rubber-stamp them. Given her familiarity with Spokane schools and having observed her in action as the current chair of the Comstock Neighborhood Council, we know that Sally is a team player but she will also seek and value input from many sources. Moreover, she will speak up and advocate for changes if she has concerns about District policies and practices.

Sally will be a tremendous asset to our students and our community as a member of the Spokane District #81 School Board.

Hope to see you on Monday, August 1!

Subject: FW: Vote today! Progressive Voters Guide for the 2011 Primary

This is for your information. Deana Brower has been telling people she's a Republican. And yet other people, including the teachers union, Stand for Children, the Progressive Majority, and Wellstone Action, seem to think she's a progressive. I don't care what she is; I do care if she's being untruthful.

As you know, the pleasant word "progress" has been usurped to mean a particular political philosophy -- a philosophy that is dragging this country in what I believe to be the wrong direction.

Well, here is yet another group that sees Deana (and city council president candidate Ben Stuckart, by the way) as progressive in political philosophy. It isn't that this group chooses the best candidate of whatever they have. When they don't have a progressive candidate, they tend to say so. This group chose Deana and Ben as their progressive candidates.

As I said, it matters less to me about what political philosophy Deana has than that she appears to be trying to portray herself as something she isn't. I really think we already have enough of that in Spokane Public Schools. Please vote for someone who is what she appears to be: Sally Fullmer. And please pass this progressive endorsement around to your conservative-minded friends and colleagues who still believe Deana is a conservative. People should see Deana for who she really is.

I have an article coming out later today that quotes Deana from her comments at the July 26 Greater Spokane Inc. forum. She sounds nothing like a conservative to me.

Thanks very much.

City of Spokane

Mayor

Mary Verner

Non-Partisan

Campaign Web Site	Voters Pamphlet	Endorsements	Campaign Facebook

Mary Verner's strong leadership has served the people of Spokane very well. She is our best choice to guide Spokane through these challenging times. Verner has kept libraries open, accelerated critical infrastructure repair, and added to the police force, while still closing monetary shortfalls without deep cuts to essential services. She worked with the city's labor force to achieve wage and benefit solutions, utilized the Employee-Led Innovation program, and fostered departmental cooperation to achieve savings and streamline processes. She balanced the 2012 budget without new taxes. After a long history of one-term mayors, Spokane has one that definitely deserves re-election.

Verner leads the charge on developing Spokane's green economy through a comprehensive plan with business, works to expand Spokane's medical and research campuses, and developed the Seven in Eleven program to improve the business climate without additional cost. She has taken strong stands against violence and crime and actively promotes equality in Spokane's community.

Verner's leading opponent, Republican David Condon, has spent the entirety of his political career working for conservative congresswoman Cathy McMorris-Rogers, who has been leading the tea party efforts to destroy Medicare and Social Security. While Verner has refused to accept almost half of her salary as Mayor to help the city through hard financial times, Condon refuses to make the same pledge before the election. Condon instead pledges to fund tax cuts for businesses that would result in deep cuts to vital city services that protect public safety and our quality of life.

Endorsements and Supporters include: Washington Conservation Voters, Cascade Bicycle Club, SEIU Healthcare 775NW

City Council President

Ben Stuckart

Non-Partisan

Ben Stuckart recognizes the importance of public safety, arts, and youth services and has committed to protecting them from crippling budget cuts. Currently, Stuckart is the executive director of Communities in Schools, which is working to bring critical health and social services to Spokane's youth.

Previously Stuckart had a successful career as a regional manager for Tickets West. He has served on the leadership team of Greater Spokane Progress, an organization committed to protecting vulnerable and minority communities. Electing Stuckart would bring a leader to Spokane City Council committed to protecting city services that help our kids and communities thrive.

Endorsements and Supporters include: Cascade Bicycle Club, NARAL Pro-Choice Washington, Spokane Education Association, UFCW Local 1459, Spokane County Democrats

Spokane City Council

Position #1

John Waite

Non-Partisan

Web Site	Voters Pamphlet	Endorsements	Facebook
----------	-----------------	--------------	----------

Donna McKereghan

Non-Partisan

Web Site	Voters Pamphlet	Endorsements
----------	-----------------	--------------

While there are no progressive endorsements in this race, there is broad agreement that it is important to defeat Tim Eyman's henchman Mike Fagan, who is running for this seat. Here are two credible candidates in a crowded field.

John Waite is a small business owner who was able to bring his business through the recession without layoffs, and he promises to bring the same principles to the constricted Spokane budget. Most of this focus is on empowering businesses to create jobs and streamlining the process for innovators and entrepreneurs to start their own businesses. Waite has also served on Riverside Neighborhood Council.

Donna McKereghan has a strong record of civic engagement and has served on the Logan Neighborhood Council and the Washington State Legislative Ethics Board. McKereghan is owner of a web design company in Spokane, and run for office previously.

Spokane School Director

Position #5

Deana Brower

Non-Partisan

-------------------	-----------------	--------------	-------------------

Deana Brower is the progressive choice in this race. She is a parent, educator, and Committee Chair for Citizens for Spokane Schools. She is passionate about improving Spokane Public Schools and has been heavily involved in school levy campaigns, earning her wide community support.

District wants data system, more money. Taxpayers want academics, accountability. Vote for Sally.

Posted July 29, 2011

“What’s the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. ... There should be very little about their work that’s closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn’t want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That’s why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education.” [...]

Hi Laurie. I'm back from camping and catching up on emails. I talked to a teacher from Linwood Elem. and she told me she received a letter (2 pages) from the district/union telling teachers to vote for Deana Brower for school board. Truly a case of someone trying to act like a Republican and completely swayed by the union. Brower is a rubber stamped, well coached machine. It's too bad voters cannot see through her facade.

Hi, Jennifer. Thanks for that. Some voters are beginning to see.
I'd like to see the letter. Any chance I can get a copy?

Hi Laurie. I'm back from camping and catching up on emails. I talked to a teacher from Linwood Elem. and she told me she received a letter (2 pages) from the district/union telling teachers to vote for Deana Brower for school board. Truly a case of someone trying to act like a Republican and completely swayed by the union. Brower is a rubber stamped, well coached machine. It's too bad voters cannot see through her facade.

"What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. ..." Education coverage is weak in Spokane and in other areas, and the general public is not well informed. Teachers, parents and students have little voice, and the situation is dire. My goal is to give you information you don't already have and also to learn from you.

Knowledge is power.

Jennifer, I asked Jenny Rose for a copy, but she won't give me one. Now I'm rather curious.
Thanks very much.

Well...I would send it to you but they don't mail me that kind of rhetoric since I'm not a union member. I'll see if I can put my hands on a copy for you.

Hi, Jennifer. Thanks for that. Some voters are beginning to see.
I'd like to see the letter. Any chance I can get a copy?

Hi Laurie. I'm back from camping and catching up on emails. I talked to a teacher from Linwood Elem. and she told me she received a letter (2 pages) from the district/union telling teachers to vote for Deana Brower for school board. Truly a case of someone trying to act like a Republican and completely swayed by the union. Brower is a rubber stamped, well coached machine. It's too bad voters cannot see through her facade.

"What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. ..." Education coverage is weak in Spokane and in other areas, and the general public is not well informed. Teachers, parents and students have little voice, and the situation is dire. My goal is to give you information you don't already have and also to learn from you.

Knowledge is power.

Well...I would send it to you but they don't mail me that kind of rhetoric since I'm not a union member. I'll see if I can put my hands on a copy for you.

Hi, Jennifer. Thanks for that. Some voters are beginning to see.
I'd like to see the letter. Any chance I can get a copy?

Hi Laurie. I'm back from camping and catching up on emails. I talked to a teacher from Linwood Elem. and she told me she received a letter (2 pages) from the district/union telling teachers to vote for Deana Brower for school board. Truly a case of someone trying to act like a Republican and completely swayed by the union. Brower is a rubber stamped, well coached machine. It's too bad voters cannot see through her facade.

"What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. ..." "What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. ..." Posted July 29, 2011

"What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. .." Education coverage is weak in Spokane and in other areas, and the general public is not well informed. Teachers, parents and students have little voice, and the situation is dire. My goal is to give you information you don't already have and also to learn from you.

Knowledge is power.

Hi Laurie. I spoke to a teacher today who thinks she can get her hands on the letter I told you about. She ripped hers up out of anger. I have her talked into quitting the union. She is rallying her troops at the Elementary level.!!!

Education coverage is weak in Spokane and in other areas, and the general public is not well informed. Teachers, parents and students have little voice, and the situation is dire. My goal is to give you information you don't already have and also to learn from you. Knowledge is power.

If you think I've written something in error, please tell me. If you think the articles are of value, please pass the links to anyone else who might be interested. Together, we can turn this thing around.

Wonderful, Jennifer. I appreciate it. I've been away visiting family, and just got home yesterday evening. Was she able to locate the letter?

Hi Laurie. I spoke to a teacher today who thinks she can get her hands on the letter I told you about. She ripped hers up out of anger. I have her talked into quitting the union. She is rallying her troops at the Elementary level!!!

"What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. ..." Hi Laurie. I spoke to a teacher today who thinks she can get her hands on the letter I told you about. She ripped hers up out of anger. I have her talked into quitting the union. She is rallying her troops at the Elementary level!!!

"What's the point of a school board? Is the role of a board director accountability and responsiveness to the district -- or to voters? Should directors work to support the superintendent and staff? Or, should they work to hold the district accountable for fiscal responsibility and academic outcomes? If the district and the voters disagree on what should happen with taxpayer money and our children, to whom should the board listen? Your views on this will guide you as you vote. As the only elected officials in our school district, board directors should be accountable and transparent to the people. . There should be very little about their work that's closed to public view. When the district pushes something the community doesn't want, the board should pay attention and be inclined to support the electorate. That's why, on July 27, I asked Spokane board directors to allow the people to vote on whether the district should spend several million tax dollars on a proposed new data system, and on the new federal vision for public education. .." Good morning. New idea this morning, and - for me - I guess about time. I'm seeking out education professionals -- teachers, staff members, policy makers, school administrators, board directors -- who work for rigorous academics and an effective, efficient teaching approach, AND who would be willing to tell their story. I would like to showcase you -- anonymously if necessary -- in an article -- perhaps in a short series. I think the public needs to hear about your efforts. Perhaps others in education would be inspired. I've showcased a few teachers, but I feel this isn't enough. I want the comments to be focused on positive action, on people who are working for efficiency, effectiveness, sufficiency and proficiency. Less of "OMG, can you believe that??" which I think I have down, and more of "Here's what I'm doing to help the children succeed."

That's why I need suggestions and permission. I don't want to just grab your name, even if I know you advocate publicly. I don't want to accidentally put anyone at more risk.

I would like your story in something brief - anywhere from a few paragraphs to a short article. You can be anonymous to the public, if that makes you more comfortable, but I have to know who you are. I also want to give people a very general idea of your role (11th-grade math teacher, California, or 6th-grade teacher, Spokane, etc.).

There is so much in public education to be sad about, angry about, worried about, even frightened about ... But many professionals ARE aware and are working on behalf of the children's best interests. I know some of you take it on the chin and keep going. Alas, the general public sees so few of you, AND, I'm fairly confident, has no idea of what you're trying to do. In addition, what they hear about your profession typically is negative. I'll acknowledge it -- I've been very hard on education administrators and board directors.

But I believe that if you aren't part of the solution, you're part of the problem, and so I want to do my part to show how things CAN be done, if someone has the courage, the sense of honor, the compassion for the children, and the will to do it. The more we talk about this out loud, the less frightening for others it will be.

The Spokane Transit Authority and City of Spokane are moving forward on a plan to create an electric trolleybus line from Gonzaga University to Browne's Addition. The line would cost approximately $12 million per mile... for a total cost of $36 million to taxpayers. Do you support building such a system?

The Washington state Department of Transportation has warned that highway funding may dry up over the next few years. The federal government has warned of the same thing. Washington already has one of the highest gas taxes in the nation. Other than additional gas taxes, what funding mechanism would you propose to finally fund the North-South Corridor?

Some Spokane City Council members have made no secret about their goal for transportation in downtown Spokane; they want more bike lanes. Do you think the city should spend time and money on building additional bike lines, whether they be downtown or anywhere else?

The Spokane City Council this year passed a $20 car tab hike, with the promise the money would be spent on street maintenance. However, there is already talk about removing that extra money from the streets budget and placing it in the general fund budget, breaking that promise. Can you guarantee the $20 car tab hike will be spent on fixing roads?

Part of the car tab hike requires the city spend the money, not on roads but on sidewalks and bike lanes. Do you support a fraction of the funds being spent on things other than streets?

In 2004, Mayor Jim West and the city convinced voters to pass a 10-year streets bond. Much of the community was behind the project because they understood what would be fixed, and what it would cost. Do you support going back to voters with another 10 year streets bond?

This year, the City of Spokane implemented a five-tier water pricing structure. The Washington Policy Center called that tier system "punishing," noting that some families have no option but to use more water – even if they let their yards go dry. Do you agree with the five-tier price structure?

One of the proposals that is out there is to replace the five-tier structure with a flat rate for water, and an elevated flat rate during the summer months. Is that something you'd support?

From 2004 to 2010, the number of city water department workers increased by just four, yet the money allocated for their salaries and benefits increased dramatically. In fact, according to the Spokesman-Review, Local 270 members – the union that represents those workers – got a 5% raise in 2004, a 5% raise in 2005, a 3% raise in 2006, a 5% raise in 2007, a 5% raise in 2008, a 5% raise in 2009, a 2.5% raise in 2010 and another 5% raise this year and next. Is that sustainable?

The public facilities district is considering a bond proposal to expand both the convention center and seating capacity at the Spokane Arena to make sure it can still attract national events. But it would likely cost taxpayers another $60 million. Do you support that idea?

Forbes magazine recently ranked Spokane as the third worst city in the country for job creation. Why is that?

Which current City Council member do you most agree with, and which do you most admire?

Total spending in the City of Spokane has increased from roughly $425 million in 2004 to nearly $600 million, an increase of almost 45%. Is the City of Spokane spending too much money?

Subject: questions for School Board candidates

Jennifer,

here are some questions for the School Board candidates

Craig

Washington state spends about 41% of its budget on public education. And Spokane Public Schools spends about $10,400 per student. Do you think that's enough?

Spokane Public Schools is spending more now than it ever has before, and yet since 2000, the number of students has decreased by nearly 3,000. Why is the district spending more, yet educating fewer students?

Spokane Public School officials have said that class size is not a big factor in whether a child gets a good education. National research suggests the same thing. How do you feel about class sizes? Are they too big, too small?

The legislature recently suspended two initiatives that would have given automatic cost of living increases to teachers and would have reduced class sizes. Put simply, voters don't want to pay for them. Did you support either of those initiatives?

Last year, Spokane voters rejected the children's investment fund. Earlier this year, Spokane Public Schools announced improved numbers in terms of the number of students graduating. Do you think SPS has a dropout problem?

The State Board of Education recently completed the Public School Achievement Index, which graded all of the schools in the state. Not one Spokane Public School received the highest ranking of exemplary. What are some of the reasons for that?

Recently, teachers in Tacoma went on strike, defying state law and a judge's order to return to work. Documents show it was part of a larger plan by the Washington Education Association to send a painful message to parents and legislators. If Spokane teachers went on strike, what would your reaction be?

Much is made about the amount of money paid to public school superintendents in the state of Washington. In fact, Spokane Public Schools superintendent Dr. Nancy Stowell makes much more money than the state superintendent of public instruction, and even the governor. Do you think public school administrators are paid too much money?

QUESTIONS UNFAIR TO SCHOOL BOARD CANDIDATES'

Recently the Spokesman Review wrote a story and then an editorial about "unfair questions" I prepared for consideration by students hosting a school board candidate forum. "Unfair question" almost seems like an oxymoron like "authentic reproduction" or "jumbo shrimp."

It may be true that some questions encourage candidates to disclose their views on subjects that they would rather not discuss, but questioning candidates is the essence of electing policymakers. The students of the Ferris High School leadership class, by all accounts, drew questions from various sources including the students themselves, and considered them for presentation to the candidates for school board.

I am rather proud of the questions I offered for the students' consideration, and I have listed them below. I hope that you will read them and consider the important decisions that your local elected school board members are making about schools and the use of property taxes.

Whatever you do, don't contact your elected school board and ask them these questions . . . because that might be considered "slanted," "fishy," "loaded," "biased," and unfair—at least according to the Spokesman-Review coverage.

Questions for board member candidates in the Spokane School District:

- What do you see as the role of the board of directors and does that role include pursuing changes in the operation and services of the school system?
- If the state was going to add one billion dollars in new spending to the funding system, how should those funds be best used to improve services for students and families?
- Only 68% of the Spokane class of 2010 completed high school on time and 27% dropped out. Why does this happen, and what can be done to improve completion rates?
- What do you think about early release days in a school calendar?
- As Spokane Public Schools goes to the public for a special levy in 2012, what do you think should be the highest priority for spending any new revenue received in the levy?
- What can the district do to increase the number of options available for high school students who are not well served by the standard high school course offerings?
- If you could implement one reform within existing resources by re-prioritizing funds and staff time, what would your priority reform be?
- Do you support the existence and expansion of district program offerings through Spokane Virtual Learning?
- Would you support putting the district budget and collective bargaining agreements on line?
- Do you view the Spokane Skills Center and Running Start program as partners with the district to serve the community?

• Would you ever agree to seek a waiver from the state to shorten the school year to less than 180 days?
[background (<http://www.sbe.wa.gov/ficurrent>) "waivers" tab]

• How confident are you that a fair, four-tiered teacher evaluation system can be designed and implemented as required by state law?

• Would you support the use of student achievement growth as a major factor in the new teacher evaluation system?

• Have you read the district budget and collective bargaining agreement with the certificated instructional staff?

• Would you support strengthening the district managers' ability to retain or place employees based upon factors other than seniority?

• Have any of you received endorsements, funding or assistance from employee groups who will be opposite you at the collective bargaining table?

• Do you know how our school district handled the state-imposed salary reduction for school employees?

• Do you believe that levy funds should be used to enhance the wages and benefits of school employees who are paid by the state? [at least six days' wages are added in the collective bargaining agreement (http://www.schoolcontracts.info/SDCBAs2012/CBA_Spokane_09to12.pdf) (pg 76) to the state compensation averaging $54,726 (<http://www.k12.wa.us/safs/PUB/PER/1011/tbl34B.pdf>) in Spokane]

• Do you support the use of levy funds to pay additional wages for two unused vacation days per instructional employee per year?

Ferris High School debate questions

The Spokesman-Review

Tags: David Condon Ferris High School Mary Verner

Question 1: Spokane Public Schools is spending more than it ever has, and yet, since the year 2000, the number of students has decreased by nearly 3,000. If the money is not going to the students, where is it going?

Question 2: Is it true that District 81's math program fails to adequately prepare a majority of students for college-level math? An example of this is that 98% of the Running Start students must take remedial math at the college level. What is the problem, and what specifically would you do to alleviate this math crisis?

Question 3: Do you believe state and federal government has too much input in our schools? Critics say we should reduce the role of government and return control of our schools to our elected school boards. What do you say?

Question 4: The state board of education recently graded all of the schools in the state. Not one Spokane public school received the highest ranking of exemplary. What are some of the reasons for this, and what would you do to fix it?

Question 5: If you could implement one school reform within existing resources by reprioritizing funds and staff time, what would you push for?

Question 6: Would you support putting the detailed budget and union contract agreements online for everyone to see, and is it true that people have to file a public disclosure petition to get full details of Spokane School board meeting minutes?

Question 7: (To Sally Fullmer) Some people think you are a one-issue candidate, concerned with the location of Jefferson school. True or false, and if not, please explain.

Question 8: Recently, teachers in Tacoma went on strike, defying state law and a judge's order to return to work. Documents now show it was part of a larger plan by the teachers union. Did the WEA want to send a painful message to parents and lawmakers? Do you see the same thing happening in Spokane? And if so, what would be your reaction?

Question 9: Would you support strengthening District 81's ability to retain or place teachers based on criteria rather than seniority?

Question 10: (For Deana Brower) You have been endorsed by the teachers unions, received union campaign contributions, and attended union candidate schools. If elected, how will the voters know that you will act in the interests of the community and not the proxy of the unions?

Question 11: School administrators have asserted that local tax dollars are going to Washington, DC, but they're only getting a fraction of those dollars back. Meanwhile, many federal mandates are unfunded. As a school board member, what would you do to change that?

Question 12: Studies show that so-called green schools are not as efficient or cost-effective as widely promoted. Please define green schools, and also, should we be spending substantially more of taxpayers' money to build them?

Question 13: The amount of money paid to public school superintendents in the state of Washington is a hot topic. Superintendent Dr. Nancy Stowell is paid much more than the state schools chief, and even the governor. Are public school administrators paid too much money?

Question 14: Deana Brower, you have called for more state taxpayer money for schools. Yet Spokane Catholic schools pay significantly less than the $11-12,000 per student that District 81 spends, and with better measurable results. Is more money really the problem, or is there another issue?

Question 15: The controversy over teachers unions. Who benefits most from teachers unions – the students or the teachers – and why?

RE: Advisory Letter

Public Disclosure Commission

Jennifer:

Before Winter Break, we met to discuss the Faceoff Debate at Ferris, as concerns about debate questions had been brought to the attention of the District.

To look into these concerns, I met with you, the Ferris principal, Kevin Foster, and assistant principal, Todd Bender (who joined us, at your request). I reviewed the written statement you provided, as well as other information related to this matter. Additionally, you provided me with a copy of a lengthy statement you had written about the Faceoff and other activities you have led with your students, such as a state capitol visit.

In our meeting, you admitted students had not written the questions used in the debate. You also admitted you were not aware of the source from which some of the questions originated. Your process relied on members of the community who are involved in only one political party and you admitted you were not monitoring the source of the questions they provided.

Based on what I have reviewed it is apparent that greater attention needs to be paid to having the debate be more of a student-centered activity where, at the very least, students are responsible for generating the questions at the inception. Likewise, you need to provide greater oversight throughout the debate preparation process to ensure that students are not taken advantage of or used inappropriately by others for their own political purposes. Finally, the role that students play in the development of the debate questions needs to be more clearly understood and advertised, to avoid any confusion by candidates or attendees.

Since this is an advisory letter, it is not discipline. Instead, it is intended to help clarify for you the expectations of your employer. Because the letter is not discipline, a copy of it will not be retained in your personnel file or your principal's Supervisor File.

Thank you;

Tennille Jeffries-Simmons, Executive Director

Proposition 1 and Proposition 2 were approved by more than 60% of voters participating in the election.
2. In the November 8, 2011 general election, Deana Brower was a candidate for School Director for Spokane School District 81. Ms. Brower was elected to the school board in that election.

3. In the winter preceding the March 10, 2009 special election, Respondent Mike Campbell held a teaching position as Applied Tech Department Lead for Lewis & Clark High School. Mr. Campbell also held his position during the summer preceding the November 8, 2011 general election.

In his response to Mr. Miller, Mr. Campbell stated, “Sounds good to me. Be looking for a more complete response from my personal email to yours. Since we are talking about [political] stuff I feel better about doing it on our personal emails. Suffice to say here that I think this idea is a great one because it accomplishes several things at the same time.”

STIPULATION AS TO FACTS,
VIOLATION AND PENALTY

The parties to this Stipulation, namely, the Public Disclosure Commission Staff, through its Executive Director, Andrea McNamara Doyle, and Respondent Mike Miller, through his attorney, Michael Gawley, submit this Stipulation as to Facts, Violations and Penalty in this matter. The parties agree that the Commission has the authority to accept, reject or modify the terms of this Stipulation. The parties further agree that in the event that the Commission suggests modification to any term of this agreement, each party reserves the right to reject that modification. In the event either party rejects a modification, this matter will proceed to hearing before the Commission.

JURISDICTION

The Public Disclosure Commission has jurisdiction over this proceeding pursuant to RCW 42.17A, the Public Disclosure Act; RCW 34.05, the Administrative Procedure Act; and WAC 390.

FACTS

1. In the November 8, 2011 general election, Deana Brower was a candidate for School Director for Spokane School District 81. Ms. Brower was elected to the school board in that election.
2. Respondent Mike Miller held a teaching position at Shadle Park High School in June of 2011.
3. At 8:44 am on Monday, June 6, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Miller used his Spokane Schools email address to send an email to Shadle Park staff. In his email, Mr.

Miller invited staff to meet with school board candidate Deana Brower prior to the school day on June 15, 2011, the last day of the school year: "School Board Candidate Deana Brower will be at Shadle Wednesday morning, 6/15/11 in our staff room to get your insights of what you'd like from the school board. Deana (pronounced 'Dee-na'), is very much interested in getting into schools to meet with staff, so I've invited her for an 'SEA 10-minute meeting' at 7:15 that Wednesday to talk to you. After meeting with Deana on a number of occasions, I'm interested to hear your feedback on what she has to say. As a former secondary social studies teacher, she brings a 'classroom perspective' and wants to hear what perspective you have."

4. At 9:00 am and again at 11:57 am on Monday, June 6, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Miller used his Spokane Schools email address exchange email messages with Lisa Peterson at her Spokane Schools address. (The exchange began with an email from Ms. Peterson copied to Mr. Miller. Ms. Peterson's email was not campaign-related.) In his reply, Mr. Miller promoted Deana Brower's candidacy for School Director: "I've spent the last 3 days at WEA getting ready for school-board elections. We've vetted an INCREDIBLE candidate who's a former social studies teacher. Deana Brower will be a great addition to the board, with her classroom perspectives. I'm hoping for somewhat of a shakeup." In a subsequent email to Ms. Peterson that morning, he stated that Ms. Brower "will be a breath of fresh air who doesn't mind shaking things up. Enough of the speech from a campaigner."
5. At 9:13 am on Monday, June 6, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Miller used his Spokane Schools email address to send an email to Mike Campbell at his Spokane Schools address. In his email, Mr. Miller discussed a possible "meet and greet" event with Deana Brower prior to the school day at Lewis & Clark high School, similar to the event planned for Shadle Park High School. He concluded, "Let the campaign begin."
6. At 8:49 am and again at 11:51 am on Monday, June 6, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Miller used his Spokane Schools email address to exchange email messages with Jenny Rose, President of the Spokane Education Association. In his emails, Mr. Miller discussed his efforts and those of the union to assist Ms. Brower's campaign: "Deana kept telling me that she wanted to get into the buildings. 'Fine', I said. 'June 15th, 7:15'. She said, 'Sure, I'll put it down. Don't forget to send me an email to remind me.' Honestly, as we were going from the airport to the motel, I didn't know if I was talking to a school board candidate or a colleague from down the hall. Folks at Shadle are looking forward to her visit. I'll hype her visit every other day (in true campaign style) until Wednesday." In response to Ms. Rose's request to use Mr. Miller's email invitation as a model for other union reps to invite their staff to meet Ms. Brower, Mr. Miller replied, "If your sending my 'press release' will help get Deana to meet the staff, share on!"

7. At 1:33 pm on Tuesday, June 7, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Miller used his Spokane Schools email address to send an email to Shadle Park staff, reminding them of the upcoming meeting with school board candidate Deana Brower prior to the school day on June 15, 2011. Mr. Miller described the meeting as "Doughnuts with Deana."
8. At 12:02 pm on Tuesday, June 14, 2011, while on paid agency time, Mr. Miller used his Spokane Schools email address to send a final email reminder to Shadle Park staff regarding the "Doughnuts with Deana" staff event planned for the following morning prior to the school day.

council, or commission of the special purpose district, or members of the public are afforded an approximately equal opportunity for the expression of an opposing view;

(2) A statement by an elected official in support of or in opposition to any ballot proposition at an open press conference or in response to a specific inquiry;

(3) Activities which are part of the normal and regular conduct of the office or agency.

Case No. 12-145

VIOLATION AND PENALTY

The parties to this Stipulation, namely, the Public Disclosure Commission Staff, through its Executive Director, Andrea McNamara Doyle, and Respondent Mark Anderson, through his attorney, Paul Clay, submit this Stipulation as to Facts, Violations and Penalty in this matter. The parties agree that the Commission has the authority to accept, reject or modify the terms of this Stipulation. The parties further agree that in the event that the Commission suggests modification to any term of this agreement, each party reserves the right to reject that modification. In the event either party rejects a modification, this matter will proceed to hearing before the Commission.

JURISDICTION

The Public Disclosure Commission has jurisdiction over this proceeding pursuant to RCW 42.17A, the Public Disclosure Act; RCW 34.05, the Administrative Procedure Act; and WAC 390.

FACTS

1. In the March 10, 2009 special election, Spokane School District 81 (Spokane Schools) held a maintenance and operations replacement levy election and a bond election. The levy and bond propositions, assigned Proposition No. 1 and Proposition No 2., respectively, were placed on the ballot through resolutions by the Spokane Schools Board of Directors approved on December 3, 2008. Proposition 1 and Proposition 2 were approved by more than 60% of voters participating in the March 10, 2009 special election.
2. Spokane Schools' next maintenance and operations replacement levy election was held in the February 14, 2012 special election. That levy, Proposition No. 1, was placed on the ballot through a resolution by the Spokane Schools Board of Directors approved on November 9, 2011. Proposition No. 1 was approved by more than 60% of voters participating in the February 14, 2012 special election.

3. Respondent Dr. Mark Anderson held the position of Spokane Schools' Associate Superintendent for School Support Services in the month before the March 10, 2009 special election, and also held his position in the fall and winter before the February 14, 2012 special election.
4. While on paid agency time, Dr. Anderson used his Spokane Schools email address and computer to send the following emails:
 - (a) an email at 10:41 am on Tuesday, February 3, 2009 to six District administrators, seeking to ensure that at least some of the recipients would attend a meeting of the Citizens for Spokane Schools (CFSS) political committee formed to promote levy and bond ballot measures in the district;
 - (b) an email at 10:06 am on Wednesday, February 25, 2009 to various school administrators notifying them of his plan to attend a CFSS meeting;
 - (c) an email at 3:07 pm on Wednesday, September 29, 2010, concerning the scheduling of a meeting for CFSS in which he offered input on who should be included in the meeting;
 - (d) an email at 8:58 am on Tuesday, November 2, 2010, to Deana Brower, suggesting that she send an email reminder to participants in a CFSS meeting planned for November 15, 2010 and a subsequent reply that Ms. Brower should send CFSS-related email to Ms. Terren Roloff at her Spokane Schools email address;
 - (e) an email at 10:29 am on Tuesday, March 3, 2009 forwarding an invitation from CFSS for district staff to attend an election watch event on March 10, 2009;

(f) an email at 2:10 pm on Friday, January 21, 2011 to CFSS officers, inviting them to attend a January 27, 2011 budget forecast meeting for all Spokane Schools administrators, and to speak to the group about the activities of the CFSS committee; and

(g) an email at 10:31 am on Thursday, February 12, 2009, to several recipients outside the district, including officers of CFSS, notifying them of his opinion that it would be more appropriate for someone from CFSS (and not Dr. Anderson) to respond to a private business that sought to support levy campaign activities.

5. Following the passage of the March 10, 2009 levy and bond, on Thursday, September 10, 2009, Dr. Anderson attended a School Elections Conference and, acting in his official capacity, presented a PowerPoint slide show with the title "Lessons Learned - March 2009 Levy and Bond" at the request of the conference sponsors. In part, the presentation described effective strategies for political campaigns in support of levy and bond measures, an analysis which Dr. Anderson gleaned from interviews with CFSS activists. It included, among many slides, one slide stating "Key Lesson: Passing your next levy or bond starts today and continues every day between now and election day!" Although the conference registration was free, Dr. Anderson's travel expenses were paid by Spokane Public Schools, he prepared for the conference with his Spokane Schools computer, and attended on paid agency time.
6. In the two weeks leading up to Spokane Schools' March 10, 2009 levy and bond elections, Dr. Anderson used his school email address and computer in sending the following emails:

(a) an email sent at 8:48 AM on Wednesday, February 25, 2009 to department heads in School Support Services for Spokane Schools, stating, "Please remind your departmental staff to vote on the School District's bond and levy renewal measures by turning in their election ballots prior to March 10—ITSC, Nutrition Services, Warehouse/Purchasing, Maintenance, and Express staff. Remember, we have to get nearly 41,000 registered voters to turn in their ballots just to make the bond election valid and then 60 percent of those have to vote yes for this critical bond measure to be approved.";

(b) an email sent at 8:20 am on Tuesday, March 3, 2009 to a "Group-Admin Staff" distribution list (employees assigned to the School District's Administration Building)

stating: "As of yesterday, Monday (March 2), 29,422 ballots had been returned to the Elections Department - 11,258 additional ballots must be received by next Tuesday just to validate our bond election. If you live in Spokane Public Schools and have already voted - thank you. If you haven't voted, please mail your ballot back to the Elections Department before next Tuesday. Also, please remind your friends, relatives, and acquaintances who live in Spokane Public Schools to vote by mailing in their ballot by next Tuesday. The levy and bond provide critical sources of funding to support our mission of educating Spokane's young people."; and

(c) an email sent at 2:53 pm on Friday, March 6, 2009 to Spokane Schools staff and officials, stating: "As of today (Friday), we have 40,621 ballots returned for levy and bond election measures. Given our validation requirement is 40,680, we are now 59 ballots short of validating and will easily validate on Monday. However, the big question is, how many of those ballots are marked yes for the levy and bond and how many are marked no. And, of importance will be what is the return rate for those precincts that typically have a higher percentage of yes votes on school measures than other areas of town - don't know the answer to that at this moment. I say we need to continue the full court information press to the end."

STATUTORY AND RULE AUTHORITY

7. RCW 42.17.130 (effective January 1, 2012, codified as RCW 42.17A.555) states: No elective official nor any employee of his [or her] office nor any person appointed to or employed by any public office or agency may use or authorize the use of any of the facilities of a public office or agency, directly or indirectly, for the purpose of assisting a campaign for election of any person to any office or for the promotion of or opposition to any ballot proposition. Facilities of a public office or agency include, but are not limited to, use of stationery, postage, machines, and equipment, use of employees of the office or agency during working hours, vehicles, office space, publications of the office or agency, and clientele lists of persons served by the office or agency. However, this does not apply to the following activities:

- (1) Action taken at an open public meeting by members of an elected legislative body or by an elected board, council, or commission of a special purpose district including, but not limited to, fire districts, public hospital districts, library districts, park districts, port districts, public utility districts, school districts, sewer districts, and water districts, to express a collective decision, or to actually vote upon a motion, proposal, resolution, order, or ordinance, or to support or oppose a ballot proposition so long as (a) any required notice of the meeting includes the title and number of the ballot proposition, and (b) members of the legislative body, members of the board, council, or commission of the special purpose district, or members of the public are afforded an approximately equal opportunity for the expression of an opposing view;

(2) A statement by an elected official in support of or in opposition to any ballot proposition at an open press conference or in response to a specific inquiry;

(3) Activities which are part of the normal and regular conduct of the office or agency.

WAC 390-03-273 states: Normal and regular conduct of a public office or agency, as that term is used in the proviso to RCW 42.17.130, means conduct which is (1) lawful, i.e., specifically authorized, either expressly or by necessary implication, in an appropriate enactment, and (2) usual, i.e., not effected or authorized in or by some extraordinary means or manner. No local office or agency may authorize a use of public facilities for the purpose of assisting a candidate's campaign or promoting or opposing a ballot proposition, in the absence of a constitutional, charter, or statutory provision separately authorizing such use.
